Resolution Burning:

Biomass Burning and Its Inter-Relationships with the Climate System John L. Innes, Martin Beniston, Michel M. Verstraete, 2006-04-11 JOHN L INNES University of British Columbia Vancouver Canada The interactions between biomass burning and climate have been brought into focus by a number of recent events Firstly the Framework Convention on Climate Change and more recently the Kyoto Protocol have drawn the attention of policy makers and others to the importance of biomass burning in relation to atmospheric carbon dioxide concentrations Secondly the use of prescribed fires has become a major management tool in some countries with for example the area with fuel treatments which include prescribed burns and mechanical treatments having increased on US National Forest System lands from 123 000 ha in 1985 to 677 000 ha in 1998 Thirdly large numbers of forest fires in Indonesia Brazil Australia and elsewhere in 1997 and 1998 received unprecedented media attention Consequently it is appropriate that one of the Wengen Workshops on Global Change Research be devoted to the relationships between biomass burning and climate This volume includes many of the papers presented at the workshop but is also intended to act as a contribution to the state of knowledge on the int relationships between biomass burning and climate change Previous volumes on biomass burning e g Goldammer 1990 Levine 1991a Crutzen and Goldammer 1993 Levine 1996a 1996b Van Wilgen et al 1997 have stressed various aspects of the biomass climate issue and provide a history of the development of our understanding of the many complex relationships that are involved Biomass Burning and Global Change: Remote sensing, modeling and inventory development, and biomass burning in Africa Joel S. Levine, 1996 Global Biomass Burning provides a convenient and current reference on such topics as the remote sensing of biomass burning from space the geographical distribution of burning the combustion products of burning in tropical temperate and boreal ecosystems burning as a global source of atmospheric gases and particulates the impact of biomass burning gases and particulates on global climate and the role of biomass burning on biodiversity and past global extinctions Pub desc Tunneling Systems in Amorphous and Crystalline Solids Pablo Esquinazi, 2013-03-09 The aim of this book is to provide a wealth of information on the influence of quantum tunneling systems on the low temperature properties of solids The nineteen contributors of this book review thermodynamic acoustic dielectric and optical properties of amorphous and crystalline solids in eight chapters The newest experiments on long time spectral diffusion and heat release electric field and strain effects as well as nonequilibrium phenomena are thoroughly discussed Several theoretical contributions provide an overview of the most original ideas and theoretical methods used nowadays to understand the nature and dynamics of tunneling systems in solids and their interactions The book provides full description on the experimental and theoretical details of the relevant experiments and theories Within the broad spectrum of properties that are related to the contribution of tunneling systems I have selected special topics which will be of value for experienced as well as graduate students working on low temperature research Most of the chapters serve as useful introductory surveys

since they are not too specialized I wish to express my thanks to the following colleagues for their important comments on several chapters of this book Ansel C Anderson Guy Bellessa Dimitri Parshin Roman Personov Robert Silbey James Skinner Ulrich Weiss and Helmut Wipf I would like to thank Mrs Annette Setzer for her help with the reference list as well as to the co workers at the Department of Superconductivity and Magnetism Universitiit Leipzig for their support

Burning Table Mountain S. Pooley, 2014-09-19 Cape Town's iconic Table Mountain and the surrounding peninsula has been a crucible for attempts to integrate the social and ecological dimensions of wild fire This environmental history of humans and wildfire outlines these interactions from the practices of Khoikhoi herders to the conflagrations of January 2000 The region's unique famously diverse fynbos vegetation has been transformed since European colonial settlement through urbanisation and biological modifications both intentional forestry and unintentional biological invasions In all the diverse visions people have formed for Table Mountain aesthetic and utilitarian fire has been regarded as a central problem This book shows how scientific understandings of fire in fynbos developed slowly in the face of strong prejudices Human impacts were intensified in the twentieth century which provides the temporal focus for the book The disjunctures between popular perception expert knowledge policy and management are explored and the book supplements existing short term scientific data with proxies on fire incidence trends recovered from historical records

Air Pollution Modeling and Its Application XIX Carlos Borrego, Ana Isabel Miranda, 2008-07-22 In 1969 the North Atlantic Treaty Organization NATO established the Committee on Challenges of Modern Society CCMS The subject of air pollution was from the start one of the priority problems under study within the framework of various pilot studies undertaken by this committee The organization of a periodic conference dealing with air pollution modelling and its application has become one of the main activities within the pilot study relating to air pollution The first five international conferences were organized by the United States as the pilot country the second five by the Federal Republic of Germany the third five by Belgium the fourth four by The Netherlands the next five by Denmark and the last five by Portugal This volume contains the abstracts of papers and posters presented at the 29th NATO CCMS International Technical Meeting on Air Pollution Modelling and Its Application held in Aveiro Portugal during September 24-28 2007 This ITM was organized by the University of Aveiro Portugal Pilot Country and Host Organization The key topics distinguished at this ITM included Local and urban scale modelling Regional and intercontinental modelling Data assimilation and air quality forecasting Model assessment and verification Aerosols in the atmosphere Interactions between climate change and air quality Air quality and human health

Timmermans, 2013-10-04 Recent developments in air pollution modeling and its application are explored here in contributions by researchers at the forefront of their field. The book is focused on local urban regional and intercontinental modeling, data assimilation and air quality forecasting, model assessment and evaluation, aerosol transformation, the relationship between air quality and human health and the interaction between climate change and air quality. The work will provide useful reference material for students and professors interested in air pollution modeling at the graduate level as well as researchers and professionals involved in developing and utilizing air pollution models. Landscape Fire, Smoke, and Health Tatiana V. Loboda, Nancy H. F. French, Robin C. Puett, 2023-10-17 A transdisciplinary approach to investigating relationships between biomass burning and human health outcomes. Where and when wildfires occur, what pollutants they emit, how the chemistry of smoke changes in the atmosphere and what impact this air pollution has on human health and well-being are questions explored across different scientific disciplines. Landscape Fire, Smoke and Health: Linking Biomass Burning Emissions to Human Well-Being is designed to create a foundational knowledge base allowing interdisciplinary teams to interact more effectively in addressing the impacts of air pollution from biomass burning on human health. Volume highlights include: Core concepts, principles and terminology related to smoke and air quality used in different disciplines; Observational and modeling tools and approaches in fire science; Methods to sense, model and map smoke in the atmosphere; Impacts of biomass burning smoke on the health and well-being of children and adults; Perspectives from researchers, modelers and practitioners; Case studies from different countries; Information to support decision making and policy. These transformations have significant impacts on biodiversity, water resources, food security and climate regulation. There is an urgent need to quantify LCLUC impacts to design effective management strategies that help understand, mitigate and adapt to these changes. Remote sensing data plays a crucial role in providing diverse information essential for assessing land use patterns, quantifying changes and evaluating both environmental and societal impacts. Volume 2 explores the complex and dynamic interactions between land use and the environment in the region. It brings together expertise from U.S. contributors of the NASA-funded Southeast Asia Research Initiative (SARI) and collaborators from South and Southeast Asian countries. Key Features: Presents case studies on LCLUC impacts related to food security, heat stress, urbanization, agricultural intensification, water scarcity.

forest transitions and ecosystem health Demonstrates the use of novel machine learning and deep learning algorithms for quantifying LCLUC impacts Explores how satellite remote sensing can reveal hidden patterns track environmental degradation and support resource management Highlights the integration of very high resolution data with mid resolution satellite data for effective LCLUC impact mapping and monitoring Adopts a multidisciplinary approach emphasizing the integration of biophysical and socio economic data to address LCLUC impacts This book highlights the transformative power of remote sensing and geospatial technologies while calling researchers policymakers and practitioners to action It offers valuable insights for scientists geographers ecologists remote sensing specialists and anyone interested in the intersection of land use development and environmental sustainability
