economic technological factors and variation in these attributes of man causes variation in resource evaluation and their utilization In the present politico economic structure those people who are conscious to their rights and those areas which are dominated by such people get benefits of developmental efforts The tribal people and areas dominated by them could not exert decisive influence on decision making of resource utilization and development planning Consequently all transportable resources are exported out of such regions Planet Geography Stephen Codrington,2005 Geography for students of the International Baccalaureate Diploma New South Wales Higher School Certificate and other senior secondary geography courses with a contemporary global focus back cover Global Resources R. Resource-Based Habitat View for Conservation Roger L. H. Dennis, 2012-04-10 Winner of the Marsh Book of the Year Award 2012 by the British Ecological Society In A Resource Based Habitat View for Conservation Roger Dennis introduces a novel approach to the understanding of habitats based on resources and conditions required by organisms and their access to them a quantum shift from simplistic and ineffectual notions of habitats as vegetation units or biotopes In drawing attention to what organisms actually use and need in landscapes it focuses on resource composition structure and connectedness all of which describe habitat quality and underpin landscape heterogeneity This contrasts with the current bipolar view of landscapes made up of habitat patches and empty matrix but illustrates how such a metapopulation approach of isolated patchworks can grow by adopting the new habitat viewpoint The book explores principles underlying this new definition of habitat and the impact of habitat components on populations species distributions geographical ranges and range changes with a view to conserving resources in landscapes for whole communities It does this using the example of butterflies the most alluring of insects flagship organisms and key indicators of environmental health in the British Isles where they have been studied most intensively The book forms essential reading for students researchers and practitioners in ecology and conservation particularly those concerned with managing sites and landscapes for wildlife Resources and Planning for Economic Development Archana Bhargava, 1991 The inter relationship between man resources and development is the point of discussion and elaboration in the present volume In the wake of integrated rural regional development it is imperative to envisage development as socio economic change for betterment of masses involving local resources and incorporate interest Such a structural change in orientation of planning requires resource evaluation and allocation on microscale in detail Utilizing the contemporary techniques evaluation of potentials present utilization and possibilities of optimum utilization of resources of a relatively less developed region i.e. Sagar Division of Madhya Pradesh is attempted This division provides an example of how only basic attributes of resources are taken care of ignoring the combinational ones in the existing system of spatial organisation developed under top down planning The widening disparity can be minimized by planning on micro level A comparatively new approach of identification of planning units incorporating characteristics of both formal and functional regions has been attempted As such the present volume can serve as model for resource based development planning of depressed regions The Ashgate Research Companion to Critical Geopolitics Merje Kuus, 2016-04-01 Since the late 1980s critical geopolitics has gone from being a radical critical perspective on the disciplines of political geography and international relations theory to becoming a recognised area of research in its own right Influenced by poststructuralist concerns with the politics of representation critical geopolitics considers the ways in which the use of particular discourses shape political practices Initially critical geopolitics analysed the practical geopolitical language of the elites and intellectuals of statecraft Subsequent iterations have considered the role that popular representations of the international political world play. As critical geopolitics has become a more established part of political geography, it has attracted ever more critique from feminists for its apparent blindness to the embodied effects of geopolitical praxis and from those who have been uncomfortable about its textual focus, while others have challenged critical geopolitics to address alternative resistant forms of geopolitical practice. Again, critical geopolitics has been reworked to incorporate these challenges, and the latest iterations have encompassed normative agendas, non-representational theory, emotional geographies, and affect. It is against the vibrant backdrop of this intellectual development of critical geopolitics as a subdiscipline that this Companion is set. Bringing together leading researchers associated with the different forms of critical geopolitics, this volume produces an overview of its achievements, limitations, and areas of new and potential future development. The Companion is designed to serve as a key resource for an interdisciplinary group of scholars and practitioners interested in the spatiality of politics.
