Retailing Environments In Developing Countries:

Retailing Environments in Developing Countries John Dawson, Allan M Findlay, Ronan Paddison, 2005-07-08

Containing a broad cross section of case studies this volume explores some of the factors which explain the variety of retail structures and modes of consumer behaviour that characterise retailing in developing countries Local Environmental Sustainability S Buckingham, K Theobald, 2003-02-17 The importance of local programmes in driving sustainable development has been enshrined in Local Agenda 21 arguably the most influential output of the 1992 Rio Earth Summit Its importance has been reiterated more recently by the Johannesburg Summit in 2002 Local Environmental Sustainability sets the context for local environmental sustainability and in particular considers how local government can promote sustainable development by building partnerships with different groups and organisations in the local community Using case studies individual chapters focus on different types of regional and local initiatives the partnerships that have made them possible and the key issues in making them effective Local Environmental Sustainability provides a blueprint for both local governments and local communities to work together effectively for a more sustainable future An important new study focusing on the links between local environmental initiatives and the provision of sustainable services Includes case studies showing how local government initiatives can work in the community Considers the relationship between local programmes and the implementation of Local Agenda 21 Retail Change Rosemary D.F. Bromley, Colin J Thomas, 2002-11-01 The economic social and environmental implications of recent changes in retailing constitute significant contemporary issues which are the focus of this timely book Retail change deals with the internationalization of retailing the development of shopping centres in the city and at suburban sites and the growth of leisure shopping It provides an up to date review of the central questions faced by undergraduate students in planning business studies and geography The retail environment of developed economies has undergone revolutionary change since the 1970s and the process is far from over In the book the major elements central to contemporary retail change are developed across the whole spectrum of spatial scales relevant to present day society The first part adopts an economic perspective and focuses on the process of business concentration and its increasingly international orientation This is followed by analyses of change in the urban region concentrating on the emergence of the great variety of new retail forms associated with retail decentralization The planning implications of retail change are developed in the third part The future of the city centre and other traditional shopping centres is examined in the light of challenges presented by new facilities Alternative future scenarios contingent upon laissez faire or interventionist government policy controls are also discussed The social implications of retail change are developed in the final section All students and researchers concerned with the evolution and development of the retail sector of advanced economies will welcome this book as an authoritative source of contemporary findings and commentary Rosemary D Bromley and Colin J Thomas are Lecturers in Geography at the University College of Swansea Wales This book is intended for undergraduate students taking courses in economic geography and retailing in departments of geography business studies planning etc

Handbook of Islamic Marketing Özlem Sandıkçı, Gillian Rice, 2011-01-01 This is an especially timely publication given the current metamorphosis of politics in the Middle East and North Africa. Özlem Sandıkçı and Gillian Rice are to be congratulated for having sensed the need for a Handbook that will alert marketers to the vast market opportunities offered by Muslim consumers. It is essential to become attuned to the values and principles of Islamic cultures that will drive consumption product and service choices, brand preference and brand loyalty in coming years. The scholars who have contributed to this Handbook come from many different backgrounds to offer a kaleidoscope of research and recommendations on how best to serve this previously overlooked segment of consumers who make up a quarter of world markets. Lyn S Amine, Saint Louis University, US. This ambitious and timely collection will be enormously valuable to readers in the practice and study of the growing field of Muslim marketing and branding. Essays range expertly across key sectors, notably finance, food and fashion, and territories of Muslim majority and minority population. Contributors elaborate the diversity of Muslim experiences, beliefs and practices that must be taken into account by marketing professionals seeking to exploit this newly recognized market. Academic authors provide helpful postscripts for marketers making clear the links between their nuanced, historicized understanding of contemporary transnational, global and local forms of Muslim identity and practice. This book provides an essential guide to those who study and those who participate in Muslim branding and marketing. Reina Lewis, London College of Fashion, UK. The Handbook of Islamic Marketing provides state-of-the-art scholarship on the intersection of Islam, consumption and marketing and lays out an agenda for future research. The topics covered by eminent contributors from around the world range from fashion and food consumption practices of Muslims to retailing, digital marketing, advertising, corporate social responsibility and nation branding in the context of Muslim marketplaces. The essays offer new insights into the relationship between morality, consumption and marketing practices and discuss the implications of politics and globalization for Islamic markets. This comprehensive Handbook provides an essential introduction to the newly emerging field of Islamic marketing. It is invaluable for researchers and students in international marketing who are interested in the intersection of Islam and marketing as well as those from anthropology and sociology studying Muslim consumers and businesses. The book also supplies vital knowledge for Muslim and non-Muslim business leaders generating commerce in Islamic communities.

Retailing in Emerging Markets Malobi Mukherjee, Richard Cuthbertson, Elizabeth Howard, 2014-09-25 Retailing is changing extremely rapidly in the emerging economies both as a driver of social and economic change and a consequence of economic development and the rise of consumer societies. Changes that took many decades in Europe or North America are happening at a much greater speed in emerging markets while regulations continue to be hotly contested in these markets, raising questions about appropriate business strategies for both globalising firms and local contenders. While much has been written about retail in emerging markets, the focus has been primarily on the nature of entry strategies for Western retail companies This book seeks to capture the impact of both internal and external regulations on retail development and strategy in emerging markets It provides a comprehensive and up to date assessment of the development of retailing in a wide range of emerging economies and seeks to capture the interplay between both retail policy and retail strategy and the theoretical implications of this on retail development as a whole This book will be of interest to academics researchers and advanced students with an interest in retail development in emerging markets international business strategy and international marketing

Contemporary Retail Marketing in Emerging Economies David Eshun Yawson, Fred A. Yamoah, 2022-10-11 This book highlights the development of retail marketing in developing economies and presents this sector as a major area of growth and business opportunity With a special focus on supermarket chains the authors show that the advancement of technology and infrastructure means that there are now increased electronic capabilities for data collection giving retailers more opportunities to pursue micro and macro marketing strategies The authors explain the evolution of this new era of marketing and the associated impact on all stakeholders especially consumers Taking the example of Ghana which is considered a leader among African nations in the use of loyalty cards the authors are able to set a benchmark for other emerging countries especially those that are experiencing similar trends The book is a valuable resource for students researchers and foreign companies wishing to expand their knowledge of the marketing strategies employed by emerging economies in Sub Saharan Africa

Acculturating the Shopping Centre Janina Gosseye, Tom Avermaete, 2018-10-16 Acculturating the Shopping Centre examines whether the shopping centre should be qualified as a global architectural type that effortlessly moves across national and cultural borders in the slipstream of neo liberal globalization or should instead be understood as a geographically and temporally bound expression of negotiations between mall developers representatives of a global logic of capitalist accumulation on the one hand and local actors architects governments citizens on the other It explores how the shopping centre adapts to new cultural contexts and questions whether this commercial type has the capacity to disrupt or even amend the conditions that it encounters Including more than 50 illustrations this book considers the evolving architecture of shopping centres It would be beneficial to academics and students across a number of areas such as architecture urban design cultural geography and sociology

International Retailing Nicholas Alexander, Anne Marie Doherty, 2009 International Retailing reflects contemporary research and current practice focusing on what is happening in the field who is making it happen why it is happening in the way it is and how it is happening Structured around four parts this textbook guides students through the internationalization process considering international markets and how retail companies operate within them It concludes by exploring future trends and challenges of the international retail marketplace The text is packed with a wealth of international examples and familiar case studies clearly showing how the theory translated into practice
