Development Geographies , 2003 Rethinking Development Ronaldo Munck, 2021-05-17 Development and underdevelopment are the main determinants of life chances worldwide arguably more so than social class Marxism as the underlying theory for social revolution needs to have a clear understanding of the dynamics of development and social progress Exploring the intersection of Marxism and development this book looks at Marx's original conception of capitalist development and his later engagement with under developed Russia The author also reviews Lenin's early critique of the

Russian populists rejection of capitalism compared with his later analysis of imperialism as a brake on development in the non European world The book then considers Rosa Luxemburg who arguably provides a bridge between these theorists and those that follow with her analysis of imperialism as a necessity for capitalism to incorporate non capitalist lands Turning then to the non European world the author examines the Latin American dependency theories the post development school and the recent indigenous development theories advanced by Andean Marxism Finally Munck addresses the relationship between globalization and development Does this relationship suggest that it has not been capitalism but a lack of capitalism that has led to under development Postcolonialism and Development Cheryl McEwan,2008-11-20 This book provides a valuable and unique introductory text that explains reviews and critically evaluates recent debates about postcolonial approaches and their implications for development studies

China and Africa Development Relations Christopher M. Dent,2010-09-13 Provides an overview of how the China Africa relationship has evolved over the years and examines whether it presents a different paradigm of development relations in the international system This book investigates what is particularly special about the development partnership between Africa and China Doing Development Research Vandana Desai,Rob Potter,2006-03-15 Doing Development Research is a comprehensive introduction to research in development studies that provides thorough training for anyone carrying out research in developing countries It brings together experts with extensive experience of overseas research presenting an interdisciplinary guide to the core methodologies Informed by years of research experience Doing Development Research draws together many strands of action research and participatory methods demonstrating their diverse applications and showing how they interrelate The text provides an account of the theoretical approaches that underlie development work an explanation of the practical issues involved in planning development research a systematic overview of information and data collecting methods in three sub sections methods of social research and associated forms of analysis using existing knowledge and records disseminating findings research Using clear and uncomplicated language illustrated with appropriate learning features throughout the text guides the researcher through the choice of appropriate methods the implementation of the research and the communication of the findings to a range of audiences This is the essential A Z of development research Disability and Development in Burkina Faso Lara Bezzina,2019-11-04 This book builds upon critiques of development in the disability domain by investigating the necessity and implications of theorising disability from the Global South and how development policies and practices pertaining to disabled people in such contexts might be improved by engaging with their voices and agency The author focuses on the lived experiences of disabled people in Burkina Faso while situating these experiences where necessary in the wider national and regional contexts She explores development agencies interventions with disabled people and the need to re think these practices and ideologies which are often framed within western contexts This work will appeal to policy makers NGOs academics students and researchers in the fields of development and disability studies Population and Development

W.T.S. Gould, 2008-11-19 Population and Development addresses important issues at the heart of the problems of developing countries. How these countries address the common difficulties of population growth including mortality and fertility decline, population redistribution including internal migration and urbanization and also international migration for both source countries and for destination countries. How and why has population change affected development both positively and negatively. How and why has development affected population change both growth and distribution. The book opens with an introduction preceding the ten substantive chapters covering some of the broader issues for population studies and development studies and the relationships between them. The first three chapters set out the main concepts and theoretical discussions on how population affects development and also how development affects population. Detailed chapters then cover each of the three main components of population change: fertility, mortality and finally migration. These are followed by chapters on the impacts of age structures including the potential for a demographic dividend and of the more qualitative aspects of human resource development through formal education and ICTs, with further chapters on population policies and population futures. The book incorporates illustrative text boxes and case studies on regions in Africa, the Middle East and Asia which elaborate the broader theoretical and conceptual substance of the ten major chapters. Each chapter has Discussion Questions and Sources and Further Reading sections and there is an extensive integrated References section. The arguments of the book bring together a large but fairly loosely integrated literature from population studies, development studies and geography in a conceptually coordinated, empirically wide ranging and challenging discussion. It is targeted at an audience in undergraduate courses in Geography and in Masters courses in Development Studies and Population Studies. The book's succinct but erudite structure means it can be used either as a course text book or as a basic reference on a range of current issues and likely concerns at the interface between Geography, Development Studies and Population Studies.

Southeast Asian Development Andrew McGregor, 2008-03-03 Southeast Asia has long fascinated development practitioners and researchers for being one of the few regions of the world that has resisted global trends to become a successful developing region. Divided into accessible thematic chapters, this book adopts a unique perspective of equitable development to outline the strengths and weaknesses of the transformations taking place in the Southeast Asian region. Focusing on four key themes: equality and inequality, political freedom and opportunity, empowerment and participation and environmental sustainability, these concepts are used to explore Southeast Asian development and trace the impacts that the growing popularity of market led and grassroots approaches are having upon economic, political and social processes. Whilst the diversity of the region is emphasized, so are some of the homogenizing trends such as the concentration of wealth and services in urban areas and the subsequent migration of rural people into urban factories and squatter settlements. The ongoing commercialization and industrialization of rural agriculture as well as the expansion of non farm income earning opportunities in rural spaces and the alarming rates of environmental degradation which threaten health and livelihoods are also exposed In highlighting how Southeast Asian development is unevenly distributing wealth opportunities and risks throughout the region this book emphasizes the need for creative new approaches to ensure that benefits of development are equitably enjoyed by all Including illustrations case studies and further reading this book provides an accessible up to date introductory text for students and researchers interested in Southeast Asian development development studies Asian studies and geography

Research and Fieldwork in Development Daniel Hammett, Chasca Twyman, Mark Graham, 2014-12-08 Research and Fieldwork in Development explores both traditional and cutting edge research methods from interviews and ethnography to spatial data and digital methods Each chapter provides the reader with an understanding of the theoretical basis of research methods reflects upon their practice and outlines appropriate analysis techniques The text also provides a cutting edge focus on the role of new media and technologies in conducting research The final chapters return to a set of broader concerns in development research providing a new and dynamic set of engagements with ethics and risk in fieldwork integrating methods and engaging development research methods with knowledge exchange practices Each chapter is supported by several case studies written by global experts within the field documenting encounters and experiences and linking theory to practice Each chapter is also complimented by an end of chapter summary suggestions for further reading and websites and questions for further reflection and practice The text critically locates development research within the field of international development to give an accessible and comprehensive introduction to development research methods This book provides an invaluable overview to the practice of international development research and serves as an essential resource for undergraduate and postgraduate student embarking of development fieldwork It is supported by online resources including extended bibliographies for each chapter example risk and ethic forms example policy briefing notes research reports links to websites and data sources

Disaster Risk Governance Denise Thompson, 2019-07-26 Disaster Risk Governance offers the first extensive engagement with disaster risk governance in the Caribbean and Sub Saharan Africa In the last decade and a half Kenya Jamaica Dominica and Zanzibar have all suffered massive destruction from disasters caused by natural hazards Despite the tremendous investments in disaster risk reduction DRR disasters have wiped out the developmental gains of these countries In this book Denise Thompson argues that disaster risk governance DRG as a practical and academic matter has not been given the attention it deserves and as a result this neglect has undermined the time money and resources invested in DRR in developing countries since the late 1970s and early 1980s Thompson proposes that properly conceptualizing DRG based on context will help to address some of the deficiencies Consequently DRG needs to become a central focus particularly for developing countries Written with real life implications for developing countries Disaster Risk Governance is perfectly suited for practitioners and researchers in area studies disaster risk reduction and disaster governance as well as students of disaster studies

Agriculture and Environment for Developing Countries Moyo, B.H.Z., 2014-05-08 This book is about indigenous ways of farming in Northern Malawi in the face of modernization and globalization pressures It also impacts modernization and globalization in relation to agriculture and environment in the developing countries laying bare their impacts on smallholder farmers agriculture in general industry and the environment

Dams, Displacement and Development Nathan Einbinder, 2017-02-08 Using the case of the Chixoy Hydroelectric Dam in Guatemala constructed between 1978 and 1983 this book examines the effects of displacement on the former residents of R o Negro a community forcibly evicted and nearly eliminated by the military and paramilitary Using open ended interview discussions and testimonies it focuses on this specific incident of displacement and violence and discusses the outcomes 30 years later Guatemala s history is plagued by development projects that resulted in displacement violence and increased marginalization of its indigenous and non indigenous populations In order to make way for development initiatives such as the production of bananas African palm coffee and sugar cane the extraction of metals such as gold and nickel or in this specific case the construction of a hydroelectric dam the land based predominately Maya campesinos have been systematically uprooted from the lands of their birth and launched into uncertainty The research findings presented based on fieldwork conducted from January to April 2009 suggest that the majority of survivors from the massacres that took place are still adversely affected by the destruction of their families and livelihoods While the circumstances pertaining to this event are unique similar struggles over land and human rights continue into the present and if policies remain unchanged in both international development agencies as well as the Guatemalan government clashes of this nature only increase in time

A Neoliberal Framework for Urban Housing Development in the Global South Sampa Chisumbe, Clinton Ohis Aigbavboa, Erastus Mwanaumo, Wellington Didibhuku Thwala, 2024-03-22 A Neoliberal Framework for Urban Housing Development in the Global South highlights the factors which predict urban housing development from developing countries perspective providing a guide for countries in the sub Sahara

New Actors and Alliances in Development Lisa Ann Richey, Stefano Ponte, 2016-03-17 This collection brings together an interdisciplinary group of scholars exploring how development financing and interventions are being shaped by a wider and more complex platform of actors than usually considered in the existing literature The contributors also trace a changing set of key relations and alliances in development those between business and consumers NGOs and celebrities philanthropic organizations and the state diaspora groups and transnational advocacy networks ruling elites and productive capitalists and between new donors and developing country governments Despite the diversity of these actors and alliances several commonalities arise they are often based on hybrid transnationalism and diffuse notions of development responsibility rather than being new per se they are newly being studied as engaging in practices that are now coming to be understood as development and they are limited in their ability to act as agents of development by their lack of accountability or pro poor commitment The articles in this collection point to images and representations as increasingly important in development branding and suggest fruitful new ground for critical development studies This book was originally published as a special issue of Third World Quarterly

The Language of Global

Development Marcin Solarz, 2014-07-11 Terms such as Third World developing countries and Global South are ubiquitous in the discipline of development studies but they are often poorly defined ideologically weighted and misleading Taking an intellectual history approach this book examines the most commonly used spatial terms in the language of development tracing their origins meanings evolution and processes of popularisation and demonstrating how geographical political and economic concepts were used or misused in creating these terms The book looks at the origins and the changing nature of fundamental development divisions from prehistoric times to the present day and analyses the process of conceptualising the contemporary North South divide focusing especially on the start of spatial development terminology in the twentieth century It uses detailed maps to assist the reader in visualising the geographical complexities of these spatial terms and discusses more recently developed terms such as emerging markets and BRIC which are key to understanding the modern world This book provides a valuable resource for students and researchers in development studies international relations geography sociology and anthropology as well as practitioners in the field of development Routledge Handbook of

Sports Development Barrie Houlihan, Mick Green, 2010-12-16 Sports development has become a prominent concern within both the academic study of sport and within the organisation and administration of sport Now available in paperback the Routledge Handbook of Sports Development is the first book to comprehensively map the wide ranging territory of sports development as an activity and as a policy field and to offer a definitive survey of current academic knowledge and professional practice Spanning the whole spectrum of activity in sports development from youth sport and mass participation to the development of elite athletes the book identifies and defines the core functions of sports development exploring the interface between sports development and cognate fields such as education coaching community welfare and policy The book presents important new studies of sports development around the world illustrating the breadth of practice within and between countries and examines the most important issues facing practitioners within sports development today from child protection to partnership working With unparalleled depth and breadth of coverage the Routledge Handbook of Sports Development is the definitive guide to policy practice and research in sports development It is essential reading for all students researchers and professionals with an interest in this important and rapidly evolving discipline Routledge

Handbook of Southeast Asian Development Andrew McGregor, Lisa Law, Fiona Miller, 2017-11-06 Southeast Asia is one of the most diverse regions in the world hosting a wide range of languages ethnicities religions economies ecosystems and political systems Amidst this diversity however has been a common desire to develop This provides a uniting theme across landscapes of difference This Handbook traces the uneven experiences that have accompanied development in Southeast Asia The region is often considered to be a development success story however it is increasingly recognized that growth underpinning this development has been accompanied by patterns of inequality violence environmental degradation and cultural loss In 30 chapters written by established and emerging experts of the region the Handbook examines development encounters through four thematic sections Approaching Southeast Asian development Institutions and economies of development People and development and Environment and development The authors draw from national or sub national case studies to consider regional scale processes of development tracing the uneven distribution of costs risks and benefits Core themes include the ongoing neoliberalization of development issues of social and environmental justice and questions of agency and empowerment This important reference work provides rich insights into the diverse impacts of current patterns of development and in doing so raises questions and challenges for realizing more equitable alternatives It will be of value to students and scholars of Asian Studies Development Studies Human Geography Political Ecology and Asian Politics

Neoliberalism, Development, and Aid Volunteering Nichole Georgeou, 2012-10-12 This work comes at an important time of global crisis and change where the world is ravaged by natural disasters wars and poverty This has increased the pressure on governments and other organisations such as volunteer sending agencies which provide aid and we have seen an upward trend in the number of people volunteering abroad Within this volatile environment neoliberal ideology on how aid should be provided and implemented has become embedded in how policy is formulated A market driven model of aid provision has become the norm and governments are increasingly focused on international development volunteering as a form of soft diplomacy This is the first qualitative empirical study of international development volunteering The book contributes theoretical knowledge on International Volunteering Sending Agencies IVSAs and examines practitioner experience in development volunteering in the context of emerging policy developments Critical analysis highlights the impact of global and social changes and provides a nuanced understanding of development volunteer motivation and the relationship between volunteers and sending agencies The book also puts forward an agenda and model for volunteer sending that addresses the complexities and diversity of the volunteer experience
