Engaging with Fathers Brigid Daniel, Julie Taylor, 2001 Fathers are often marginalised or ignored in child protection practice This reflects an uncertainty within society as a whole about the role of fathers in their children s lives Engaging with Fathers is a guide for social workers and health visitors on how to broaden their practice to include fathers and stepfathers whether or not their behaviour is abusive or problematic The authors approach is based on theoretical analysis and explores attachment theory feminism anti discriminatory practice and nursing ideology as they have influenced social work From this they provide suggestions on how to assess the potential risks and the potential assets fathers may offer and positive examples of what can be done in child care and health visiting drawn from real practice They set out a theoretical framework that takes account of the reality of the situations practitioners face draw up a model for intervention and demonstrate the implications for practice Engaging with Fathers is written for the busy professional and avoids jargon Each chapter contains summaries of the main points examples of research exercises key issues to consider and suggestions for further reading While developing practice with fathers it remains firmly focused on what is best for children

Critical Practice in Social Work Robert Adams, Lena Dominelli, Malcolm Payne, 2009-04-16 What do social workers need to know in order to practise skilfully and effectively Edited by three Social Work s leading scholars the second edition of this highly respected textbook helps bridge the gap between social work theory and the challenges of day to day practice Versatile and thoughtful the book s simultaneous accessibility and depth make it essential reading suited for both social work students at undergraduate and post qualifying level Practitioners too will learn and benefit from the insights collected together in this valuable addition to their bookshelf

Hearing the Voices of Children Christine Hallett, Alan Prout, 2003-12-16 Hearing the Voices of Children provides a fresh perspective on social policy At the heart of the book is the emergence of children s voices and the implications of this for social policy The authors argue that children s voices should be heard much more strongly in the process of policy formation at all levels Although there is growing support for this idea it is not without opposition and the authors themselves make many critical points about the current attempts to put it into practice The book is divided into four main themes hearing children s voices discourses of childhood children and services and resources for children Childhood experts from the UK Scandinavia Germany and Australia examine how assumptions and models about childhood and discuss ways in which children s voices might become more influential in shaping policy There are many obstacles to overcome but the contributors to this volume show that children s participation is possible and needed if services are to be improved This book is essential reading for students and academics in the field of childhood studies sociology social policy and education It will also be of interest to practitioners in the social child and youth services

Is Anyone Listening? Rosemary Aris, Gill Hague, Audrey Mullender, 2004-03-01 Domestic violence is in the public eye as never before but how often are abused women consulted or involved in the new services and policies This book investigates and reveals that the voices of survivors of domestic violence are often simply not heard silenced the women themselves become invisible Is Anyone Listening draws on the experiences of other service user movements to provide a strong conceptual framework for thinking about abused women s participation in policy and service development It discusses empowerment issues and the women s movement against gender violence exploring how far refuge organisations and other women's movement services have influenced statutory services and vice versa It includes many practical ideas for involving women in the improvement of both policy and practice and gives examples of inspiring and innovative projects Based on a study carried out as part of the Economic and Social Research Council's Violence Research Programme Is Anyone Listening offers a unique analysis of the sensitive and complex issues involved in developing service user participation within the domestic violence field The insights it provides will enable policy makers activists students practitioners and women who have experienced domestic violence to move forward together

Best Practice in Social Work Karen Jones, Barry Cooper, Harry Ferguson, 2007-11-27 Social work has laboured too long under a deficit model that focuses on failings and problems of practice Emphasising best practice strengths and collaborative partnership this ambitious book seeks to redress the balance Undergraduate and post qualifying social work students alike will find it a useful resource

Law and the Social Work Practitioner Rodger White, Keith Brown, Graeme Broadbent, 2009-07-28 This book explores the main areas of social work law including children mental health and community care By investigating the meaning of law and some of its underlying value assumptions it encourages practitioners to reflect on their actions and beliefs helping them to avoid being a mere technician and instead become a competent practitioner This new text supports busy social workers studying for Post Qualifying Awards Each chapter begins with an overview of the rationale for the teaching material provided and sets out clear learning objectives Case studies exercises and recommendations for further reading can be found throughout the book
