born again how one may see with the eye of the heart and how we may function as optimal conduits for the gifts of the Spirit Brief descriptions of surrender mindfulness and divine reading and the idea of hearing from God are included Finally some ideas are presented that have stymied and continue to challenge the author ending with a summary of the author's understanding one perspective of who we truly are the new man and how we may optimize our efforts to be receptive to the wishes of our Holy Father as we function as a conduit for the gifts of the Spirit The author was encouraged to write this book by an encounter with the Holy Spirit over a week long period of time and has included some testimonies and other interactions scattered throughout the text The author has tried to offer a Biblical scriptural basis for his conclusions obtained mostly through study and prayer but also through interaction with the Holy Spirit This book is offered in prayer with the hope that something in these pages may help the reader develop a stronger intimate and more loving relationship with our Holy Father

Women in the Gospel of Mark David Malick, 2025-02-04 Women in the Gospel of Mark provides a literary analysis of every passage dealing with women in Mark This analysis is placed against a first century understanding of women to show how both the author and a first century audience create the characterization of women from how the narrative is told

Rewriting God Elaine Lindsay, 2021-11-22 Women are rarely if ever mentioned in commentaries upon Australian Christianity and spirituality Only exceptional women are recognized as authorities on religious matters Why is this so Does it matter Don t people from the same religious tradition share similar experiences of the divine regardless of their gender Rewriting God asks whether women have been writing about the divine and whether their insights are different from those contained in malestream accounts of Australian Christianity and spirituality An analysis of the writings of popular theologians and religious commentators over the last twenty years suggests that the most popular form of spirituality among Australian theologians is Desert Spirituality An analysis of women s autobiographical writings however suggests that the desert is irrelevant to many women s spiritual experiences This book through a close investigation of the fictions of Thea Astley Elizabeth Jolley and Barbara Hanrahan attempts to posit alternative forms of women s spirituality and to signal ways in which this spirituality is already being expressed From the evidence gathered here it becomes obvious that traditional expressions of Australian Christianity and spirituality are gender specific and that they have functioned to deny women s religious experiences and to silence their claims to equality in the sight and service of the divine It becomes obvious too that women have been developing their own forms of religious expression and that these may be expected to supplant gradually withering images of Desert Spirituality Whether this new imagery will strengthen Australian Christianity or whether it merely marks a decline in the authority of Christianity remains a moot point
