government the author believes that with deepening reform and openness China's central local relations is increasingly functioning on federalist principles. Federalism as a functioning system in China is under studied. The author defines the political system existing in China as de facto federalism and provides a detailed analysis of its sources and dynamics in the book. The system is mainly driven by two related factors: inter governmental decentralization and globalization. While economic decentralization since the 1980s has led to the formation of de facto federalism, globalization since the 1990s has accelerated this process and generated increasingly high pressure on the Chinese leadership to institutionalize de facto federalism by various measures of selective recentralization.

Rationality and Belief Ralph Wedgwood,2023-05-11 This book gives a general theory of rational belief Although it can be read by itself is a sequel to the author's previous book The Value of Rationality Oxford 2017 It takes the general conception of rationality that was defended in that earlier book and combines it with an account of the varieties of belief and of what it is for these beliefs to count as correct to develop an account of what it is for beliefs to count as rational According to this account rationality comes in degrees the degree to which one's beliefs counts as rational is determined by their distance from a corresponding probability function where this distance is measured by those beliefs expected degree of incorrectness according to the probability function the account also involves an explanation of what determines exactly which probability function plays this role in each case and of why this probability function should play this role In developing and defending this account new light is shed on several central epistemological issues These issues include the distinction between propositional and doxastic justification the debates between internalism and externalism and between foundationalism and coherentism the significance or lack of it of the notion of evidence the relationship between credences full belief inference and suspension of judgment the nature of the kind of possibility that is presupposed by the relevant sort of probability and whether rationality is diachronic so that the beliefs that it is rational for us to have now depend in part on the beliefs that we held in the past Finally some suggestions are made about how this theory bears on a range of further topics including the defeasibility of inference scepticism and the analysis of knowledge

Shadows of Nagasaki

Chad R. Diehl, 2024-01-02 A critical introduction to how the Nagasaki atomic bombing has been remembered especially in contrast to that of Hiroshima In the decades following the atomic bombing of Nagasaki on August 9 1945 the city's residents processed their trauma and formed narratives of the destruction and reconstruction in ways that reflected their regional history and social makeup In doing so they created a multi layered urban identity as an atomic bombed city that differed markedly from Hiroshima's image Shadows of Nagasaki traces how Nagasaki's trauma history and memory of the bombing manifested through some of the city's many post atomic memoryscapes such as literature religious discourse art historical landmarks commemorative spaces and architecture In addition the book pays particular attention to how the city's history of international culture exemplified best perhaps by the region's Christian especially Catholic past informed its response to the atomic trauma and shaped its postwar urban identity Key historical actors in the volume's chapters include writers Japanese Catholic leaders atomic bombing survivors known as hibakusha municipal officials American occupation personnel peace activists artists and architects The story of how these diverse groups of people processed and participated in the discourse surrounding the legacies of Nagasaki's bombing shows how regional history culture and politics rather than national ones become the most influential factors shaping narratives of destruction and reconstruction after mass trauma In turn and especially in the case of urban destruction new identities emerge and old ones are rekindled not to serve national politics or social interests but to bolster narratives that reflect local circumstances
