Shakaigaku Shojiten Dictionary Of Sociology:

Americanizing Japanese Firms Yukio Yotsumoto, 2010-05-10 Americanizing Japanese Firms examines the concept of corporate social responsibility in Japanese manufacturing companies within the United States. The study compares the corporate philanthropy of Japanese companies against American and British companies. Specifically, the study investigates characteristics of Japanese companies that influence the level and nature of the corporate philanthropy undertaken. The relationship between size of the company and the level and nature of corporate social responsibility is also examined. Finally, the study explores how Japanese corporations learn about the American approach of corporate philanthropy. In his investigations, the author considered two contexts: first, the constitutions of Japan and the United States are analyzed at a national level to determine the position or importance of corporate philanthropy within the societies comparatively; and second, the communities in which corporations are located and act for social contribution are investigated. The Military-industrial Complex Masako Ikegami-Andersson, 1992 Attempts to apply the concept of the military industrial complex (MIC) to a case study of non-major military powers such as Sweden and Japan. Based on a cross-national and historical analysis of the MICs of Sweden and Japan, the text considers differentiation of MICs in different countries. Subject Catalog Library of Congress, Library of Congress Catalogs Library of Congress, 1980 000000 0000, 1997-01-10 4 340 660 5 000
