Kinney, 2012 Contains forty original essays Devouring Time Philippa Sheppard, 2017-05-26 From Kenneth Branagh s groundbreaking Henry V to Justin Kurzel's haunting Macbeth many modern filmmakers have adapted Shakespeare for the big screen Their translations of Renaissance plays to modern cinema both highlight and comment on contemporary culture and attitudes to art identity and the past A dynamic analysis of twenty seven films adapted from Shakespeare's works Philippa Sheppard's Devouring Time addresses a wide range of topics including gender ritual music setting rhetoric and editing She argues that the directors choice to adapt these four hundred year old plays is an act of nostalgia not only for the plays themselves but also for the period in which they were written the association of genius that accompanies them and the medium of theatre Sheppard contends that millennial anxiety brought on by the social and technological revolutions of the last five decades has generated a yearning for Shakespeare because he is an icon of a literary culture that is often deemed threatened Authoritative and accessible Devouring Time s investigations of filmmakers nostalgia for the art of the past shed light on Western concepts of gender identity and colonialism Who Hears in Shakespeare?
