Newell, 2019-06-05 Where did humanity get the idea that outer space is a frontier waiting to be explored Destined for the Stars unravels the popularization of the science of space exploration in America between 1944 and 1955 arguing that the success of the US space program was due not to technological or economic superiority but was sustained by a culture that had long believed it was called by God to settle new frontiers and prepare for the inevitable end of time and God's final judgment Religious forces Newell finds were in no small way responsible for the crescendo of support for and interest in space exploration in the early 1950s well before Project Mercury the United States first human spaceflight program began in 1959 In this remarkable history Newell explores the connection between the art of Chesley Bonestell the father of modern space art whose paintings drew inspiration from depictions of the American West and the popularity of that art in Cold War America Bonestell's working partnership with science writer and rocket expert Willy Ley and Ley and Bonestell's relationship with Wernher von Braun father of both the V 2 missile and the Saturn V rocket whose millennial conviction that God wanted humankind to leave Earth and explore other planets animated his life's work Together they inspired a technological and scientific faith that awoke a deep seated belief in a sense of divine destiny to reach the heavens The origins of their quest Newell concludes had less to do with the Cold War strife commonly associated with the space race and everything to do with the religious culture that contributed to the invention of space as the final frontier Adventures in Cryptozoology Volume 1 Richard Freeman, 2019-06-18 Discover the history and science behind these not so imaginary creatures and how to search for them yourself Cryptozoology the study of hidden monstrous and legendary animals is truly the art of discovering the unknown Richard Freeman Zoological Director of Centre for Fortean Zoology has explored the corners of the five continents in search of creatures that many people believe are non-existent In this book he shares the exciting stories of his investigations of the Yeti Mongolian Deathworm Loch Ness Monster Orang Pendak Ninki Naka and more Cryptozoologists throughout the years have studied unknown species of reptiles lake and sea creatures apes and hominins The science and history of this field of study includes examples of creatures that were once thought to be mythological but that have since been proven to exist If you're ready to begin your search for Sasquatch and learn to hunt monsters Adventures in Cryptozoology is your guide In these pages you'll find Tales of mythical extinct and out of place creatures Hints about Bigfoot and other ape men And tips for equipping your own cryptozoology adventure including all the gear field craft and resources you'll need to record your findings The Lungfish, the Dodo and the Unicorn Willy Ley, 1948 Pushing the Limits Henry Petroski, 2005-09-13 Here are two dozen tales in the grand adventure of engineering from the Henry Petroski who has been called America's poet laureate of technology Pushing the Limits celebrates some of the largest things we have created bridges dams buildings and provides a startling new vision of engineering's past, its present, and its future. Along the way, it highlights our greatest successes like London's Tower Bridge, our most ambitious projects like China's Three Gorges Dam, our most embarrassing moments like the wobbly Millennium Bridge in London, and our greatest failures like the collapse of the twin towers on September 11. Throughout, Petroski provides fascinating and provocative insights into the world of technology with his trademark erudition and enthusiasm for the subject.

Unicorns William Dudley, 2008 For thousands of years, people from all parts of the world have been fascinated by unicorns, and many have believed that these one-horned animals really existed. This book recounts different unicorn legends, the very real trade that existed for unicorn horns, alicorns, and examines what real animals might have inspired the unicorn stories.

Willy Ley Jared S. Buss, 2017-08-22 Already a highly respected rocket scientist and compatriot of Wernher von Braun, Willy Ley was the author of bestselling books and at the forefront of popular science journalism. But as von Braun came onto center stage with his Saturn rockets, Ley was ostracized and excluded from the limelight by younger historians and scientists. Buss gives us the first full-length biography of Ley, presenting his contribution to modern science and science journalism.
