Natural Landscapes Of Britain From The Air:

Natural Landscapes of Britain from the Air Nicholas Stephens, 1990-09-06 Historic Landscapes of Britain from the Air Robin Edgar Glasscock, 1992-10-29 Britain's Changing Environment from the Air Tim Bayliss-Smith, Susan E. Owens, 1990-11-15 Commercial pressures and mechanization have rendered almost unrecognizable the natural and man made landscapes of Britain as they existed before World War I How this happened and how we can best conserve what is left is charted using the perspective of aerial photography in this book Landscape and Identity Wendy Joy Darby, 2020-08-20 In England perhaps more than most places people's engagement with the landscape is deeply felt and has often been expressed through artistic media The popularity of walking and walking clubs perhaps provides the most compelling evidence of the important role landscape plays in people's lives Not only is individual identity rooted in experiencing landscape but under the multiple impacts of social fragmentation global economic restructuring and European integration membership in recreational walking groups helps recover a sense of community Moving between the 1750s and the present this transdisciplinary book explores the powerful role of landscape in the formation of historical class relations and national identity The author's direct field experience of fell walking in the Lake District and with various locally based clubs includes investigation of the roles gender and race play She shows how the politics of access to open spaces has implications beyond the immediate geographical areas considered and ultimately involves questions of citizenship Natural Woodland George F. Peterken, 1996-03-28 A fascinating account of woodland natural history for all those concerned with woodland management and ecology The Routledge Companion to Landscape Studies Peter Howard, Ian Thompson, Emma Waterton, Mick Atha, 2013-02-15 Landscape is a vital synergistic concept which opens up ways of thinking about many of the problems which beset our contemporary world such as climate change social alienation environmental degradation loss of biodiversity and destruction of heritage As a concept landscape does not respect disciplinary boundaries Indeed many academic disciplines have found the concept so important it has been used as a qualifier that delineates whole sub disciplines landscape ecology landscape planning landscape archaeology and so forth In other cases landscape studies progress under a broader banner such as heritage studies or cultural geography Yet it does not always mean the same thing in all of these contexts The Routledge Companion to Landscape Studies offers the first comprehensive attempt to explore research directions into the many uses and meanings of landscape The Companion contains thirty nine original contributions from leading scholars within the field which have been divided into four parts Experiencing Landscape Landscape Culture and Heritage Landscape Society and Justice and Design and Planning for Landscape Topics covered range from phenomenological approaches to landscape to the consideration of landscape as a repository of human culture from ideas of identity and belonging to issues of power and hegemony and from discussions of participatory planning and design to the call for new imaginaries in a time of global and environmental crisis Each contribution explores the future development of different conceptual and theoretical approaches as well as recent empirical contributions to knowledge and understanding Collectively they encourage dialogue across disciplinary barriers and reflection upon the implications of research findings for local national and international policy in relation to landscape This Companion provides up to date critical reviews of state of the art perspectives across this multifaceted field embracing disciplines such as anthropology archaeology cultural studies geography landscape planning landscape architecture countryside management forestry heritage studies ecology and fine art It serves as an invaluable point of reference for scholars researchers and graduate students alike engaging in the field of landscape studies

Quaternary of South-West England S. Campbell, C.O. Hunt, James D. Scourse, D.H. Keen, N. Stephens, 2012-12-06
STRUCTURE OF THE VOLUME AND TERMINOLOGY USED This book contains scientific descriptions of 63 localities Figure A of at least national importance for Quaternary geology geomorphology and environmental change in South West England These sites were selected by the Geological Conservation Review and are accordingly designated GCR sites Chapter 1 provides an introduction to the Quaternary Chapter 2 synthesizes the geomorphological development and Quaternary history of the region and outlines the principles involved in site selection The individual GCR site descriptions form the core of the book In the following chapters sites are arranged and described in broad geographic areas and by research topic This is necessitated by the widely disparate nature of the field evidence in South West England sites demonstrating the full range of Quaternary and geomorphological features are not evenly and conveniently dispersed throughout the region and some areas have significant gaps Neither do the individual chapters contain sites that necessarily equate with particular site selection networks Rather the chosen chapter headings provide the least repetitive means of describing the sites and background material Where possible a chronological approach from oldest to youngest has been used to describe sites within a given chapter Again this approach is not always possible and a group of sites may show variations on landform or Stratigraphic evidence broadly within one major time interval or chronostratigraphic stage inevitably there are many overlaps Glaciological Data World Data Center A for Glaciology, 1977

Bibliography Update, 1988-1992, 1993 The use of airspace Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Transport Committee, 2009-07-10 The Government's Future of Air Transport strategy aims to significantly increase UK airport capacity over the next two decades to accommodate the predicted growth in demand for air travel New runways at Heathrow and Stansted airports are two of the key airport development proposals If all the White Paper supported airport development proposals came to fruition current Government forecasts predict that the number of passengers passing through UK airports will increase from 241 million passengers a year in 2007 to 455 million passengers a year in 2030 This UK growth matches air traffic predictions for the whole continent Eurocontrol the European Organisation for the Safety of Air Navigation predicts that European air traffic will double by 2020 If rising demand for air travel is to be met effectively through additional airport capacity a corresponding increase in airspace capacity must be realised However a country's airspace the portion of atmosphere above its territory and territorial waters controlled by that country is a finite resource UK airspace particularly in the South East of England is already some of the busiest and most complex to manage in the world This will almost certainly require improvements in the efficiency of the UK air traffic management system The Committee's inquiry aims to look at how to meet these challenges Its findings are aimed at those organisations responsible for airspace related decisions in the UK the CAA NATS and the Department for Transport Passenger numbers and freight demand globally have declined in 2008 and in the first months of 2009 In its conclusions and recommendations the Committee covered the management of airspace strategy change and co ordination in airspace management environmental impacts of airspace changes and European developments Modern British Nature Writing, 1789-2020 Will Abberley, Christina Alt, David Higgins, Graham Huggan, Pippa Marland, 2022-03-17 This first full length study of modern British nature writing is timely and invaluable for literary scholarship in the environmental crisis Ontario Geography, 1990

Giblett, 2009-09-29 A bold and exciting exploration of the relationship and interactions between humans the human landscape and the earth looking at a diverse range of case studies from the nineteenth century city to the Asian tsunami and Hurricane Katrina Lordship and Landscape in Norfolk: 1250-1350 William Owen Hassall, Jacques Beuroy, 1993 Natural England's Role in Improving Sites of Special Scientific Interest Great Britain. National Audit Office, 2008 In 2000 the government set a target of getting 95 per cent of all SSSI land in England into a healthy or improving condition by 2010 In 2002 around 52 per cent of SSSI land was in target condition Since then the reported condition of SSSIs has improved and by March 2008 83 per cent of the land area of SSSIs covering 888 706 hectares was in target condition 45 per cent was in a healthy condition A further 38 per cent was improving in condition though it may take some years to reach a healthy condition Nearly 400 million of public money has been spent on improving the condition of SSSIs since 2000 equivalent to about 50 per hectare per year During this period Natural England has identified the condition of all SSSIs and the actions needed to bring them into a healthy condition Defra and Natural England have worked with major landowners and occupiers to improve the condition of SSSI land This expenditure and the progress made needs to be supported by improving the administrative and oversight functions of Natural England All SSSIs are supposed to be subject to assessments every six years but Natural England is behind with the task About 25 per cent of units have not been assessed within the required six year period Around a third of sites do not have conservation objectives in place which describe the conservation needed and allow changes in condition to be judged Nature Conservation in Europe Graham Tucker, 2023-05-25 A detailed description and analysis of European nature conservation and its achievements focussing on the EU and last forty years Landscape, Nature, and the Body Politic Kenneth Olwig, 2002-06-14 This text is an exploration of the origins and lasting influence of two contesting but intertwined discourses that persist today when we use the words landscape country scenery and nature The natural choice Great Britain: Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs,2011-06-07 This white paper sets out proposals for a detailed programme of action to repair damage done to the environment in the past and urges everyone to get involved in helping nature to flourish at all levels from neighbourhoods to national parks The plans are directly linked to the groundbreaking research in the National Ecosystem Assessment that showed the strong economic arguments for safeguarding and enhancing the natural environment They also act on the recommendations of Making Space for Nature a report into the state of England s wildlife sites led by Professor John Lawton and published in September 2010 which showed that England s wildlife sites are fragmented and not able to respond to the pressures of climate change and other pressures we put on our land Key measures proposed include i Reconnecting nature with New Nature Improvement Areas NIAs with a 7 5 million fund for 12 initial NIAs biodiversity offsetting New Local Nature Partnerships with 1 million available this year phasing out peat ii Connecting people and nature for better quality of life with Green Areas Designation better urban green spaces more children experiencing nature by learning outdoors strengthening local public health activities the new environmental volunteering initiative Muck in 4 Life to improve places in towns and countryside for people and nature to enjoy and iii Capturing and improving the value of nature with a Natural Capital Committee an annual statement of green accounts for UK Plc a business led Task Force to expand the UK business opportunities from new products and services which are good for the economy and nature alike Advanced
