Natural Victims:

Knowing Victims Rebecca Stringer, 2014-06-20 Knowing Victims explores the theme of victimhood in contemporary feminism and politics. It focuses on popular and scholarly constructions of feminism as victim feminism, an ideology of passive victimhood that denies women's agency and provides the first comprehensive analysis of the debate about this ideology which has unfolded among feminists since the 1980s. The book critically examines a movement away from the language of victimhood across a wide array of discourses and the neoliberal replacement of the concept of structural oppression with the concept of personal responsibility. In derogating the notion of victim, neoliberalism promotes a conception of victimization as subjective rather than social, a state of mind rather than a worldly situation. Drawing upon Nietzsche, Lyotard, rape crisis feminism, and feminist philosophy, Stringer situates feminist politicizations of rape, interpersonal violence, economic inequality, and welfare reform as key sites of resistance to the victim-blaming logic of neoliberalism. She suggests that although recent feminist critiques of victim feminism have critically diagnosed the anti-victim movement, they have not positively defended victim politics. Stringer argues that a conception of the victim as an agentic bearer of knowledge and an understanding of resentment as a generative force for social change provides a potent counter to the negative construction of victimhood characteristic of the neoliberal era. This accessible and insightful analysis of feminism, neoliberalism, and the social construction of victimhood will be of great interest to researchers and students in the disciplines of gender and women's studies, psychology, sociology, politics, and philosophy.

Reparations for Victims of Genocide, War Crimes and Crimes Against Humanity Carla Ferstman, Mariana Goetz, Alan Stephens, 2009 This book provides detailed analyses of systems that have been established to provide reparations to victims of genocide, crimes against humanity, and war crimes, and the way in which these systems have worked and are working in practice. Many of these systems are described and assessed for the first time in an academic publication. The publication draws upon a groundbreaking Conference organised by the Clemens Nathan Research Centre (CNRC) and REDRESS at the Peace Palace in The Hague, with the support of the Dutch Carnegie Foundation. Both CNRC and REDRESS had become very concerned about the extreme difficulty encountered by most victims of serious international crimes in attempting to access effective and enforceable remedies and reparation for harm suffered. In discussions between the Conference organisers and Judges and officials of the International Criminal Court, it became ever more apparent that there was a great need for frank and open exchanges on the question of effective reparation between the representatives of victims, NGOs, and IGOs and other experts. It was clear to all that the many current initiatives of governments and regional and international institutions to afford reparations to victims of genocide, crimes against humanity, and war crimes could benefit greatly by taking into full account the wide and varied practice that had been built up over several decades. In particular, the Hague Conference sought to consider in detail the long experience of the Conference on Jewish Material Claims against Germany, the Claims Conference, in respect of Holocaust restitution programmes, as well as the practice of truth commissions arbitral proceedings and a variety of national processes to identify common trends best practices and lessons This book thus explores the actions of governments as well as of national and international courts and commissions in applying processing implementing and enforcing a variety of reparations schemes and awards Crucially it considers the entire complex of issues from the perspective of the beneficiaries survivors and their communities and from the perspective of the policy makers and implementers tasked with resolving technical and procedural challenges in bringing to fruition adequate effective and meaningful reparations in the context of mass victimisation

Victims Before the International Criminal Court Christoph Safferling, Gurgun Petrossian, 2021-09-16 The book analyses the difficulties the International Criminal Court faces with the definition of those persons who are eligible for participating in the proceedings Establishing justice for victims is one of the most important aims of the court It therefore created a unique system of victim participation Since its first trial the court struggles to live up to the expectancies its statute has generated The book offers a new approach of how to define victimhood by looking at the different international crimes It seeks to offer guidance for the right to participate in the different stages of the proceedings by looking at the practice in national jurisdictions Lastly the book offers insights into the functioning of the reparation regime at the ICC by virtue of the Trust Fund for Victim and its different mandates The critical analysis of the ICC practice with regard to definition participation and reparation aims at promoting a realistic approach which will avoid the disappointing of expectations and thus help to enhance the acceptance of the ICC

Compensating Catastrophe Victims Véronique Bruggeman, 2010-01-01 This book shows that amelioration of the current compensation solutions for disaster victims is indeed a possibility In a heated yet often poorly informed debate it offers clarity and insights regarding the financial compensation for victims of catastrophes which in addition to raising academic interest are certain to help build a framework for future policymakers and lawmakers faced with shaping compensation programmes for catastrophe victims

The Standing of Victims in the Procedural Design of the International Criminal Court Tatiana Bachvarova, 2017-05-08 This book canvasses the autonomous position of victims before the International Criminal Court It seeks to provide an objective and balanced perspective and neither rejects the idea of victims participation nor seeks to extend it beyond the contours determined by the founders of the ICC The author contributes to the existing debate in academia and in practice by delineating the core most complex and contentious matters ensuing from the role assigned to victims The scrupulously selected issues unveil and blueprint the essential characteristics that delimit the standing of victims as independent actors in the ICC s arena distinct from the parties and other non party participants As an integral part of the ICC s synergy victims converge and interact with its other components Therefore the position and role of victims are contemplated in the context of the Court s procedural mechanism and the mission pursued by the parties and the Chamber The philosophy underpinning the ICC s design and the standing of victims therein also requires analysis from a wider perspective Accordingly the volume draws an in depth parallel with relevant developments and trends at the international and domestic level Close attention is paid to the legal instruments and jurisprudence of internationalized criminal justice bodies human rights institutions and non criminal jurisdictions to the extent useful for shedding further light on the issues at hand Recourse is also made to various national systems whenever relevant Neither Victim nor Survivor Marilyn Nissim-Sabat,2009-07-16 In Neither Victim nor Survivor Thinking toward a New Humanity Marilyn Nissim Sabat offers a comprehensive critique of the interrelated concepts of victim and survivor as they have been ideologically distorted in Western thought Framed by the phenomenological perspective of Edmund Husserl Nissim Sabat carries out her argument through an intense engagement with current scholarly work on Toni Morrison's Beloved Sophocles' Antigone akrasia psychoanalysis critical race theory feminist philosophy of science and Marxism Nissim Sabat ultimately proposes that a new consciousness enabled by the phenomenological attitude of the way in which ideological distortion of the concepts of victim and survivor helps to perpetuate victimization will empower us to find ways to end victimization and its anti human consequences The book's interdisciplinary approach will make it appealing to a broad range of students and scholars alike
