Naturalist In Borneo:

A Naturalist in Borneo Robert Walter Campbell Shelford, 1916 Originally published in 1916 Robert Shelford's descriptions of the wildlife of Sarawak remain as accurate and informative as ever for the naturalist of today But the author's interests as a naturalist were not confined to the animal world Shelford was an intrepid traveller and his book vividly describes his expeditions and what he encountered as seen through the eyes of an Edwardian Englishman in the heyday of the Empire His accounts of life in the Sarawakian countryside convey the flavor of the time and present a picture which in ways is still recognizable to a modern visitor to Borneo *Naturalist in Borneo, by the Late Robert W.C. and adventure with the environment always in mind It chronicles the nine years the author spent with his family on that equatorial island The book s humorous style never detracts from the focus on the science the island of Borneo and its natural wonders The story begins in 2007 on top of a garage in Taiwan where the author kept a greenhouse filled with hundreds of carnivorous tropical pitcher plants In August of the same year he attended a conference on these plants in Borneo and met them in the wild for the first time This triggered an obsession with the island s legendary rainforest fauna and flora and he decided to move to Borneo with his family for easier access to the jungle In a tone reminiscent of Bill Bryson Douglas Adams and Gerald Durrell funny self deprecating but always satisfying for the science minded reader A Greenhorn Naturalist in Borneo documents the Breuer family s adventures with Borneo s enormous biodiversity flying snakes venomous primates parachuting frogs pangolins king cobras orangutans masters of mimicry and camouflage the world s rarest lizard and the world s longest snake And these are just a fraction of the life forms the reader will meet Adventure lurks behind every trail bend toddler sized monkeys terrorize night hikers bearded jungle pigs hunt stray dogs a giant python almost gets stepped on and other encounters of the not so funny when it happened kind The reader will also meet the people inhabiting the island such as Asia s last rainforest nomads quaint government officials and former headhunting tribes that still proudly display their trophies above their fireplaces Inevitably the author s life in Borneo also led to first hand insight into the island s environmental tragedy caused by decades of severe over exploitation a recurring topic throughout the book Readers can marvel at nature s wonders in all their magnificence visiting places unknown and creatures unheard of and it is also an invitation to consider the state of the planet to take it seriously and to act before it s too late
