Hegel and the Third World Teshale Tibebu, 2011-02-02 Hegel more than any other modern Western philosopher produced the most systematic case for the superiority of Western white Protestant bourgeois modernity He established a racially structured ladder of gradation of the peoples of the world putting Germanic people at the top of the racial pyramid people of Asia in the middle and Africans and Indigenous people of the Americas and Pacific Islands at the bottom In Hegel and the Third World Tibebu guides the reader through Hegel's presentation on universalism to argue that such a classification flows in part from Hegel's philosophy of the development of human consciousness Hegel classified Africans as people arrested at the lowest and most immediate stage of consciousness that of the senses Asians as people with divided consciousness that of the understanding and Europeans as people of reason Tibebu demonstrates that Hegel's views were not his alone but reflected the fundamental beliefs of other major figures of Western thought at the time With detailed analysis and thorough research Hegel and the Third World challenges the central idea of Hegel's philosophy of history progress In addition Tibebu succeeds in providing a fascinating critique of the Western philosopher's rationalization of the gradual decline suffered by the people of the Third World in the context of modern world history

Studies in Chinese Philosophy and Philosophical Literature Angus Charles Graham, 1990-01-01 Graham addresses several fundamental problems in classical Chinese philosophy and in the nature and structure of the classical

Chinese language These inquiries and reflections are both broad based and detailed Two sources of continuity bring these seemingly disparate parts into a coherent and intelligible whole First Graham addresses that set of fundamental philosophical questions that have been the focus of dispute in the tradition and that have defined its character What is the nature of human nature What can we through linguistic and philosophical scrutiny discover about the date and composition of some of the major texts What sense can we make of the Kung sun Lung sophistries A second source of coherence is Graham s identification and articulation of those basic and often unconscious presuppositions that ground our own tradition By so doing he enables readers to break free from the limits of their own conceptual universe and to explore in the Chinese experience a profoundly different world view
