Nature Art In Renaissance Literature:

Nature and Art in Renaissance Literature Edward W. Taylor, 1964 Nature and Art in Renaissance Literature Edward W. Taylor, 1966 The Eco-Self in Early Modern English Literature Elizabeth Gruber, 2025-10-01 The Eco Self in Early Modern English Literature tracks an important shift in early modern conceptions of selfhood arguing that the period hosted the birth of a new subset of the human the eco self which melds a deeply introspective turn with an abiding sense of humans' embedment in the world. A confluence of cultural factors produced the relevant changes. Of paramount significance was the rapid spread of literacy in England and across Europe; reading transformed the relationship between self and world, retooled moral reasoning and even altered human anatomy. This book pursues the salutary possibilities including the ecological benefits of this redesigned self by advancing fresh readings of texts by William Shakespeare, Christopher Marlowe, John Webster and Margaret Cavendish. The eco self offers certain refinements to ecological theory by renewing appreciation for the rational deliberative functions that distinguish humans from other species. A New Companion to English Renaissance Literature and Culture Michael Hattaway, 2010-05-10 In this revised and greatly expanded edition of the Companion, 80 scholars come together to offer an original and far-reaching assessment of English Renaissance literature and culture. A new edition of the best-selling Companion to English Renaissance Literature, revised and updated with 22 new essays and 19 new illustrations. Contributions from some 80 scholars including Judith H. Anderson, Patrick Collinson, Alison Findlay, Germaine Greer, Malcolm Jones, Arthur Kinney, James Knowles, Arthur Marotti, Robert Miola, and Greg Walker. Unrivalled in scope and its exploration of unfamiliar literary and cultural territories, the Companion offers new readings of both literary and non-literary texts. Features essays discussing material culture, sectarian writing, the history of the body, theatre both in and outside the playhouses, law, gardens and ecology in early modern England. Orientates the beginning student while providing advanced students and faculty with new directions for their research. All of the essays from the first edition along with the recommendations for further reading have been reworked or updated. Shakespeare and the Natural World* Tom MacFaul, 2015-11-20 Exploring the rich range of meanings that Shakespeare finds in the natural world, this book fuses ecocritical approaches to Renaissance literature with recent thinking about the significance of religion in Shakespeare's plays. MacFaul offers a clear introduction to some of the key problems in Renaissance natural philosophy and their relationship to Reformation theology, with individual chapters focusing on the role of animals in Shakespeare's universe, the representation of rural life and the way in which humans' consumption of natural materials transforms their destinies. These discussions enable powerful new readings of Shakespeare's plays including A Midsummer Night's Dream, As You Like It, King Lear, Macbeth, The Tempest, The Winter's Tale, and the history plays. Proposing that Shakespeare's representation of the relationship between man and nature anticipated that of the Romantics, this volume will interest scholars of Shakespeare studies, Renaissance drama and literature, and ecocritical studies of Shakespeare. Refiguring Woman Marilyn

Miguel, Juliana Schiesari, 1991 Refiguring Woman reassesses the significance of gender in what has been considered the bastion of gender neutral humanist thought the Italian Renaissance It brings together eleven new essays that investigate key topics concerning the hermeneutics and political economy of gender and the relationship between gender and the Renaissance canon Taken together they call into question a host of assumptions about the period revealing the implicit and explicit misogyny underlying many Renaissance social and discursive practices Nature and Imagination in Ancient and Early Modern Roman Art Gabriel Pihás, 2022-07-27 This volume uses the art of Rome to help us understand the radical historical break between the fundamental ancient pre supposition that there is a natural world or cosmos situating human life and the equally fundamental modern emphasis on human imagination and its creative power Rome's unique art history reveals a different side of the battle between ancients and moderns than that usually raised as an issue in the history of science and philosophy The book traces the idea of a cosmos in pre modern art in Rome from the reception of Greek art in the Roman republic to the construction of the Pantheon to early Christian art and architecture It then sketches the disappearance of the presupposition of a cosmos in the High Renaissance and Baroque periods as creativity became a new ideal Through discussions of the art and architecture that defines proto modern Rome from Michelangelo's terribilità in the Sistine Chapel Caravaggio's realism Baroque illusionism the infinities of Borromini's architecture to the Grand Tour's representations of ruins through an interpretation of such major issues and works this book shows how modern art liberates us while leaving us feeling estranged from our grounding in the natural world The book will be of interest to scholars working in art history architectural history classics philosophy and early modern history and culture Natural Space In Literature Tom Henighan, 2013-12-30 Natural Space In Literature Imagination and Environment in Nineteenth and Twentieth Century Fiction and Poetry Shakespeare's Poetics Ekbert Faas, 1986-01-30 This book tackles the topic of how Shakespeare viewed his own craft and creativity Convention, 1500-1750 Lawrence Manley, 1980 A major reinterpretation of the development of European literary theory this wide ranging study offers a new approach to ways of thinking about man's work in general This book is a history of the idea of convention the roles it played in the formative stages of English and Continental literary theory and in the development of modern thought
