Johnson, Lloyd S. Jones, 2013-04-06 Without the support of airlift the modern American military machine would be brought to a standstill Since World War II beginning with the Cold War and continuing up to the present day the U S armed forces have come increasingly to rely upon airlift for mobility The power to rapidly move and thereafter support a military operation anywhere in the world at any time has become a foundational element of American defense policy This work provides the reader with a comprehensive historical survey including technical specifications drawings and photographs of each type of fixed wing aircraft used by U S military forces over a nearly 90 year period to carry out the airlift mission United States Naval Aviation, 1919-1941 E.R. Johnson, 2014-01-10 Within six months of the devastating attack on Pearl Harbor the U S Navy had checked the Japanese military advance in the Pacific to the extent that the United States could return to its original Defeat Germany First strategy That the Navy was able to accomplish this feat with only six fleet aircraft carriers and little more than 1 000 combat aircraft was not sheer luck but the culmination of more than two decades of determined preparation This thorough study with detailed drawings and photographs explains and illustrates the trial and error process which went into developing the aircraft airships and ships of the interwar period The critical factors that shaped Naval Aviation after World War I naval treaties fleet tactics government programs leadership and organization as well as the emergence of Marine Corps and Coast Guard aviation are discussed in depth Naval Aviation News ,1984 Catalog of War Production Board Reporting and Application Forms, as of November 2, 1945 United States. Rielly,2020-01-10 The untold story of ferocious air and naval combat during the WWII Battle of Okinawa drawn from primary sources and survivor interviews This is the story of an overlooked yet significant aerial and naval battle during the American assault on Okinawa in the spring of 1945 While losses to America s main fleet are well recorded less well known is the terrific battle waged on the radar picket line the fleet s outer defense against Japanese marauders Weaving together the experiences of the ships and their crews drawn from ship and aircraft action reports ship logs and personal interviews historian Robin L Reilly recounts one of the most ferocious air and naval battles in history The US fleet and its accompanying airpower was so massive that the Japanese could only rely on suicide attacks to inflict critical damage Of the 206 ships that served on radar picket duty twenty nine percent were sunk or damaged by Japanese air attacks making theirs the most hazardous naval surface duty in World War II The great losses were largely due to relentless kamikaze attacks but also resulted from the improper use of support gunboats failure to establish land based radar at the earliest possible time the assignment of ships ill equipped for picket duty and as time went on crew fatigue US air cover during the battle is also described in full as squadrons dashed from their carriers and land bases to intercept the Japanese swarms resulting in constant melees over the fleet
