Droogleever Fortuijn,2018-07-28 This book presents a geographical survey of the Netherlands reviewing recent and historic developments that made the nation It is a relatively wealthy country and the Dutch belong to the happiest and healthiest on earth But these qualities are not evenly spread over the country The urban agglomeration of Randstad Holland in the west hosts most of the nation s capital and young well educated people whereas older and less educated people are concentrated in the peripheral areas in the north east and south Interactions between physical and human geographical aspects of the Netherlands are described quite extensively Its position on one of Europe s most prominent deltas its abundance of energy resources and the course of history have all contributed to its present national position and international networks But early and recent Dutch have also shaped this country They reclaimed lakes and shallow seas protected the lowlands against floods re allotted land parcels and designed and developed urban areas Besides its focus on water related topics the book also covers social and cultural aspects The book also discusses future challenges and offers scenarios for solutions This is a book for those interested in a wide variety of recent aspects of the geography of the Netherlands described in a historical context It appeals to students and researchers of many disciplines in geography urban and landscape planning water management history and cultural studies

Collaboration in the New Life Sciences John N. Parker,Niki Vermeulen,Bart Penders,2016-05-23 In recent years the organisation and practice of collaboration in the life sciences has undergone radical transformations owing to the advent of big science enterprises newly developed data gathering and storage technologies increasing levels of interdisciplinarity and changing societal expectations for science Collaboration in the New Life Sciences examines the causes and consequences of changing patterns of scientific collaboration in the life sciences This book presents an understanding of how and why collaboration in the life sciences is changing and the effects of these changes on scientific knowledge the work lives and experiences of scientists social policy and society Through a series of thematically arranged chapters it considers the social technical and organizational facets of collaboration addressing not only the rise of new forms of collaboration in the life sciences but also examining recent developments in two broad research areas ecology and environment and the molecular life sciences With an international team of experts presenting case studies and analyses drawn from the US UK Asia and Europe Collaboration in the New Life Sciences will appeal not only to scholars and students of science and technology studies but also to those interested in science and social policy and the sociology of work and organisations

Drones and US Grand Strategy in the Contemporary World Francis N. Okpaleke,2023-12-23 This book makes a compelling case that lethal drone deployment as a counterterrorism tool and instrument of statecraft in targeted states engenders far reaching consequences for US grand strategy By examining how successive US administrations since 9 11 have deployed drones in pursuant of different typologies of US grand strategic objectives the book probes the putative political and strategic goals drones supposedly advance and the impact of its continued proliferation for US for international security The book provides a powerful base of evidence for policy makers and researchers by pointing to the perils of deployment of drone technology beyond their immediate or short term objectives It also explores how non state actors and authoritarian regimes such as armed groups are harnessing armed drone technologies for their own political and military ends as well as the underlying implications for US grand strategy and international security at large

NGOs in Foreign Policy Andreas Werner, 2016 NGOs are seen as important actors of international relations and foreign policy by many scholars However such a perspective has rarely been empirically examined This book therefore takes a look at the access granted to NGOs by the state to the planning and decision making processes in foreign and security policy By applying the theoretical concept of security governance the author takes a look at frameworks such as the German Action Plan Civil Crisis Prevention the Coordination Committee Humanitarian Aid the Dutch PSD Network and the National Action Plan 1325 In conclusion a comparison between Germany and the Netherlands reveals where NGOs can gain more access to foreign security policy It eventually enables the author to argue how big or small the role of these non state actors really is and what consequences this implies for both the empirical and theoretical side of foreign policy Andreas Werner M A studied Political Science International Relations Philosophy as well as Peace and Conflict Studies at the University of Marburg and at the Mount Allison University Canada He successfully defended his PhD thesis at the University of Münster in 2015 He currently works as a research associate at the German Police University
