Nealschuman Electronic Classroom Handbook:

Neal-Schuman Electronic Classroom Handbook Lisa Janicke Hinchliffe, 2001 The Neal Schuman Electronic Classroom Handbook was written for librarians or other professionals who are designing managing or teaching in an electronic classroom Although my perspective is that of an academic librarian the Handbook should also interest public and school librarians offering instruction programs and corporate librarians with training programs as well as administrators classroom designers computing staffs and activities planners Electronic classrooms are increasingly moving from being a luxury to becoming a necessity The Librarian's Facility Management Handbook Carmine J. Trotta, Marcia Trotta, 2001 New technology and aging buildings are making library facility management more complex and difficult than ever before Many librarians have inherited buildings that not only need to be retrofitted for today's technology but also require repair and replacement of basic systems The handbook was written by a Director and a professional facilities manager to provide the practical advice techniques and solutions library managers need to ensure that their facilities can function for their intended purposes Chapters cover planning and evaluating security and safety lighting climate control parking access costs and finances preventive maintenance and repairs record keeping contracts bidding specifications and much more An extensive glossary of terms provides the language needed to communicate with facilities staff and contractors Reference and Information Services Richard E. Bopp, Linda C. Smith, 2011-05-23 Reflecting the dramatic changes shaped by rapidly developing technologies over the past six years this new fourth edition of Reference and Information Services takes the introduction to reference sources and services significantly beyond the content of the first three editions In Part I Concepts and Processes chapters have been revised and updated to reflect new ideas and methods in the provision of reference service in an era when many users have access to the Web In Part II Information Sources and Their Use discussion of each source type has been updated to encompass key resources in print and on the Web where an increasing number of freely available sources join those purchased or licensed by libraries A number of new authors are contributors to this new edition bringing to their chapters their experience as teachers of reference and as practitioners in different types of libraries Discussions of services in Part I integrate digital reference as appropriate to each topic such as how to conduct a reference interview online using instant messaging Boxes interspersed in the text are used to present scenarios for discussion to highlight key concepts or to present excerpts from important documents Discussions of sources in Part II place more emphasis on designing effective search strategies using both print and digital resources The chapter on selection and evaluation of sources addresses the changing nature of reference collections and how to evaluate new types of sources Each chapter concludes with an updated list of additional readings to guide further study A new companion website will provide links to Web accessible readings and resources as well as additional scenarios for discussion and example search strategies to supplement those presented in the text Neal-Schuman Guide to Recommended Children's Books and Media for Use with Every Elementary Subject Kathryn I. Matthew, Joy L. Lowe, 2002 This resource recommends books videos CD ROMs and other materials to infuse literature into skills based science art health math music language arts sports and social studies curricula The materials are listed by subject and specific topics and reflect national curriculum standards in each major subject area Techniques for bringing reading writing and discussion to class work in each subject are recommended A Hardware and Software Primer for Librarians Stephen Paling, 1999 Written with the non Information Technology professional in mind A Hardware and Software Primer for Librarians provides a basic introduction to terminology and concepts The Neal-Schuman Library Technology Companion John J. Burke, 2016-02-19 Informed by a large scale survey of librarians across the spectrum of institution types this guide will be a true technology companion to novices and seasoned LIS professionals alike Directory of Library Automation Software, Systems, and Services Information Today Inc, 2004 Published biennially since 1983 the Directory of Library Automation Software Systems and Services is recognized as the primary reference source for software packages used in automating libraries This entirely new expanded edition provides detailed descriptions of hundreds of currently available microcomputer minicomputer and mainframe software packages and services This new edition contains more comparative information on library applications software than is available from any other source Library Developments , 2001 Library & Information Science Abstracts , 2008

Leonhardt, 2006 Handbook of Electronic and Digital Acquisitions steers librarians through the process of evaluating choosing and managing electronic resources as they expand their collection development policies to include electronic databases This handy how to guide takes a practical approach to acquisitions providing commonsense information on basic copyright laws fair use guidelines and policies offsite and in house databases virtual reference software EDI and vendors The book s contributors draw on their own experiences providing case studies and helpful evaluation checklists worksheets and templates Reference & User Services Quarterly , 2003 Providing Library Services for Distance Education Students Carol F. Goodson, 2001 A practical guide for librarians supporting distance education programmes It describes distance education delivery systems and trends as well as requirements of various regional accrediting associations and guidelines There are also chapters on PR legal and financial issues and more Creating a Successful E-information Service Sheila Pantry, Peter Griffiths, William Oldfield, 2003 To be successful information managers constantly need to reassess the effectiveness of their information services and to ascertain whether they are delivering the services their users actually need. Given that information services can now transcend the restrictions of a particular physical location or specific opening hours, it is more essential than ever to take advantage of the opportunities afforded by new technologies. Through the use of case studies, this resource shows how to revamp an existing service as well as how to create one from scratch. Key issues covered include: Introducing the concept of the e information service; What kind of an information service do you want to provide; Where are the customers; What kind of information do your customers need and in what formats; Who needs to be involved in your plans; Budgeting for your e information service; Keeping in touch with your customers; Keeping one step ahead of your competitors. Also includes an illustrated glossary of sample electronic services and a list of further information sources. Regardless of the type or size of your organization, this reference will help broaden your horizons as well as those of your users.

Teaching Technology D. Scott Brandt, 2002. Answering practical questions on designing training programs for library users, this manual introduces concepts and techniques for creating technology learning courses, sessions, workshops, and modules in libraries. It shows how to gather and analyze information on user needs, how to articulate the mission of the training, how to construct individual training courses, and how to measure their effectiveness. Teaching the use of the Internet and the Web are emphasized. Sample technology training materials and handouts from real programs are included. Brandt is professor of library science and technology training librarian at the Purdue University Libraries. Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc. Portland, OR.

Planning for Integrated Systems and Technologies John M. Cohn, Ann L. Kelsey, Keith Michael Fiels, 2001. Find out what you should and need to know in this practical guide to planning for today's new technological environment, everything from assessing infrastructure to migrating to new systems. This comprehensive guide is intended for medium and small libraries of all types. Whether installing a system in your school for the first time or replacing one, you'll find invaluable information and techniques for assessing, acquiring, using, and maintaining an automated system.

Learning to Lead and Manage Information Literacy Instruction Esther S. Grassian, Joan R. Kaplowitz, 2005. Accompanying CD-ROM includes tables describing various instructional modes, an interactive database to aid in selecting among them, handouts, and more. p. 4 of cover.
