Conceptualizing Germany's Energy Transition Ludger Gailing,Timothy Moss,2016-05-06 This is the first book to explore ways of conceptualizing Germany s ongoing energy transition Although widely acclaimed in policy and research circles worldwide the Energiewende is poorly understood in terms of social science scholarship There is an urgent need to delve beyond descriptive accounts of policy implementation and contestation in order to unpack the deeper issues at play in what has been termed a grand societal transformation The authors approach this in three ways First they select and characterize conceptual approaches suited to interpreting the reordering of institutional arrangements socio material configurations power relations and spatial structures of energy systems in Germany and beyond Second they assess the value of these concepts in describing and explaining energy transitions pinpointing their relative strengths and weaknesses and exploring areas of complementarity and incompatibility Third they illustrate how these concepts can be applied individually and in combination to enrich empirical research of Germany s energy transition

Understanding Events Thomas F. Shipley,Jeffrey M. Zacks,2008-02-25 We effortlessly recognize all sorts of events from simple events like people walking to complex events like leaves blowing in the wind We can also remember and describe these events and in general react appropriately to them for example in avoiding an approaching object Our phenomenal ease interacting with events belies the complexity of the underlying processes we use to deal with them Driven by an interest in these complex processes research on event perception has been growing rapidly Events are the basis of all experience so understanding how humans perceive represent and act on them will have a significant impact on many areas of psychology Unfortunately much of the research on event perception in visual perception motor control linguistics and computer science has progressed without much interaction This volume is the first to bring together computational neurological and psychological research on how humans detect classify remember and act on events The book will provide professional and student researchers with a comprehensive collection of the latest research in these

An Engraved Landscape: Rock carvings in the Wadi al-Ajal, Libya Tertia Barnett, 2023-02-23

An Engraved Landscape is a contextual analysis of a substantial new corpus of engravings from the Wadi al Ajal situated in the Central Saharan region of south west Libya. The wadi is renowned as the heartland of the Garamantian civilization which emerged from local mobile Pastoral communities in the 1st millennium BC and dominated trans Saharan trade and politics for over a thousand years. Extensive archaeological and palaeoenvironmental investigations in recent years have provided detailed insight into the later prehistory and protohistory of the wadi and surrounding areas. However, prior to the fieldwork detailed in this work, only a handful of carvings had been recorded in the wadi. This work is based on systematic survey conducted between 2004 and 2009 which recorded around 2 500 previously unknown or unpublished engraved and inscribed rock surfaces. All forms of engraving, whether figurative or surface markings, were viewed as significant residues of human interaction with the rock surface and were recorded. The resulting database provides an opportunity to analyze the engravings in relation to their changing physical and cultural contexts, and the discussion offers a fresh interpretation of Saharan rock art based on this substantial new evidence. An Engraved Landscape also captures in detail a unique heritage resource that is currently inaccessible and threatened. This record of the fragile engravings provides an important source of information for researchers and students.
