point of view of distinctive population groups such as prisoners and victims women ethnic minorities indigenous peoples and lesbians and gays A key strength is its detailed presentation and analysis of different aspects of rights and its exploration of a variety of analytical perspectives Rights are viewed not in terms of ethical certainty but as the product of social processes and part of shifting terrain which is open to negotiation Including a theoretical critique of existing perspectives Rights offers a diverse and detailed exploration of the contribution sociological thought can make to this increasingly important aspect of social life and is an invaluable aid to students studying in this area

Why Women are Oppressed Anna G. Jónasdóttir, 1994 A feminist of international standing strives toward a theory about the web of relations between the sexes

Daughters Who Care Jane Lewis, Barbara Meredith, 2024-05-10 In the 1980s as the proportion of elderly people in the population grew steadily larger the task of looking after them would fall increasingly on one group daughters The government in promoting its move in social policy towards community care had stated that the family which in practice meant women must expect to provide the bulk of care in the future But how do women feel about this What impact does caring for others have on their own lives How might professional helpers better support them Originally published in 1988 from in depth interviews with daughters who have looked after their mothers for varying numbers of years Jane Lewis and Barbara Meredith look at why it is that women come to care and consider the legacy of their caring experiences Because caring is usually a labour of love the feelings that surround it are complicated and fraught with ambivalence In analysing these Daughters Who Care explores the meaning of caring from the carer's point of view as well as examining the implications for professionals seeking to support the supporters Carers themselves and those working with them professionally or as volunteers as well as students of community care social policies for the elderly and social psychology will all find this a stimulating approach to what is still an increasingly urgent issue

The Politics of Women's Interests Louise Chappell, Lisa Hill, 2006-09-27 This new study reveals how institutional practices and discourses shape the way men and women are conceived of and how through this process gender stereotypes and expectations are created Informed by the latest research and trends these expert authors examine the way in which domestic and global institutions shape and reflect gender interests and the extent to which feminists can challenge gender norms through political institutions They examine regional national and international institutions including the EU ICC and UN and take a broad view of political institutions to include bureaucracy federalism legal structures parliaments voting and electoral institutions and media coverage of women's involvement in such institutions Drawing on experiences in the US UK Australia Canada and New Zealand this book will be of great interest to students and scholars of gender studies political science and comparative politics

Feminist Perspectives on Family Care Nancy R. Hooyman, Judith Gonyea, 1995-08-29 Today women find themselves playing an ever increasing role in caring for older family members who are frail developmentally disabled or suffering from serious mental illness While this role of women as caregivers has been documented the actual impact on the lives of women has remained largely unstudied In this volume the authors examine caregiving as a central feminist issue looking at its impact on women socially personally and economically The authors review how changing family structures the changing economy and workforce and the changing health care demands of needy adults have impacted on women s lives They critique existing public and private policies demonstrating a need for fundamental structural changes in social institutions and attitudes to improve the lives of women Finally they propose a social model of care that is oriented toward gender justice recognition of the work of caring and its impact upon women socially personally and economically For students scholars and practitioners in the field of gerontology gender studies and social work this book is a must      Feminist Foundations Kristen A.

Myers,Cynthia D. Anderson,Barbara J. Risman,1998-03-10 There can be no doubt that feminism and its influence on the academy has wrought enormous changes on the social sciences in general and sociology in particular This edited volume is an outgrowth of a discussion that began on the Sociologists for Women in Society Listserv in which participants were asked to talk about key pieces in feminist scholarship that had particularly influenced their sociological thinking Editors Kristen A Myers Cynthia D Anderson and Barbara J Risman have chosen articles that fall into what they consider the intellectual genres that compose feminist sociology This collection differs from others because the editors avoid organizing material by substantive specialty areas i e family race and ethnicity criminology or methods Their vision instead sees sociology as an integrated discipline where feminist contributions have systematically influenced the shape of the whole by similarly influencing the distinct parts In addition to simply compiling a comprehensive list of important articles from the last two decades the editors have invited major feminist scholars to comment and reflect on the articles in each section of the book These reflections help provide the historical and social context in which feminist scholarship has taken place This book will be of obvious appeal to feminist scholars and gender sociologists Yet as feminist thought rightfully takes its place away from the margins and toward the center of the discipline this book stands as a rich and useful resource for any contemporary theory course      Women and Politics in the Third World Haleh Afshar,2005-07-26 Women and Politics in the Third World is the first comprehensive textbook on women s political activities in the third world It provides a feminist analytical perspective on the specific forms of resistance organisation and negotiation by women in third world states Using case studies the book focuses on difference as a theoretical basis for investigating feminine political activism Though Western analysts have attributed weakness to terms such as motherhood marriage and domesticity as choices made by non Western women the contributors show that such strategies are used by women to pursue particular goals such as seeking resources welfare or freedom from oppression for their children These strategies the book suggests should not be classified as unimportant or temporary and can be highly effective even within such discourses as Islamic fundamentalism The contributors highlight differing political approaches in regions as diverse as Latin America South East Asia China and the Middle East      Love, Power, and Knowledge Hilary Rose,1994 Rose s passionately engaged book develops new terms for thinking about science and feminism She locates the feminist criticism of science as integral to both the feminist movement and the radical science movement She attend to the political economy of the production of knowledge and to what does and does not count as knowledge how women and minorities are affected by these processes is also explored Because biology is destiny is both an old and oppressive claim made by science she examines at length the latest and massively resourced claimant the Human Genome program the so called Holy Grail of the new industrialized genetics Rose s commitment to feminist resistance against the science and technology of oppression leads her to explore feminist science fiction as an ally of feminist science critics with its imaginative capacity to explore different futures with different sciences and technologies

Gender, Sexuality and Violence in Organizations Jeff Hearn, Wendy Parkin, 2001-07-05 This exceptionally interesting study provides an up to date and integrated perspective on organizations violence gender and sexuality It pays particular attention to the power wielded by hierarchies of heterosexual men and the ways in which this produces violence in different carefully analyzed forms This book is a major contribution to the construction of sociological and political knowledge that is not founded on the dominant definitions of heterosexual masculinities Professor Terrell Carver University of Bristol This is a wide ranging and authoritative book The authors draw attention to the huge amount of evidence now available that documents the gendering and sexualising processes at the core of organisational life While they never nag about violation and inequality they are nonetheless relentless in confronting the reader with the weight of evidence Professor Rosemary Pringle University of Southampton This book brings together the themes of gender sexuality violence and organizations The authors synthesize the literature and research which has been done in these fields and provide a coherent framework for understanding the interrelationship between these concepts The importance of violence and abuse and particularly men s violence to women children and other men has been well established especially through feminist and some pro feminist research The insights of this scholarship have rarely been applied to organizational analysis The authors draw on this literature and their own research as well as relevant literatures on safety and risk at work anxiety and stress at work organizational policies on violence sexual harassment and bullying in organizations and male sexuality to provide valuable information on violence in and around organizations Gender Sexuality and Violence in Organizations breaks new ground in organization studies and will be essential reading for academics and students in both organization studies and all those studying issues of gender and sexuality in organizations

Theorising Modernity Martin O'Brien, Sue Penna, Colin Hay, 2014-07-10 What is modernity Do we all experience modernity in the same way How should we understand contemporary social change This volume explores questions of modernity through critical engagements with the work of Anthony Giddens focusing in particular on the relationships between his social theory and political sociology Three substantive areas reflexivity environment and identity are examined theoretically through the relationships between reflexivity and rationality life politics and institutional power and universalism and difference As well as specifically addressing Giddens reconstruction of sociology the contributors also explore a wide variety of critical issues currently occupying centre stage in social theory These include questions about the character of contemporary societies the periodisation of social change the processes of change by which societies are constantly made and remade by people the relationships between the social and the natural the formation and maintenance of identities and matters of epistemology and methodology in social science Theorising Modernity will be of interest to undergraduate and postgraduate students of sociology modern political thought social geography and social policy and to social scientists trying to make sense of the modernity debate Martin O'Brien is Research at the University of Derby Sue Penna is a Lecturer in Applied Social Science at Lancaster University Colin Hay is a Lecturer in the Department of Political Science and International Studies at the University of Birmingham UK a Visiting Fellow of the Department of Political Science at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology US and Research Affiliate of the Centre for European Studies at Harvard University US

Power in Caring Professions Richard Hugman, 1991-08-16 The issue of power is central in the analysis of the development and contemporary structures of nursing the remedial therapies and social work Both the idea of caring and the concept of professionalism are integral to the problems of power Using material from the UK and the USA this book examines the growth of these professions and asks a critical perspective of their present organisation highlighting race gender and relationships with service users as central to such an analysis

Women in the Face of Change Annie Phizacklea, Hilary Pilkington, Shirin Rai, 2013-10-08 The years 1989 and 1990 will probably be best remembered for the speed and breadth of political and economic change which swept through what used to be referred to as the Communist Bloc With the disintegration of this bloc there has been no shortage of western advice on how to democratize economy and polity in these societies However little thought has been given to what this change means for the millions of women who have toiled for decades alongside men in the factories and fields as well as performing their womanly mission in the home This collection from women in Eastern and Western Europe and covering both Europe and China poses many questions about the impact of change It contributes to the debate that seeks to combat inertia and ethnocentrism within western feminism and also to the separate and the critical women's voice which is re-emerging in the Soviet Union Eastern Europe and China

Fortunes of Feminism Nancy Fraser, 2013-10-01 Nancy Fraser's major new book traces the feminist movement's evolution since the 1970s and anticipates a new radical and egalitarian phase of feminist thought and action During the ferment of the New Left Second Wave feminism emerged as a struggle for women's liberation and took its place alongside other radical movements that were questioning core features of capitalist society But feminism's subsequent immersion in identity politics coincided with a decline in its utopian energies and the rise of neoliberalism Now foreseeing a revival in the movement Fraser argues for a reinvigorated feminist radicalism able to address the global economic crisis Feminism can be a force working in concert with other egalitarian movements in the struggle to bring the economy under democratic control while building on the visionary potential of the earlier waves of women's liberation This powerful new account is set to become a landmark of feminist thought
