Women Patrons and Collectors Andrea M. Gáldy, 2011-10-18 In looking at the history of collecting one may be excused for regarding it as an activity in which traditionally women have shown little interest or in which they have not been involved As the present volume shows women particularly aristocratic women not only resisted this discrimination through the ages but also built important collections and used them to their own advantage in order to make statements about their lineage power cultural heritage or religious preferences That is not to say that there was not an increasing number of middle class women who became draughtswomen painters and natural scientists and who found it equally beneficial for their chosen profession to collect. In every case the female collector chose to collect and what to collect she chose how and where to present the collection and she also decided when to dispose of objects thereby occasionally taking on a curatorial role. Women have been seen as gatherers of furnishings, jewellery, dress and objects of domestic life. This third volume in the Collecting series thus seeks to give a voice to a group of important female collectors from the sixteenth to the early nineteenth century whose importance for the history of collecting has not yet or not sufficiently been acknowledged. William Etty Leonard Robinson, 2007. The historical and cultural backdrop for Etty's life and works is studied throughout the book. Chapters detail his studies in Italy and France, his career as a painter, his work with the York School of Design in the final decade of his life, his place in the fine arts market and his emulators are described. Provided by publisher. The Shadow Drawing Francesca Fiorani, 2020-11-17. Insightful and beautiful. A wonderful study of how Leonardo's art and science are interwoven. Walter Isaacson, author of Leonardo Da Vinci. A New York Times Book Review Editors' Choice. Shortly after Leonardo da Vinci's death, his peers and rivals created the myth of the two Leonardos: there was Leonardo the artist and then later in life, Leonardo the scientist. In this pathbreaking biographical interpretation, the art historian Francesca Fiorani tells a very different and much more interesting story. Taking a fresh look at Leonardo's celebrated but challenging notebooks and other sources, Fiorani shows that Leonardo became fluent in science when he was still young. As an apprentice in a Florence studio, he was especially interested in the science of optics. He aspired to use this knowledge to capture, as no artist before him had ever done, the interior lives of his subjects, to paint the human soul in its smallest tenderest motions and vicissitudes. And then he hoped to take one further step: to gather his scientific knowledge together in a book that would be even more important than his paintings. In The Shadow Drawing, Fiorani revises our understanding of Leonardo the artist's most renowned paintings and reconstructs the wisdom Leonardo the author hoped to impart. The result is both a stirring biography and a bold reconsideration of how the Renaissance understood science and art and of what was lost when the two were sundered. Fiorani's lively intellectual adventure gives us new understanding and appreciation of Leonardo's cross-fertilization of art and science. It is a perceptive biography of Leonardo exploring the frontiers of science but also a brilliantly informative guide to his paintings. Ross King, author of Brunelleschi's Dome, Leonardo and the Last Supper, and Mad Enchantment. Artful Armies, Beautiful Battles Pia F. Cuneo, 2021-12-28. Warfare and the circumstances surrounding it have often provided important impulses for cultural production. This book explores the relationship between warfare and image making in the early modern period. Rather than dealing with images simply as reproductions of actual events, the volume demonstrates complex processes by which political, national and social identities are negotiated and fashioned in warfare imagery. The book analyses three main issues: the impact of war on art, the ways in which warfare imagery supports dominant ideologies and the manner in which such imagery also constructs alternative identities. The essays offer a broad range of methodologies while dealing with a wide array of chronological geographical and artistic materials Historians and art historians will find this volume particularly useful in its nuanced examination of the relationship between art and history

Mary, Mother of God Barbara Haeger, Elliott Wise, James Clifton, 2023-12-28 By clothing the Word with her flesh the Virgin Mary made God visible manifesting Christ as a perfect image of the Father By virtue of this archetypal artistry of Incarnation Mary mediates the tradition of Christian image making This volume explores images of the Mother of God in early modern devotion piety and power The book is divided into four sections the first three of which link the subjects thematically and geographically in Europe while the last one follows Mary's legacy Contributors include Elliott D Wise Anna Dlabáková James Clifton Kim Butler Wingfield Barbara Baert Steven Ostrow Barbara Haeger Shelley Perlove Cristina Cruz González and Mehreen Chida Razvi

Baronial Patronage of Music in Early Modern Rome Valerio Morucci, 2018-04-19 This is the first dedicated study of the musical patronage of Roman baronial families in the sixteenth and early seventeenth centuries Patronage the support of a person or institution and their work by a patron in Renaissance society was the basis of a complex network of familial and political relationships between clients and patrons whose ideas values and norms of behavior were shared with the collective Bringing to light new archival documentation this book examines the intricate network of patronage interrelationships in Rome Unlike other Italian cities where political control was monocentric and exercised by single rulers sources of patronage in Rome comprised a multiplicity of courts and potential patrons which included the pope high prelates nobles and foreign diplomats Morucci uses archival records and the correspondence of the Orsini and Colonna families in particular to investigate the local activity and circulation of musicians and the cultivation of music within the broader civic network of Roman aristocratic families over the period The author also shows that the familial union of the Medici and Orsini families established a bidirectional network for artistic exchange outside of the Eternal City and that the Orsini Colonna circle represented a musical bridge between Naples Rome and Florence

The Grand Theater of the World Valeria De Lucca, Christine Jeanneret, 2019-09-03 Music and space in the early modern world shaped each other in profound ways and this is particularly apparent when considering Rome a city that defined itself as the grande teatro del mondo The aim of this book is to consider music and space as fundamental elements in the performance of identity in early modern Rome Rome's unique milieu as defined by spiritual and political power as well as diplomacy and competition between aristocratic families offers an exceptionally wide array of musical spaces and practices to be explored from an interdisciplinary perspective Space is viewed as the theatrical backdrop against which to study a variety of musical practices in their functions as signifiers of social and political meanings The editors wish to go beyond the traditional distinction between music theatrical spectacles namely opera and other musical genres and practices to offer a more comprehensive perspective on the ways in which not only dramatic but also instrumental music and even the sounds of voices and objects in the streets relied on the theatrical dimension of space for their effectiveness in conveying social and political messages While most chapters deal with musical performances some focus on specific aspects of the Roman soundscape or are even intentionally silent dealing with visual arts and architecture in their performative and theatrical aspects The latter offer a perspective that creates a visual counterpoint to the ways in which music and sound shaped space Malleable Anatomies Lucia Dacome, 2017 An account of the practice of anatomical modelling in mid eighteenth century Italy showing how anatomical models became an authoritative source of medical knowledge but also informed social cultural and political developments at the crossroads of medical learning religious ritual antiquarian and artistic cultures and Grand Tour spectacle Toward a Geography of Art Thomas DaCosta Kaufmann, 2004-03-14 Art history traditionally classifies works of art by country as well as period but often political borders and cultural boundaries are highly complex and fluid Questions of identity policy and exchange make it difficult to determine the place of art and often the art itself results from these conflicts of geography and culture Addressing an important approach to art history Thomas DaCosta Kaufmann's book offers essays that focus on the intricacies of accounting for the geographical dimension of art history during the early modern period in Europe Latin America and Asia Toward a Geography of Art presents a historical overview of these complexities debates contemporary concerns and completes its exploration with a diverse collection of case studies Employing the author's expertise in a variety of fields the book delves into critical issues such as transculturation of indigenous traditions mestizaje the artistic metropolis artistic diffusion transfer circulation subversion and center and periphery What results is a foundational study that establishes the geography of art as a subject and forces us to reconsider assumptions about the place of art that underlie the longstanding narratives of art history Faces of Community in Central European Towns Katerina Hornícková, 2018-09-15 Concepts of visual communication form an explanatory framework for discussing the visual expressions of urban symbolic communication in urban life in towns in the center of Europe in the late medieval and early modern period including the dramatic times of the Reformation and Counter Reformation This book examines the role of images and visual representation by concentrating on the varieties of symbolic communication in towns that made a range of relationships visual the status and role of urban civic professional and religious communities and the relations between the town and its lord or powerful families and individuals The geographical framework of this book is the region in the former Habsburg countries north of the Danube River embracing the region between western Bohemia and what is today eastern Slovakia including the borderland towns of northern Austria Two studies focus on specific local and occupational communities in the Prague towns but most of the texts in this book focus on small towns by contemporary European standards in which many forms of urban topography buildings objects and monuments survive even though few written sources have been preserved Accessing a wide range of literature in regional languages and German for English speakers this collection describes typical urban landscapes in early modern Central Europe outside the well known Central European urban centers and traditional areas of study The book is a relevant new contribution to medieval and early modern studies

not only covering an underappreciated geographical area but also addressing general questions about the history of rituals and performance as well as visual culture communication and identity discourses in late medieval and early modern urban space

Civilizing Rituals Carol Duncan, 2005-06-20 Illustrated with over fifty photos Civilizing Rituals merges contemporary debates with lively discussion and explores central issues involved in the making and displaying of art as industry and how it is presented to the community Carol Duncan looks at how nations institutions and private individuals present art and how art museums are shaped by cultural social and political determinants Civilizing Rituals is ideal reading for students of art history and museum studies and professionals in the field will also find much of interest here

Poussin's Paintings David Carrier, 1993

Grasping the World Donald Preziosi, Claire Farago, 2019-07-23 First published in 2004 this volume recognises that there is much more to museums than the documenting monumentalizing or theme parking of identity history and heritage This landmark anthology aims to make strange the very existence of museums and to plot a critical historical and ethical understanding of their origins and history A radical selection of key texts introduces the reader to the intense investigation of the modern European idea of the museum that has taken place over the last fifty years Texts first published in journals and books are brought together in one volume with up to the minute and specially commissioned pieces by leading administrators curators and art historians The selections are organized by key themes that map the evolution of the debate and introduced by Donald Preziosi and Claire Farago two considerable critics who write with the edge and enthusiasm of art historians who have spent their lives working with museums Grasping the World is an invaluable resource for students and teachers of art history and museum studies

Painting as Business in Early Seventeenth-century Rome Patrizia Cavazzini, 2008 Painting as Business in Early Seventeenth Century Rome offers a new perspective on the world of painting in Rome at the beginning of the Baroque from both an artistic and a socioeconomic point of view Biased by the accounts of seventeenth century biographers who were often academic painters concerned about elevating the status of their profession art historians have long believed that in Italy and in Rome in particular paintings were largely produced by major artists working on commission for the most important patrons of the time Patrizia Cavazzini's extensive archival research reveals a substantially different situation Cavazzini presents lively and colorful accounts of Roman artists daily lives and apprenticeships and investigates the vast popular art market that served the aesthetic devotional and economic needs of artisans and professionals and of the laboring class Painting as Business reconstructs the complex universe of painters collectors and merchants and irrevocably alters our understanding of the production collecting and merchandising of painting during a key period in Italian art history
