Patterns Of Derivational Affixation In The Cabraniego Dialect Of East Central Asturian:

Diachronic Studies in Lexicology, Affixation, Phonology Yakov Malkiel, 1992-01-01 The ten articles collected in this volume are an impressive indication of the range and depth of Malkiel's knowledge of diachronic processes in the Romance languages. In the author's experience etymological studies of lexis frequently lead one into the areas of phonology and morphology and the title of the book reflects these interrelationships. The volume opens with a previously unpublished paper which centers around the history of English. The other papers deal with topics from the Romance languages in general and from Old French and Spanish in particular. The author has added a Retrospect in which all articles are discussed once more in the light of recent developments. An Index of Names and an exhaustive Index of Key Concepts round off the volume.

Bibliography of Morphology, 1960-1985, 1988-01-01 Rather than an attempt at an exhaustive bibliography of morphology, this is a collection of major and selected minor works of theoretical interest in the broadest sense. The area of morphology represented here exhaustively is contemporary generative theoretical morphology interpreted broadly enough to include theoretically interesting structuralist works, works aimed at explaining deep motivations of morphology or pertinent to contemporary theoretical morphology. Selected descriptive works have been included as well; it is not at all simple to draw a line between descriptive works of theoretical interest and fundamentally theoretical works, and in addition we hope to provide entry points into a variety of languages for morphologists seeking language-specific evidence for general hypotheses.
