relationships partner choice divorce and fertility behaviour      Low Fertility, Institutions, and their Policies Ronald R. Rindfuss, Minja Kim Choe, 2016-06-16 This volume examines ten economically advanced countries in Europe and Asia that have experienced different levels of fertility decline It offers readers a cross country perspective on the causes and consequences of low birth rates and the different policy responses to this worrying trend The countries examined are not only diverse geographically historically and culturally but also have different policies and institutions in place They include six very low fertility countries Austria Czech Republic Hungary Italy Spain and Taiwan and four that have close to replacement level fertility United Kingdom Norway Canada and France Although fertility has gone down in all these countries over the past 50 years the chapters examine the institutional policy and cultural factors that have led some countries to have much lower fertility rates than others In addition the final chapter provides a cross country comparison of individual perceptions about obstacles to fertility based on survey data and government support for families This broad overview along with a general introduction helps put the specific country papers in context As birth rates continue to decline there is increasing concern about the fate of social welfare systems including healthcare and programs for the elderly This book will help readers to better understand the root causes of such problems with its insightful discussion on how a country's institutions policies and culture shape fertility trends and levels      Demographic Research Volume 19 Book 5 Joshua R.
