The Impact of Legislatures Philip Norton, 2020-09-10 The Impact of Legislatures brings together key articles and path breaking scholarship published in The Journal of Legislative Studies during its first 25 years of publication enabling the reader to make sense of the impact of legislatures in the modern world Encompassing theory comparative analysis and county based empirical studies the volume examines the impact of legislatures as the key representative institutions of nations addressing their relationships both to government and to the people Legislatures are ubiquitous They provide legitimacy to measures of public policy and to government As such they are key to how a nation is governed But they do much more than confer legitimacy They are generally multi functional and functionally adaptable bodies and are an essential link between citizen and government However scholarship on them has not been extensive and has often been descriptive and country specific limiting the capacity to make sense of them as a particular species of institution The chapters in this volume reflect scholarship that helps the reader appreciate the significance of the place and consequences of legislatures examining not only the relationship between the legislature and the executive but also the oft neglected relationship between legislatures and the people Reflecting the growing body of research in the field of legislative studies carried by The Journal of Legislative Studies since its inception in 1995 The Impact of Legislatures is essential reading for anyone wishing to understand the impact of legislatures in the world today Parliaments and Legislative Activity Martin Brunner, 2012-10-10 Martin Brunner aims at solving the puzzle of why opposition parties or government backbenchers propose legislation even though the chance to influence policy outcomes in this manner is almost nil He argues that instead of influencing policies directly most parliamentary bills serve different purposes They are used in order to signal own policy positions and to show alternatives to government policies Or they point at topics that rank high on the public agenda but low on the government agenda They can also be a means for individual Members of Parliament to build up an independent personal profile Using formal models and comparative empirical evidence from Belgium France Germany and the United Kingdom the author shows that parliamentary initiatives of opposition and backbenchers are not simply much ado about nothing but the result of vote seeking motivations

Parliamentary Committees in the Policy Process Sven T. Siefken, Hilmar Rommetvedt, 2021-08-19 This book sheds new light on the often shadowy but essential role of committees which exist in modern parliaments around the globe and it questions the conventional notion that the real work of parliament happens in committees Renowned country specialists take a close look at what goes on in committees and how it matters for policy making While committees are seen as the central place where policy is made they often hold their sessions closed to the public and calls for transparency are growing To understand this black box it is necessary to look within but also beyond the walls of the committee rooms and parliament buildings Bringing together formal and informal aspects rules and practices shows that committees are not a paradise of policy making They have great relevance nonetheless as crystallization points in the policy networks as drivers for division of labor and for socialization and the integration of MPs The new insights presented in this book will be of interest to scholars students and professionals in parliamentary affairs legislative studies government and comparative politics They are also relevant for political analysts journalists and policymakers Patterns of Parliamentary Behavior Herbert Döring, Mark Hallerberg, 2004 This volume begins where the first D ring book of 1995 finished by considering what effects the rules had on legislative output during the same period Fundamental to this volume is the ability of the project group to fashion an original data set As a
