Paul's Glory Christology Tradition And Rhetoric Supplements To Novum Testamentum:

Paul's Glory-Christology Carey C. Newman, 2014-04-09 In 1927 C. A. A. Scott while commenting on the apostle Paul's Christology remarked that the history of the word Glory in the Bible has yet to be written. By using methodology developed in semantics, semiotics, and more generally literary theory, Newman examines the origin and rhetoric of Paul's Glory Christology. The investigation involves three distinct tasks: 1 to plot the tradition history of Glory which formed part of Paul's linguistic world; 2 to examine Paul's letter in light of the reconstructed tradition history of Glory in order to discern the rationale of Paul's identification of Christ as Glory; and 3 to map out the implications of such an identification for Paul's theological and rhetorical strategy. On the basis of this study, four conclusions are reached for understanding Paul. First, Paul inherited a symbolic universe with signs already full of signification. Second, knowing the diachronically acquired connotative range of a surface symbol, e.g. Glory, aids in discerning Paul's precise contingent strategy. Third, knowing the surface symbol's referential power defines and contributes to the deeper structure of Paul's theological grammar. Finally, the heuristic power within the construals of the Glory tradition coalesce in Paul's Christophany and thus provide coherence at the deepest level of Paul's Christology.

Supplements to Novum Testamentum Charles H. Talbert, 2003 Wesleyan Perspectives on Human Flourishing Dean G. Smith, Rob A. Fringer, 2021-11-12 Human flourishing is an ever-expanding concept that crosses geographic, ethnic, cultural, and religious lines as persons both individually and corporately seek to find happiness, fulfillment, and purpose. This book brings together well-established and burgeoning Wesleyan scholars to consider not only John and Charles Wesley's understanding of human flourishing but the broader Wesleyan perspectives on contemporary issues such as calling, creation, care, healthcare, education, technological enhancements, death, and dying. Throughout these chapters, the complexities and challenges of life both past and present are explored and grappled with, and we are reminded over and over again that God is the ultimate source of flourishing.

The God of the Gospel of John Marianne Meye Thompson, 2001-10-09 While there are numerous studies of God in the Old Testament, the concept of God has largely been ignored as a subject of inquiry in contemporary New Testament theology. As this superb work by Marianne Meye Thompson shows, however, an understanding of the identity of God is central to the New Testament, particularly to the Gospel of John. Thompson here offers the first comprehensive study of the concept of God in John's Gospel. She shows that one must first grasp the importance of God to John before one can properly appreciate the Gospel's Christology and overarching message. By arguing that John is rightly understood to be a theocentric work, Thompson challenges the prevailing theory that John is primarily concerned with Christology. While Thompson uses traditional historical and exegetical approaches to the New Testament and ancient sources, her study is mainly theological in scope. She asks how John portrays God and how, after reading the Gospel, we ought to speak of the identity of God Unlike many recent studies of John this one does not try to reconstruct the history behind the text but rather tries to fully illumine the theological content of John s message A seminal study with lasting implications for New Testament theology The God of the Gospel of John will become a standard text for students of the New Testament Paul and the New Perspective Seyoon Kim,2001-11-08 Understanding Paul and his conversion to Christianity is imperative for a thorough knowledge of the New Testament In Paul and the New Perspective Seyoon Kim develops his argument that the origin of Paul s gospel lies in two places his radical conversion at Damascus and his usage of the Jesus tradition in light of Damascus This new way of looking at Paul further explains how Paul made strong distinctions between the Spirit and the flesh law with further implications for his doctrine of justification A departure from the New Perspective School represented by James D G Dunn Kim s Paul and the New Perspective offers a thorough and extensive argument for the foundation of the gospel that Paul spread in the first century The Spirit and Relational Anthropology in Paul Samuel D. Ferguson,2020-08-28 La 4e de couverture indique For the Apostle Paul humans do not identify and act on their own but are constituted in part by relationships Samuel D Ferguson shows that according to Paul the work of the Holy Spirit further attests to this as Christians realize their new life through Spirit created relationships of sonship and communal interdependence Union with Christ in the New Testament Grant Macaskill,2013-11-07 This book is a study of the union between God and those he has redeemed as it is represented in the New Testament In conversation with historical and systematic theology Grant Macaskill argues that the union between God and his people is consistently represented by the New Testament authors as covenantal with the participation of believers in the life of God specifically mediated by Jesus the covenant Messiah hence it involves union with Christ Christ s mediation of divine presence is grounded in the ontology of the Incarnation the real divinity and real humanity of his person and by the full divine personhood of the Holy Spirit who unites believers to him in faith His personal narrative of death and resurrection is understood in relation to the covenant by which God s dealings with humanity are ordered In their union with him believers are transformed both morally and noetically so that the union has an epistemic dimension strongly affirmed by the theological tradition but sometimes confused by scholars with Platonism This account is developed in close engagement with the New Testament texts read against Jewish backgrounds and allowed to inform one another as context As a participatory understanding of New Testament soteriology it is advanced in distinction to other participatory approaches that are here considered to be deficient particularly the so called apocalyptic approach that is popular in Pauline scholarship and those attempts to read New Testament soteriology in terms of theosis elements of which are nevertheless affirmed Second Corinthians and Paul's Gospel of Human Mortality Richard I. Deibert,2017-01-30 How does Paul s bodily mortality both collapse his apostolic authority in Corinth and yet confirm his gospel Richard I Deibert explores the vital relationship between Paul s experience of death and his theology of death Back cover Johannine Perspectives on the Death of Jesus Martinus Christianus Boer,1996 How do the Gospel and Epistles of John depict the death of Jesus and why do they do so in the way that they do The argument of this study is that there is a diversity of theological perspectives on Jesus death in the Johannine Corpus and that at least some of that diversity can be elucidated with reference to the changing Sitze im Leben of the Johannine community This book thus attempts to correlate Johannine theology with Johannine history building on the earlier labors of Raymond E Brown and J Louis Martyn in particular Part One assesses recent trends in Johannine scholarship and gives a fresh account of the history of Johannine Christianity and of its literary legacy Part Two then investigates Jesus death in the Gospel and Epistles of John attempting to understand and to explain the diversity of Johannine theological perspectives with reference to historical developments and sociological realities Focal point of discussion and analysis are Johannine passages which relate Jesus death to the fulfillment of Scripture e g John 12 37 39 19 24 36 37 to his departure or going away e g 14 2 3 to his exaltation and glorification e g 3 14 8 28 12 32 34 13 31 and to the language of flesh blood and water John 6 51 56 13 1 20 19 34 I John 1 7 4 2 5 6 8 2 John 7

The Colossian and Ephesian Haustafeln in Theological Context James P. Hering, 2007 In this groundbreaking study James P Hering investigates the theological and ethical motivation that informs the controversial New Testament household codes Haustafeln found in the epistles to the Colossians 3 18 4 1 and Ephesians 5 22 6 9 Within most New Testament scholarship the household code has been regarded as an imported element within its host letter reflecting either pagan or embarrassingly sub Christian values Is the household code merely a nod to the pragmatic demands of culture or can it be understood as a reflection of the author's theological concerns What can it teach us today Hering provides a unique analysis of these passages revealing the Haustafeln in their historical context and examining their theological roots This book is of vital importance for courses on Christian ethics and New Testament backgrounds

Lewis, 2025-10-07 An exploration of Paul's role as a pastoral theologian in the early church Through a close exegetical reading of Paul's letters this volume shows how Paul prioritized moral formation and community building in his pastoral ministry and placed the practice of communal discernment in churches at the heart of life in the Spirit Applying these fundamental insights for today's churches Lewis reclaims Paul's primary pastoral emphasis on moral discernment and community building showing how this practice can be used in a variety of local church communities Ideal for scholars and clergy interested in applying Paul's pastoral theology to real contexts the volume includes practical examples and strategies for engaging in a vibrant practice of spiritual discernment today Glory in Romans and the Unified Purpose of God in Redemptive History Donald L. Berry, 2016-02-19 Eschatological glory is a significant motif in Romans that has failed to garner the attention it deserves Donald Berry argues that glory lies at the heart of Paul's redemptive historical framework and is an integral part of the gospel Paul proclaims in Romans For Paul eschatological glory is the realization of God's purpose for Adam and for Israel to see and to show forth the glory of God This divine purpose finds fulfillment in Christ and in the new humanity he creates those who now have hope of the glory of God Rom 5:2 Paul's letter to the Romans provides stunning glimpses into the nature of this eschatological glory and the hope that believers have in Christ Through careful and compelling exegesis Berry brings to light Paul's conception of glory and its place at the center of God's purposes in redemptive history While providing crucial insights into Romans this study also contributes more broadly to Pauline theology and to the field of biblical theology It highlights Paul's understanding of a unified divine purpose that runs through creation and redemption God's desire to display his nature and character in all of creation through image bearers who share in and reflect his glory Cornerstone Biblical Commentary: 1 Corinthians William Baker, Ralph Martin, Carl N Toney, 2009 The Cornerstone Biblical Commentary series 18 volumes provides students pastors and laypeople with up to date accessible evangelical scholarship on the Old and New Testaments Presenting the message for each passage as well as an overview of other issues relevant to the text each volume equips pastors and Christian leaders with exegetical and theological knowledge so they can better understand and apply God's Word This volume includes the entire NLT text of 1st and 2nd Corinthians Ideal for the NLT reader who wants to do more in depth study William R Baker Ph D University of Aberdeen is professor of New Testament at Cincinnati Bible Seminary in Cincinnati Ohio He is the general editor of Stone Campbell Journal and the author and editor of several books and articles including Evangelicalism and the Stone Campbell Movement and Sticks and Stones The Biblical Ethics of Talk He has also written a commentary on 2 Corinthians for the College Press NIV Commentary Series Ralph P Martin Ph D University of London is in his fifth decade as a teacher scholar and mentor He is Distinguished Scholar in Residence at Fuller Theological Seminary at

Fully Alive Jason A. Fout, 2015-03-12 Numerous contemporary theologians depict divine glory as overwhelming to or competitive with human agency In effect this makes humanity a threat to God's glory and causes God's glory to remain opaque to human enquiry and foreign to human life Karl Barth and Hans Urs von Balthasar have avoided this tendency instead depicting God's glory as enabling people to participate in glorifying God Nevertheless both accounts fall short of their initial promise by giving one dimensional accounts of human obedience to God within largely conventional divine command accounts of ethics The form of human obedience they present as compatible with divine glory does not actively overwhelm the human but rather brackets out her agency as inappropriate in the face of divine revelation or command And so ironically on these accounts God's glory remains opaque to human enquiry and foreign to human life This study builds a case for seeing divine glory as intrinsically relational creating a sociality which allows for a human agency transfigured by God's glory Moving beyond Barth and von Balthasar this work turns to theological exegesis of Scripture to construct an alternative account of divine glory This glory is worked out in the act of glorifying first in God then in divine glorifying of humans creating a responsive human glorifying of God and finally in processes of honouring or glorifying among humans Divine glory is shown to be consistent with a responsive and creative human obedience to God and shown to constitute human agency which is creaturely and dependent yet not overwhelmed
