Researching Education Data Methods And Theory In Educational Enquiry:

Researching Education David Scott, Robin Usher, 2010-12-16 This book examines the philosophical historical political and social contexts of research and the implications of these for the collection and analysis of data Researching Education David Scott, 2003

Researching Education David Scott, Robin Usher, 1999 This volume is a study of the theory and practice of researching education It examines the philosophical historical political and social contexts of researching and the implications of these for the collection and analysis of data The authors argue that power is ever present in the construction of research texts and this is inevitable as research imposes a closure of the world through representation and thus is always involved with and implicated in the operation of power

Researching Education David Scott, Robin Usher, 2010-07-15 This volume is a study of the theory and practice of researching education It examines the philosophical historical political and social contexts of researching and the implications of these for the collection and analysis of data The authors argue that power is ever present in the construction of research texts and this is inevitable as research imposes a closure of the world through representation and thus is always involved with and implicated in the operation of power The book addresses such fundamental questions as What is legitimate knowledge What is the relationship between the collection and analysis of data and How does the researcher's presence in the field affect his or her data Divided into three sections the book reviews the philosophy of research the strategies and methods of research and the issues involved in research The authors present the reader with a balance of theory and practice providing case studies examples and tables to support and illustrate their arguments

Carter,Howard Stevenson,2009-12-30 All phases of education from pre school to post compulsory in virtually all parts of the world have experienced unprecedented reform and restructuring in recent years Restructuring has largely been driven by a global agenda that has promoted the development of human capital as the key to economic competitiveness in the global market This book adopts an inter disciplinary approach drawing not only on education research but also from the fields of industrial sociology management studies and labour process theory to locate the reform agenda within a wider picture relating to teachers their professional identities and their experience of work In doing so the book draws on critical perspectives that seek to challenge orthodox policy discourses relating to remodelling Illustrating of how education policy is shaped by discourses within the wider socio political environment and how unionization and inter organizational bargaining between unions exerts a decisive but often ignored influence on policy development at both a State and institutional level this book is a must read for anyone researching or studying employment relations Adult Interactive Style Intervention and Participatory Research Designs in Autism Lila Kossyvaki,2017-09-13

Regardless of their cognitive and linguistic abilities people with autism can often find it difficult to develop basic communicative skills that are necessary to gain full control over their environment and maintain their independence Building on the author s own cutting edge research Adult Interactive Style Intervention and Participatory Research Designs in Autism examines the impact that the interactive style of neurotypical individuals could have on the spontaneous communication of children with autism This book provides clear and detailed guidance on how to conduct research into autism in real world settings such as schools and homes Kossyvaki critically evaluates a wealth of relevant case studies and focuses on a number of methodological issues that researchers are likely to face when carrying out research of this complex nature The author walks the reader through present literature on the importance of spontaneous communication and the atypical way that this tends to develop in autism before bringing the results of her own research to bear on the question of how the interactive styles of neurotypical individuals can impact on the spontaneous communication of people with autism Adult Interactive Style Intervention and Participatory Research Designs in Autism is essential reading for academics researchers and postgraduate students in the fields of special educational needs inclusion autism research methods and educational and clinical psychology What Shall We Tell the Children? Stuart J.

Foster,Keith A. Crawford,2006-04-01 The pages of this book illustrate that as instruments of socialization and sites of ideological discourse textbooks are powerful artefacts in introducing young people to a specific historical cultural and socioeconomic order Crucially exploring the social construction of school textbooks and the messages they impart provides an important context from within which to critically investigate the dynamics underlying the cultural politics of education and the social movements that form it and which are formed by it The school curriculum is essentially the knowledge system of a society incorporating its values and its dominant ideology The curriculum is not our knowledge born of a broad hegemonic consensus rather it is a battleground in which cultural authority and the right to define what is labelled legitimate knowledge is fought over As each chapter in this book illustrates curriculum as theory and practice has never been and can never be divorced from the ethical economic political and cultural conflicts of society which impact so deeply upon it We cannot escape the clear implication that questions about what knowledge is of most worth and about how it should be organized and taught are problematic contentious and very serious

Research Methods for Early Childhood Education Rosie Flewitt, Lynn Ang, 2020-01-23 Research Methods for Early Childhood Education takes an international perspective on research design and illustrates how research methods are inextricably linked to cultural and theoretical understandings of early childhood young children s competences and the purposes of education The book offers a critical and reflective approach to established and innovative research methods in early childhood education making links between diverse methodologies methods and theory with illustrative examples of research in practice Each chapter addresses a specific methodological approach linking the methodology to early childhood education with vignettes as examples of research practice in the global north south east and west offering practical examples and critical thinking around new theoretical understandings of early childhood across geographical and cultural contexts The book critically examines the role of the researcher conceptualisations of how research is undertaken the often sensitive nature of conducting research with young children how early childhood education is understood how young children can be included as active research participants Throughout the book emphasises ethical and methodological issues that arise from undertaking research in mono cultural and cross cultural contexts Annotated further reading lists provide a selection of seminal and recent studies that have adopted each methodological approach

Paradigm Shift of Education Governance in China Yan

Wang,2019-10-16 The book addresses the paradigm shift in education governance in China through a study of two legislation episodes in China the 1986 Compulsory Education Law and the 2006 Compulsory Education Law Amendment The research began with two broad questions how was the Compulsory Education Law made and amended Why was it made and amended Using ethnographic interviews and documentary analysis as the main research methods more specific questions on both legislative processes were delved into as the research evolved What were the driving forces behind the 1986 and 2006 legislation What values of compulsory education were assumed in their central decisions What was the institutional rationale underpinning them Data was collected through ethnographic interviews with key informants involved in the policymaking process The research findings were analyzed and presented on the basis of narration analysis The policymaking process of the legislation was then analyzed from three paradigms agenda setting decision making and organizational behavior Finally by examining the results of the previous stages of analysis and further comparing the two cases the research arrived at a theoretical framework for education governance that embraces three essential elements political ideology perceived value of education and institutional rationale A thorough analysis of the two legislative processes identified that the political ideology which shifted from efficiency oriented economic well being to equity oriented social cohesion steered the agenda setting of the compulsory education legislation The perceived value of education reflects the role that education plays in development changing from economic value to social value The institutional rationale essentially determines strategies by which compulsory education materializes with a variance from governing by goal and mobilization to governing by accountability and regulation In conclusion education governance in China witnessed a paradigm shift from economic instrumentalism to social rationalism between mid 1980s and 2006

Women Curriculum Theorists Sandra Leaton Gray,David Scott,2023-04-21

Most published bodies of work relating to curriculum theory focus exclusively or almost exclusively on the contributions of men This is not representative of influences on educational practices as a whole and it is certainly not representative of educational theory generally as women have played a significant role in framing the theory and practice of education in the past Their contribution is at least equal to that of men even though it may not immediately appear as visible on library shelves or lecture lists This book addresses this egregious deficit by asking readers to engage in an intellectual conversation about the nature of women s curriculum theory as well as its impact on society and thought in general It does this by examining the work of twelve women curriculum theorists Maxine Greene Susan Haack Julia Kristeva Martha Nussbaum Nel Noddings Jane Roland Martin Marie Battiste Dorothea Beale Susan Isaacs Maria Montessori Mary Warnock and Lucy Diggs Slowe The book is not an encyclopaedia nor is it a history book It aims to bring to the reader s attention through a semantic rendition of the world those seminal relationships that exist between the three meta concepts that are addressed in the work feminism learning and curriculum It will appeal to scholars and researchers with interests in curriculum and the philosophy and sociology of education
