Researching Life Stories Method Theory And Analyses In A Biographical Age:

Researching Life Stories Dan Goodley, 2004-04-29 It has long been argued that an age of biography is upon us certainly the life story now has a well recognised role as a key resource in social research This book is the first to offer a comprehensive and practical guide to carrying out Using Biographical Methods in Social Research Barbara Merrill, Linden West, 2009-05-18 Using Biographical Methods in Social Research provides an informative comprehensive accessible and practical guide to the nature and use of biographical methods combining a consideration of theoretical issues with practical guidance as well as reflections on the personal experience of doing research Barbara Merrill and Linden West consider important questions about who and what research is for and what makes it valid alongside the practical business of interviewing transcribing analyzing and writing up of biographical data The authors draw on their sociological and psychological orientations to provide a truly interdisciplinary approach to the subject and provide numerous examples of biographical research across the social sciences This book will equip students with all the skills necessary to undertake biographical research as well as to fully understand what they are doing and the assumptions they make about the nature of truth knowledge story telling and being human It will be useful for students and researchers using biographical methods in a range of disciplines including sociology social policy social psychology health care and education Empowering Young

People in Disempowering Times Hans-Uwe Otto, Valerie Egdell, Jean-Michel Bonvin, Roland Atzmüller, 2017-12-29 Following the 2008 economic crisis the situation for young people deteriorated dramatically in many European countries Employment and training opportunities have reduced and levels of poverty and social exclusion have increased This book evaluates both institutional frameworks and programmes as well as the quantitative and qualitative basis of judgements in European youth policies that dominate current strategies This book evaluates both institutional frameworks and programmes as well as the quantitative and qualitative basis of judgements in European youth policies From Formal to Non-Formal Polona Kelava, Igor Ž. Žagar, 2014-06-19 The monograph From Formal to Non Formal Education Learning and Knowledge presents a review of selected aspects of non formal education and learning and is written by Ant nio Fragoso Petra Javrh Polona Kelava Taja Kramberger Nives Li en Marko Radovan Drago B Rotar Klara Skubic Ermenc Tadej Vidmar Igor agar Tihomir iljak and Sabina nidar i agar These authors are all anthropologists sociologists philosophers political scientists education scientists and historians of education As such the subject covered is a broad one and reaches into fields that at first glance appear to be very distant from each other It is precisely this diversity of approaches that offers the best promise of new findings regarding non formal learning education and knowledge and that represents a fruitful basis for further reflection on these topics The monograph thus offers answers to some starting points for reflection on the increasingly varied dimensions and possibilities of formal non formal and informal knowledge and learning Liquid Criminology Michael Hviid Jacobsen, Sandra Walklate, 2016-06-17 This book explores the ways in which criminological methods can be imaginatively deployed and developed in a world increasingly characterized by the blurred nature of social reality Whilst recognizing the importance of positivist approaches and research techniques it advocates a commitment to understanding the ways in which those techniques can be used imaginatively at times in combination with less conventional methods discussing the questions concerning risk ethics and access that arise as a result Giving voice to cutting edge research practices both in terms of concepts and methods that shift the criminological focus towards the kind of imaginative work that comprised the foundations of the discipline it calls into question the utility and credentials of mainstream work that fails to serve the discipline itself or the policy questions allied to it A call not to give up on numbers but also not to be defined by statistics and the methods that produce them Liquid Criminology sheds light on a way of doing research for criminology that is not only creative but also critical As such it will appeal to scholars of sociology criminology and social policy with interests in research methods and design

Autoethnography in Early Childhood Education and Care Elizabeth Henderson, 2017-10-16 Autoethnography in Early Childhood Education and Care both embraces and explores autoethnography as a methodology in early childhood settings subsequently broadening discourses within education research through a series of troubling narratives It breaks new ground for researchers seeking to use non conventional practices in early years research Drawing together research and literature from several disciplines this unique book challenges the perception of what it means to be an early years practitioner powerful and compelling narratives from the author's first hand experiences offer both a creative and scholarly insight into the issues faced by those working in early childhood settings This text offers insight into working with autoethnography its purpose and methodological tensions provides professionals engaged in caring relational approaches with a series of vignettes for training and further reflection encourages a wider debate and discussion of core values at a critical time in early years practice and other caring professions skilfully and sensitively illustrates how to adopt a creative research imagination This book is a valuable read for researchers postgraduate students and other professionals working in early childhood education and care seeking to give expression to their voices through creative methodologies such as autoethnography in qualitative research

Purpose, Process and Future Direction of Disability Research Simoni Symeonidou, Karen Beauchamp-Pryor, 2013-11-19 Purpose Process and Future Direction of Disability Research brings together the collective experience of an international network of early career researchers who set out to discuss the complexity of researching disability As newcomers to the research process the researchers detail their apprehensions about embarking on doctoral research together with the struggles they experienced along the way and importantly the motivation that drove them to complete their projects Contributors present an open and honest reflection on their research experience Interests motives and values which underpinned the direction of their research projects are explored questioning whether their beliefs were subsequently challenged changed or validated Research decisions were driven by a range and combination of personal experience of disability and professional experience of working with disabled people The influence of personal and professional approaches within research is addressed along with subsequent dilemmas Ideological battles are detailed which include the place of the social model of disability in research and the oppressive nature of doing disability research The researchers identify and examine their experience throughout the process of analysis writing up and presenting data and question how far their data resulted in confusions or conclusions Contributors explore their moral and political position as researchers and the potential influence on the validity of their findings Issues about dissemination and the impact of their findings are also considered Future research aims and challenges are identified with each contributor critically questioning the unfinished business that their research has involved Essential reading recommended for students and supervisors engaged in disability studies and inclusive education

Imagination for Inclusion Derek Bland, 2016-02-12 Imagination for Inclusion offers a reconsideration of the ways in which imagination engages and empowers learners across the education spectrum from primary to adult levels and in all subject areas Imagination as a natural expedient and exciting learning tool should be central to any approach to developing and implementing curriculum but is increasingly undervalued as learners progress through the education system this disregards not only imagination s potential but its paramount place in informing truly inclusive approaches to teaching and learning This book presents a new theory of imagination and includes discussion about its application to teaching and learning to increase the engagement of disaffected students and reinvigorate their relationships with curriculum content Chapters include key ideas and discussion surrounding the benefits of introducing imaginative practices into the classroom for learners from a range of marginalised backgrounds

such as young people with disabilities and adult learners from socio economically disadvantaged environments In exploring imagination in the practice of inclusive education the book includes chapters from researchers and practitioners in education who have fresh ideas about how learners and teachers have benefited from introducing imaginative pedagogies The diverse collection featuring writers with backgrounds from early childhood to adult education will be essential reading for academics and researchers in the fields of education inclusive education social policy professional development teacher education and creativity It will be of particular interest to current and pre service teachers who want to develop inclusive practice and increase the engagement of all students with formal education

Learning Trajectories, Violence and Empowerment amongst Adult Basic Skills Learners Vicky Duckworth, 2013-11-20

Learning Trajectories Violence and Empowerment amongst Adult Basic Skills Learners offers deep insights into the lives of marginalised communities and the link between learning literacy and violence not previously carried out in depth in a small scale study It breaks the negative stereo types of adults who struggle to read and write who are often labelled and stigmatised by dominant discourses and in doing so exposes why and how Basic Skills Learners often find themselves in marginal positions The structural inequalities many face from childhood to adulthood across the private and public domains of their lives are revealed and probed thus challenging neo liberalism claims of an apparently egalitarian social field The learners narratives expose the contradiction complexities and ambivalences they experience in their daily lives and how they try to make sense of them from their structural positioning as basic skills learners in a society based on inequality of opportunity and choice Applying a feminist qualitative longitudinal ethnographic and participatory approach the book offers a critical perspective drawing on Bourdieu s work as the theoretical framework as well as using a range of feminist sociologists of education literature on the ethics of care and critical literacy pedagogy including the New Literacy Studies The author s personal position as an insider with insider knowledge of marginalised communities is also woven throughout the chapters and offers insights into the struggles conformity and resistance faced by the participants in the study The book contributes to the debate on the impact of violence on learning and its link to class gender and basic skills as well opening up a discussion on the power of a critical curriculum to empower people across the domains of their lives It will be valuable reading for trainee teachers teachers education and sociology students postgraduate students as well as literacy specialists researchers academics policy makers and managers of public services

Characteristics of Compassion: Portraits of Exemplary Physicians Helen Meldrum, 2009-04-08

The healthcare system has turned the art and science of healing into big business and many doctors can no longer devote the greater part of their working hours directly to patient care faced as they are with reams of insurance and legal related paperwork the constant threat of malpractice and a burgeoning patient population Despite this some physicians still enter the profession with deeply held convictions hopes and idealism and go on to excel not just as medical doctors but as human beings

Characteristics of Compassion Portraits of Exemplary Physicians is book that profiles the recipients American Medical Association Foundation Pride in the Professions Award It gives insight into what sets these outstanding doctors apart from their peers to inspire medical professionals and their patients It provides first hand insights and identifies a rich description of traits motivations shared by today s leading physicians Disability and social change Shah, Sonali,Priestley,

Mark,2011-03-23 Combining critical policy analysis with biographical accounts this book provides a socio historical account of the changing treatment of disabled people in Britain from the 1940s to the present day It asks whether life has really changed for disabled people and shows the value of using biographical methods in new and critical ways to examine social and historical change over time Inhabiting Borders, Routes Home Ala Sirriyeh,2016-05-23 In recent years there has been growing interest in the experiences of young people seeking asylum in Europe While the significance of the role of age is recognized both youth transitions and trajectories beyond the age of eighteen are still largely unexplored the role and impact of mobility predominantly centering on experiences of movement from country of origin to country of settlement Inhabiting Borders Routes Home contends that in considering migration and settlement experiences of young refugees it is also important to consider the role of their mobility through age and transitions in the country of settlement Based on narrative research with young refugees this book explores how migration journeys are intertwined with life course journeys and transitions into adulthood shedding light on the manner in which gender intersects with age in experiences of migration and settlement with close attention to the processes by which home is understood and constructed Through the concept of home the book draws together and reflects on interconnections between integration in areas such as education or housing and experiences of social networks Examining experiences of the asylum process and the manner in which they are interwoven within a wider narrative of home both within and beyond Inhabiting Borders Routes Home will be of interest to social scientists working in the areas of migration asylum intersectionality and the life course Families Raising Disabled
