Handbook of Research on Resident and Tourist Perspectives on Travel Destinations Pinto, Patrícia, Guerreiro, Manuela, 2020-06-19 Tourism is an economic and social phenomenon that is centered on a tourist's experience and is dependent on the experiences that are co-created and provided to tourists. Tourism destination managers must understand what tourists perceive as engaging, intense and memorable in order to remain successful. However, care must also be given to the residents' perception of local tourism development and how it impacts their community. This is a fundamental aspect for tourism development since host communities that support tourism development tend to be more hospitable with tourists, which influences their satisfaction and loyalty. Moreover, the interaction with residents of host communities is a crucial component of the quality of the tourist experience contributing to the long-term success and sustainability of destinations. The Handbook of Research on Resident and Tourist Perspectives on Travel Destinations is a collection of innovative research that examines travel destinations from the resident and tourist perspectives in order to better support and inform the tourism development process and to make the destinations attractive to visitors while at the same time contributing to resident quality of life and happiness. While highlighting topics including sustainable development, hotel management and customer satisfaction, this book is ideally designed for government officials, tour developers, travel agencies, brand managers, advertising agencies, restaurateurs, public administrators, hotel managers, tourist industry professionals, academicians, researchers and students.

Brebbia, A. Galiano-Garrigos, 2016-12-28 Including papers presented at the 11th International Conference on Urban Regeneration and Sustainability held in Alicante, Spain, this book addresses the multidisciplinary aspects of urban planning as a result of the increasing size of cities, the amount of resources and services required and the complexity of modern society. Most of the earth's population live in cities and the process of urbanisation continues generating problems originating from the drift of the population towards them. These problems can be resolved by cities becoming efficient habitats saving resources in a way that improves the standard of living. The process faces a number of challenges related to reducing pollution, improving main transportation and infrastructure systems and these challenges can contribute to the development of social and economic imbalances and require the development of new solutions. Large cities are probably the most complex mechanisms to manage; nevertheless, they represent a productive ground for architects, engineers, city planners, social and political scientists able to conceive new ideas and time them according to technological advances and human requirements The papers in this book cover such topics as Appropriate technologies for smart cities Architectural issues Case studies sustainable practices Cultural quarters and interventions Disaster and emergency response Eco town planning Environmental management Landscape planning and design Planning for resilience Quality of life Socio economic and political considerations Pedestrians behaviour in different situation of traffic modelling and safety Sustainable urban regeneration and public space City and beach Sustainability and the built environment Sustainable energy and the city The community and the city Transportation Urban conservation and regeneration Urban development and management Urban infrastructure Urban metabolism Urban planning and design Urban safety and security Urban strategies Waterfront development

Tourism in Iran Siamak Seyfi, C. Michael Hall, 2018-10-11 Iran has long been regarded as an international pariah state in some parts of the international community However its negative image in many countries disguises its history of tourism and rich cultural and natural heritage Following the July 2015 nuclear deal and the reduction in sanctions Iran is focusing on international tourism as a means to generate economic growth in addition to its substantial domestic tourism market Given the significance of tourism in the Middle East and in international politics as well as restrictions on international mobility this volume brings together the first contemporary collection of research on tourism in Iran Written by experts based both within and outside of Iran the chapters engage with a number of crucial issues including the importance of religion the role of women in society sustaining Iran s cultural heritage Iran s image and the resistive economy to provide a benchmark assessment of tourism and its potential future in a troubled political environment The book will undoubtedly be of interest not only to those readers who focus specifically on Iran but also those who seek a wider understanding of Iran s role in the region and how tourism is utilised as part of national and regional economic development policies
