Resisting Mcdonaldization:

Resisting McDonaldization Barry Smart, 1999-04-16 George Ritzer's McDonaldization thesis argued that contemporary life is succumbing to the standardization flexibility and practicability of fast food service This book brings together specially commissioned papers by leading social and cultural analysts to engage in a critical appraisal of the thesis The contributors discuss the roots of the thesis the rationalization of late modern life the effects of increasing cultural commodification the continuing prominence of American cultural and economic imperialism and the impact of globalization on social and cultural life The strengths and weaknesses of the McDonaldization thesis are clearly evaluated and the irrational consequences of rationalization are pinpointed and critically developed The book enlarges our understanding of how everyday life is structured by new standards of bureaucratic control and performance related criteria and plays a major role in illuminating how identity and practice are structured today The volume concludes with a response from George Ritzer Resisting

McDonaldization Barry Smart, 1999-04-28 George Ritzer's McDonaldization thesis argued that contemporary life is succumbing to the standardization flexibility and practicability of fast food service This book brings together specially commissioned papers by leading social and cultural analysts to engage in a critical appraisal of the thesis The contributors discuss the roots of the thesis the rationalization of late modern life the effects of increasing cultural commodification the continuing prominence of American cultural and economic imperialism and the impact of globalization on social and cultural life The strengths and weaknesses of the McDonaldization thesis are clearly evaluated and the irrational consequences of rationalization are pinpointed and critically The Social Science Jargon Buster Zina O'Leary, 2007-09-17 Are you confused by academic jargon Do you know your discourse from your dialectic Can you tell the difference between anomie and alienation The Social Science Jargon Buster tackles the most confusing concepts in the social sciences breaking each down and bringing impressive clarity and insight to even the most complex terms This book successfully addresses the central task for any teacher of social theory how to make the material accessible without making it simplistic and banal The overall effect is a most effective text that hard pressed students and lecturers will grab with both hands Dave Harris Senior Lecturer in Social Science This practical down to earth dictionary will help students new to social science discourse gain a thorough understanding of the key terms Each entry includes a concise core definition a more detailed explanation and an introduction to the associated debates and controversies In addition students will find a useful outline of the practical application of each term as well as a list of key figures and recommendations for further reading This dictionary brings a refreshing clarity to social science discourse making it essential reading for all students on undergraduate social science courses The Empire of Mind Michael Strangelove, 2005-12-15 Where many critics see the Internet as an instrument of corporate hegemony Michael Strangelove sees something else an alternative space inhabited by communities dedicated to anarchic freedom culture jamming alternative journalism and resistance to authoritarian forms of consumer capitalism and globalization In The Empire of Mind Dr Strangelove the scholar Canadian Business referred to as the acknowledged dean of Internet entrepreneurs and Wired called the Canadian guru of Internet advertising presents the compelling argument that the Internet and new digital communication technology actually undermine the power of capital producing an alternative symbolic economy Strangelove contends that the Internet breaks with the capitalist logic of commodification and that while television produces a passive consumer audience Internet audiences are more active creative and subversive Writers activists and artists on the Internet undermine commercial media and its management of consumer behaviour a behaviour that is challenged by the Web's tendency toward the disintegration of intellectual property rights Case studies describe the invention of new meaning given to cultural and consumer icons like Barbie and McDonald's and explore how novel modes of online news production alter the representation of the world as it is produced by the mainstream corporate press In the course of exploring new media The Empire of Mind also makes apparent that digital piracy will not be eliminated The Internet community effectively converts private property into public thereby presenting serious obstacles for the management of consumer behaviour and significantly eroding brand value Much to the dismay of the corporate sector online communities are disinterested in the ethics of private property In fact the entire philosophical framework on which capitalism is based is threatened by these alternative means of cultural production

New Forms of Consumption Mark Gottdiener, 2000 Consumption as a field of cultural studies overlaps with theories of postmodernism the social construction of self commodification in late capitalism and the role of mass media in daily life New forms of consumption such as those facilitated by cyberspace themed environments the commodification of sex and the increasing role of leisure in society all play new and interesting roles in daily life that combine consumerism with the most contemporary social forms This collection of essays examines the recent ways in which consumerism has been approached by cultural studies with special emphasis given to these and other newly emerging topics The book is divided into three parts The first part provides a theoretical overview of consumption studies dealing with classical and more contemporary approaches in light of the debate between advocates and critics of postmodernism In this section there are papers on McDonaldization tourism and cultural studies and the Theory of Shopping The second part emphasizes empirical studies of the commodification process Papers address the transformation of women's bodies and the mass commodification of milk the creation of the toddler as a subject and the commodification of childhood the commodification of sports and the commodification of rock music The third section of the book explores new forms of consumption on a more detailed and concentrated level Papers in this section include the rise of sex tourism as a global industry the commodification of the sacred and the emergence of new consumer spaces in the city An introduction by the editor delineates the advantages of his approach to new forms of consumption based squarely in the emerging issues of cultural studies debates transcending postmodernism and the society of the spectacle

Explorations in the Sociology of Consumption George Ritzer, 2001-04-11 In this book one of the leading social theorists and cultural commentators of modern times turns his gaze on consumption George Ritzer author of the famous McDonaldization Thesis demonstrates the irrational consequences of the rational desire to consume and commodify He examines how McDonaldization might be resisted and situates the reader in the new cultural spaces that are emerging in society shopping malls casino hotels Disneyfied theme parks and Las Vegas the new cathedrals of consumption as he calls them The book shows how new processes of consumption relate to globalization theory In illuminating discussions of the work of Thorstein Veblen and the French situationists Ritzer unearths the roots of problems of consumption in older sociological traditions He indicates how transgression is bound up with consumption through an investigation of the obscene in popular and postmodern culture

Geographies of Commodity Chains Alex Hughes,Suzanne Reimer,2004-07-31 Broad geographical coverage including case studies from North American European and developing studies contexts Timely in view of increased popular and policy interest in the international origins of the commodities we buy and the often hidden environmental and social impacts of their production All chapters make an explicit and clear contribution to theorisations of the commodity chain Covers a wide range of products including food flowers home furnishings and clothing Made from Scratch Jean Zimmerman,2012-11-13 A stunning celebration and reappraisal of the importance of women s work Made from Scratch addresses the tug that many Americans feel between our professional and private lives In this stunning celebration and reappraisal of the importance of women s work acclaimed journalist Jean Zimmerman poignantly addresses the tug that many Americans of the twenty first century feel between our professional and private lives With sharp wit and intelligence she offers evidence that in the current domestic vacuum we still long for a richer home life a paradox visible in the Martha Stewart phenomenon in the continuing popularity of women s service magazines such as Better Homes and Gardens Family Circle and Ladies Home Journal whose combined circulation of over 17 million is nearly twice the combined circulation of Time Newsweek and U S News World Report and the booming business of restorations where onlookers get a hands on view of domestic life as it flourished in past centuries This book is about the ways home traditions passed from one generation to the next baking a birthday cake from scratch cherishing family heirlooms or discovering the satisfaction of piecing a quilt sustain our souls especially in our ever more processed synthetic world where we buy homemade goods and fail to see the irony in that Made from Scratch tells the story of the unsung heroines of the hearth investigating the history of female domesticity and charting its cultural changes over centuries Zimmerman traces the lives of her own family's homemakers from her tiny but indomitable grandmother who managed a farm strangled chickens with her bare hands and sewed all the family clothing to her mother who rejected her country upbringing yet kept a fastidious suburban home where the gender divide stayed firmly in place to her own experiences as a wife and mother weaned on the Women's Movement of the 1970s with its emphatic view that housework was a dirty word and that the domestic sphere was to be fled rather than cherished In this book Zimmerman questions the unexamined trade off we have made in a shockingly brief time span as we've progressed from home raised chickens to frozen TV dinners to McNuggets from the food court at the mall What is lost when we no longer engage as individuals and as a community in the ancient rituals of food craft and shelter

Critical Representations of Work and Organization in Popular Culture Carl Rhodes, Robert Westwood, 2007-12-21 This book challenges traditional organizational theory looking to representations of work and organizations within popular culture and the ways in which these institutions have also been conceptualized and critiqued there Through a series of essays Rhodes and Westwood examine popular culture as a compelling and critical arena in which the complex and contradictory relations that people have with the organizations in which they work are played out By articulating the knowledge in popular culture with that in theory they provide new avenues for understanding work organizations as the dominant institutions in contemporary society Rhodes and Westwood provide a critical review of how organizations are represented in various examples of contemporary popular culture The book demonstrates how popular culture can be read as an embodiment of knowledge about organizations often more compelling than those common to theory and explores the critical potential of such knowledge and the way in which popular culture can reflect on the spirit of resistance carnivalisation and rebellion

Subjectivity, the Unconscious and Consumerism Marlon Xavier, 2018-09-17 Subjectivity the Unconscious and Consumerism is a unique and imaginative psycho sociological exploration of how postmodern contemporary consumerism invades and colonises human subjectivity Investigating especially consumerism's unconscious aspects such as desires imagination and fantasy it engages with an extensive analysis of dreams The author frames these using a synthesis of Jungian psychology and the social imaginaries of Baudrillard and Bauman in a dialogue with the theories of McDonaldization and Disneyization The aim is to broaden our understanding of consumerism to include the perennial consumption of symbols and signs of identity a process which is the basis for the fabrication of the commodified self The book offers a profound innovative critique of our consumption societies challenging readers to rethink how we live and how our identities are impacted by consumerism As such it will be of interest to students and scholars of critical psychology psychoanalysis sociology anthropology and cultural studies but is also accessible to anyone interested in the complex psychology of contemporary subjectivity
