Respiratory Tract Mucus Ciba Foundation Symposium New Ser 54:

Respiratory Tract Mucus Ruth Porter, John Rivers, Maeve O'Connor, 2009-09-16 The Novartis Foundation Series is a popular collection of the proceedings from Novartis Foundation Symposia in which groups of leading scientists from a range of topics across biology chemistry and medicine assembled to present papers and discuss results The Novartis Foundation originally known as the Ciba Foundation is well known to scientists and clinicians around the world RESPIRATORY TRACT MUCUS- PROCEEDINGS- CIBA FOUNDATION SYMPOSIUM 54 (NEW SERIES). , Airway Mucus: Basic Mechanisms and Clinical Perspectives D.F. Rogers, Michael Lethem, 1997-09-23 Conceptually unsavoury airway mucus is vital to homeostasis in the respiratory tract In contrast when abnormal mucus contributes significantly to the pathophysiology of a number of severe bronchial diseases including asthma chronic bronchitis and cystic fibrosis This volume provides wide ranging and in depth coverage of the scientific and clinical aspects of airway mucus It commences with introductory chapters which address the biochemical and molecular biological basis of airway mucus and continues with comprehensive coverage of the various physiological and rheological aspects of respiratory secretions The clinical aspects of the topic are then considered with chapters discussing the involvement of mucus secretions in bacterial infection and in hypersecretory diseases of the airway The volume concludes with a discussion of the therapeutic aspects of the topic both in terms of the possible approaches to the treatment of mucus hypersecretion and the interaction of these drugs with airway mucus Written by leading experts in the field each contribution provides a comprehensive review of its particular subject Reflecting the latest advances in this important area of respiratory research this volume will be of great interest to scientists and clinicians working in the field of airway secretions and related areas Mucus in Health and Disease—II Eric Chantler, 2012-12-06 This second International Symposium on Mucus in Health and Disease once again brings together basic scientists such as Biochemists Anatomists Biologists and Clinicians who are dealing with aspects of mucus in the various tracts of the body where it is of such great functional importance It is fitting that the meeting should take place at Manchester University where there is so much activity in this field and our grateful thanks are due to Or Eric Chantler for his untiring efforts in organising this meeting At the first Mucus meeting Sir Francis Avery Jones stated this is a subject which will justify further Symposia both local and international As he predicted this meeting succeeds the first and adds further to our progress in understanding the complex and unique structure and function of the mucus secretion in its various sites of the body Much was learned from the first meeting and it is hoped that the second will be an appropriate successor to it The emphasis in this meeting has been to encourage discussion and the presentation of research material In this respect review articles have been kept to a minimum The structure of the Conference has been organised around eight keynote addresses one on the biosyn thesis of the general mucus glycoproteins and another on its physical properties Other keynote papers are on the biochemical and clinical aspects of mucus in the respiratory gastrointestinal and urogenital tracts by recognised authorities in these subjects Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.),1979 Includes subject section name section and 1968 1970 technical reports The Lung in Its Environment G. Bonsignore,2012-12-06 This volume documents the proceedings of a symposium on Lung in its Environment held at the Ettore Majorana Center for Scientific Culture in Erice Sicily between 16th June and 21st June 1980 This was attended by about 200 participants drawn from Europe as a whole but the majority were from Southern Europe The discussion was recorded either in English or Italian and the tapes were reduced to a verbatim typescript by the Ente Nazionale Interpreti Congresso The verbatim typescript has been edited using a few guiding principles as follows 1 Titles and honorifics have been eliminated unless the statement is addressed to a specific person 2 The style of the speakers in the discussion has been preserved as far as possible and not reduced to a strictly grammatical format 3 Where references to illustrations e g on the blackboard are made the comments have been left unaltered and many are understandable Removing them detracted from the sense 4 The air of informality in the proceedings has been preserved so far as possible 5 The responsibility for the discussion rests solely with the editors and no contributor has had the opportunity of correcting what he said 6 No manuscript was received from two participants but the discussion of their presentations has been included since it contains some points of substance 7 Airways Smooth Muscle: Development, and Regulation of Contractility David Raeburn,Mark A. Giembycz,2013-03-08 Most studies on autonomic innervation of smooth muscle have focused on the short term mechanisms involved in neurotransmission in physiological and pathophysiological conditions However recent observations of the long term plasticity of this system i e its capacity for regeneration and for compensatory change in pattern of innervation and expression of cotransmitters and receptors in ageing following surgery trauma or in disease have indicated that an understanding of the mechanisms involved could influence the design of therapeutic regimes There is increasing evidence for long term communication between nerves and smooth muscle cells during development and throughout adult life To date the trophic interactions between nerves and airway musculature have attracted little interest consequently much of the information presented here is drawn from studies using other smooth muscles However the questions posed about trophic interactions during development apply as much to airways smooth muscle neuroeffector systems as to other autonomic neuroeffector systems These are i How do developing nerve fibres know where to go and how do they reach their target sites ii What determines the density and pattern of innervation at reaching the effector iii How do the nerves survive and maintain their position once established iv What factors influence neurochemical differentiation such that genetically multipotential neurones are triggered to synthesize one or combinations of neurotransmitters v What influence do nerves have on the structure function and receptor expression of their effector cells vi How do diseases interrupt these processes see 1 Monographic Series Library of Congress,

Cellular Biology of the Lung C. Cummings,Gordon Cumming,G. Bonsignore,2013-03-09 This volume records the proceedings at the Fifth School of Thoracic Medicine held at the Ettore Majorana School of International Scientific Culture in March 1981 Foregathered there were a heterogeneous group comprising clinicians pathologists ultra microscopists biochemists immunologists cellular biologists and physiologists and they presented the twenty seven papers seen in the contents list The discussion which followed each paper was faithfully recorded and where necessary translated and may be found after each author s presentation This free discussion is perhaps the most valuable part of the School of Thoracic Medicine and most clearly defines the present boundaries of knowledge and the directions in which enquiry is being pursued The collaboration of many people made the production of this book possible for the translation and the discussion typescript Miss Guiliana de Ferio for the final typing and layout Miss Corinne Wade ably assisted by Miss Karen Wadey and Miss Kim Lekstrom The illustrations have been dealt with where necessary by Mr John Griffiths and the production of the book was done at The Midhurst Medical Research Institute prior to its delivery to Plenum Press
