Aging, Immunity, and Infection Joseph F. Albright, Julia W. Albright, 2003-06-16 The preparation of Aging Immunity and Infection has been a labor of labor When we began there existed a huge literature but manageable we thought given our years of experience in the area often referred to as immunogerontology However in the time that we have been at work the new relevant literature has increased at a prodigious rate The more we read and tried to assimilate the farther we fell behind In order to have any hope of completing a book on this rapidly evolving topic we have been forced to become increasingly selective in covering new and recent publications We dare to hope that many readers will find the book useful and only a few will dwell on the inevitable inadequacies We consider the book a work in progress and welcome suggestions for future editions Five chapters cover several aspects of infection and the decline of immunity with age The first chapter Human Aging Present and Future is devoted to demographics and theories of senescence Chapter 2 outlines the gradual breakdown of resistance to infection in the aged individual Chapters 3 and 4 cover changes in innate and acquired immunity The final chapter Nutrition Longevity and Integrity of the Immune System discusses such provocative ideas as life span extension and nutritional intervention for the delay of immunosenescence
