Restoration and History Marcus Hall,2010-02-01 Once a forest has been destroyed should one plant a new forest to emulate the old or else plant designer forests to satisfy our immediate needs Should we aim to re create forests or simply create them How does the past shed light on our environmental efforts and how does the present influence our environmental goals Can we predict the future of restoration This book explores how a consideration of time and history can improve the practice of restoration There is a past of restoration as well as past assumptions about restoration and such assumptions have political and social implications Governments around the world are willing to spend billions on restoration projects in the Everglades along the Rhine River in the South China Sea without acknowledging that former generations have already wrestled with repairing damaged ecosystems that there have been many kinds of former ecosystems and that there are many former ways of understanding such systems This book aims to put the dimension of time back into our understanding of environmental efforts Historic ecosystems can serve as models for our restorative efforts if we can just describe such ecosystems What conditions should be brought back and do such conditions represent new natures or better pasts A collective answer is given in these pages and it is not a unified answer

Preserving Historic New England James M. Lindgren, 1995-11-09 By the first years of the twentieth century the memory of old time New England was in danger What had once been a land of small towns populated by tradition minded Yankees was now becoming almost unrecognizable with a floodtide of immigrants and the constant change of a modernizing society At the same time cities such as Boston Portsmouth and Salem were bursting at the seams with factories high rises and uncontrollable growth During a period when the Colonial Revival and progressive movements held sway Yankees asserted their influence through campaigns to redefine the meaning of their Anglo American forebears As part of the reaction the modern preservation movement was founded by William Sumner Appleton Jr a privileged old blooded Bostonian Resisting not simply this avalanche of change but the amateurish romanticism of fellow antiquaries Appleton founded the Society for the Preservation of New England Antiquities in 1910 While examining SPNEA in the context of progressivism Preserving Historic New England focuses on its redefinition of preservation to fit the methodology of science the economy of capitalism and the aestheticism of architecture In so doing preservation not only became a profession defined by those male worlds but remade Yankee memory to accord with the modern corporate order

The Rise of Heritage Astrid Swenson, 2013-12-19 Where does our fascination for heritage originate This groundbreaking comparative study of preservation in France Germany and England looks beyond national borders to reveal how the idea of heritage emerged from intense competition and collaboration in a global context Astrid Swenson follows the heritage makers from the French Revolution to the First World War revealing the importance of global networks driving developments in each country Drawing on documentary literary and visual sources the book connects high politics and daily life and uncovers how through travel correspondence world fairs and international congresses the preservationists exchanged ideas helped each other campaign and dreamed of establishing international institutions for the protection of heritage Yet these heritage makers were also animated by fierce rivalry as international tension grew This mixture of international collaboration and competition created the European culture of heritage which defined preservation as integral to modernity and still shapes current institutions and debates

Architectural Conservation in Asia John H. Stubbs, Robert G. Thomson, 2016-11-10 At a time when organized heritage protection in Asia is developing at a rapid pace Architectural Conservation in Asia provides the first comprehensive overview of architectural conservation practice from Afghanistan to the Philippines The country by country analysis adopted by the book draws out local insights experiences best practice and solutions for effective cultural heritage management that will inform study and practice both in Asia and beyond Whereas architectural conservation in much of the Western world has been extensively documented this book brings together coverage of many regions where architectural conservation has been understudied Following on from the highly influential companion volumes on global architectural conservation and architectural conservation in Europe and the Americas with this book the authors extend their pioneering global examination to the dynamic and evolving field of architectural conservation in Asia Throughout the book the authors and regional experts provide local case studies and profile topics that bring depth and insight to this ambitious study As architectural conservation becomes increasingly global in practice this book will be of considerable assistance to architectural conservation practitioners site managers and students of architecture planning archaeology and heritage studies worldwide

Architecture RePerformed: The Politics of Reconstruction Tino Mager, 2016-03-09 First emerging at the beginning of the twentieth century architectural reconstruction has increasingly become an instrument to visually revive a long bygone past This book deals with the phenomenon of meticulous reconstruction in architecture It argues that the politics of reconstruction go far beyond aesthetic considerations Taking architecture as a major source of history and regional identity the impact of large scale reconstruction is deeply intertwined with political and social factors Furthermore memories and associations correlated with lost buildings of a bygone era are heavily influenced by their re appearance something which often contradicts historical events Reconstruction has become an established way of building and dealing with the past yet so far there is no comprehensive scientific study on it By bringing together eight case studies from Eastern Europe France Spain China Japan Israel and Brazil it provides valuable insights into this topic The chapters analyse the political background of the reconstructions and identify the protagonists In doing so this volume adds to our understanding of the impact of reconstruction to memory and oblivion as well as the critical power of reconstruction regarding contemporary architecture and urbanism

The Past Is a Foreign Country - Revisited David Lowenthal, 2015-10-01 The past remains essential and inescapable A quarter century after the publication of his classic account of man's attitudes to his past David Lowenthal revisits how we celebrate expunge contest and domesticate the past to serve present needs He shows how nostalgia and heritage now pervade every facet of public and popular culture History embraces nature and the cosmos as well as humanity The past is seen and touched and tasted and smelt as well as heard and read about Empathy re enactment memory and commemoration overwhelm traditional history A unified past once certified by experts and reliant on written texts has become a fragmented contested history forged by us all New insights into history and memory bias and objectivity artefacts and monuments identity and authenticity and remorse and contrition make this book once again the essential guide to the past that we inherit reshape and bequeath to the future

Narrative Theory in Conservation Nigel Walter, 2020-03-11 Narrative Theory in Conservation engages with conservation heritage studies and architectural approaches to historic buildings offering a synthesis of the best of each and demonstrating that conservation is capable of developing a complementary but distinct theoretical position of its own Tracing the ideas behind the development of modern conservation in the West and considering the challenges presented by non Western practice the book engages with the premodern understanding of innovation within tradition and frames historic buildings as intergenerational communal ongoing narratives Redefining the appropriate object of conservation it suggests a practice of conserving the questions that animate and energize local cultures rather than only those instantiated answers that expert opinion has declared canonical Proposing a narrative approach to historic buildings the book provides a distinctive new theoretical foundation for conservation and a basis for a more equal dialogue with other disciplines concerned with the historic environment Narrative Theory in Conservation articulates a coherent theoretical position for conservation that addresses the urgent question of how historic buildings that remain in use should respond to change As such the book should be of great interest to academics researchers and postgraduate students from the fields of conservation heritage studies and architecture

The Myth of Santa Fe Chris Wilson,1997 Debunks the great tourist myth and explains how the Santa Fe architectural and design style so popular with millions of visitors today was consciously created by Anglos in the early 20th century

A Very Queer Family Indeed Simon Goldhill,2016-10-03 We can begin with a kiss though this will not turn out to be a love story at least not a love story of anything like the usual kind So begins A Very Queer Family Indeed which introduces us to the extraordinary Benson family Edward White Benson became Archbishop of Canterbury at the height of Queen Victoria's reign while his wife Mary was renowned for her wit and charm the prime minister once wondered whether she was the cleverest woman in England or in Europe The couple's six precocious children included E F Benson celebrated creator of the Mapp and Lucia novels and Margaret Benson the first published female Egyptologist What interests Simon Goldhill most however is what went on behind the scenes which was even more unusual than anyone could imagine Inveterate writers the Benson family spun out novels essays and thousands of letters that open stunning new perspectives including what it might mean for an adult to kiss and propose marriage to a twelve year old girl how religion in a family could support or destroy relationships or how the death of a child could be celebrated No other family has left such detailed records about their most intimate moments and in these remarkable accounts we see how family life and a family's understanding of itself took shape during a time when psychoanalysis scientific and historical challenges to religion and new ways of thinking about society were developing This is the story of the Bensons but it is also more than that it is the story of how society transitioned from the high Victorian period into modernity
