Restoring Old Buildings for Contemporary Uses William C. Shopsin,1986 Restoring Old Buildings for Contemporary Uses William C. Shopsin,1989 Old-House Journal ,1990-03 Old House Journal is the original magazine devoted to restoring and preserving old houses For more than 35 years our mission has been to help old house owners repair restore update and decorate buildings of every age and architectural style Each issue explores hands on restoration techniques practical architectural guidelines historical overviews and homeowner stories all in a trusted authoritative voice

Traditional Details Charles George Ramsey,Harold Reeve Sleeper,1998-04-17 A comprehensive source of traditional architectural details for anyone working with old structures Compiling the most useful material from the first four editions of Architectural Graphic Standards published between 1932 and 1951 this book brings back into circulation hundreds of architectural illustrations and standards that have once again become relevant to design work Chapters cover all facets of building construction from foundations to furnishings and are structured to follow the drawing preparation sequence of a typical rehabilitation project Architects designers and others involved in rebuilding and renovating structures built in decades past will find here many of the details and information used by the original architects and builders Impeccably organized and beautifully rendered this handsome reference is both a terrific working tool and a wonderful addition to an architecture library The Benefits of Cultural Resource Conservation United States. Department of Defense. Legacy Resources Management Program,1994 Old-House Journal ,1991-03 Old House Journal is the original magazine devoted to restoring and preserving old houses For more than 35 years our mission has been to help old house owners repair restore update and decorate buildings of every age and architectural style Each issue explores hands on restoration techniques practical architectural guidelines historical overviews and homeowner stories all in a trusted authoritative voice Historic Indoor Microclimate of the Heritage Buildings Marco Pretelli,Kristian Fabbri,2017-10-24 Offering readers essential insights into the relationship between ancient buildings their original and current indoor microclimates this book details how the generally virtuous relationship between buildings and their typical microclimate changed due to the introduction of new heating ventilation and air conditioning HVAC systems in historic buildings The new approach to the study of their Historic Indoor Microclimate HIM put forward in this book is an essential component to monitoring and evaluating building and artefact conservation Highlighting the advantages of adopting an indoor microclimatic approach to the preservation of existing historic materials by studying the original conditions of the buildings the book proposes a new methodology linking the preservation restoration of the historic indoor microclimate with diachronic analysis for the optimal preservation of historic buildings Further it discusses a number of frequently overlooked topics such as the simple and well coordinated opening and closing of windows an example extracted from a real case study In turn the authors elaborate the concept of an Historic Indoor Microclimate HIM based on Original Indoor Microclimate OIM which proves useful in identifying the optimal conditions for preserving the materials that make up historic buildings The book's main goal is to draw attention to the advantages of an indoor microclimatic approach to the preservation of existing historic materials manufacture by studying the original conditions of the buildings The introduction of new systems in historic buildings not only has a direct traumatic effect on the actual building and its components but also radically changes one of its vital immaterial elements the Indoor Microclimate Architects restorers and engineers will find that the book addresses the monitoring of the indoor microclimate in selected historic buildings that have managed to retain their original state due to the absence of new HVAC systems and reflects on the advantages of a renewed attention to these aspects
