Restructuring Of The Steel Industry In Northeast Asia:

Restructuring of the Steel Industry in Northeast Asia Hiro Lee, Eric D. Ramstetter, Oleksandr Movshuk, 2005-07-22 Since the early 1990s Northeast Asia's steel industry has undergone a remarkable restructuring process. Notably, the region's steel industry lost over 1 million jobs in the 1990s. This study examines how the policy environment has changed with governments relying more on market mechanisms. Mergers and strategic alliances among the region's largest steel makers have proliferated, and the impact of renewed US protectionism has had minimal effect.

Issues Raised by Restructuring of the Steel Industry in Northeast Asia Hiro Lee, Eric D. Ramstetter, Oleksandr Movshuk, 2005 Since the early 1990s Northeast Asia's steel industry has undergone a remarkable restructuring process. Notably, the region's steel industry lost over 1 million jobs or over one quarter of the total in the 1990s. The policy environment has changed dramatically with governments relying more on market mechanisms. Mergers and strategic alliances among the region's largest steel makers have proliferated. We find that the impact of renewed US protectionism has been minimal, largely because the vast majority of Northeast Asia's steel exports are shipped to other Asian countries.

The Political Economy of State-owned Enterprises in China and India X. Yi-chong, 2012-09-24 Focused on unique features of economic development, this edited volume examines the nature and structure of corporate governance of several key state-owned enterprises in China and public sector units in India in five strategic sectors: oil and natural gas, steel, coal, electricity generation, and banking industries.

The Global Restructuring of the Steel Industry Anthony D'Costa, 1999-01-28 Using case studies from USA, Japan, South Korea, Brazil, and India, this work explains how and why the steel industry has shifted from the advanced capitalist countries to the late industrializing countries.

Governing Global Production J. Wilson, 2013-02-04 Northeast Asian steel industries have developed global production networks, but by spanning multiple national spaces, these networks unite many national economies while belonging exclusively to none. Who, therefore, is in control? Jeffrey D. Wilson examines how states and firms coordinate their activities to govern global production.

China's Great Economic Transformation Loren Brandt, Thomas G. Rawski, 2008-04-14 This landmark study provides an integrated analysis of China's unexpected economic boom of the past three decades. The authors combine deep China expertise with broad disciplinary knowledge to explain China's remarkable combination of high-speed growth and deeply flawed institutions. Their work exposes the mechanisms underpinning the origin and expansion of China's great boom. Penetrating studies track the rise of Chinese capabilities in manufacturing and in research and development. The editors probe both achievements and weaknesses across many sectors, including China's fiscal, legal, and financial institutions. The book shows how an intricate minuet combining China's political system with sectorial development, globalization, resource transfers across geographic and economic space, and partial system reform delivered an astonishing and unprecedented growth spurt.

Regional Environmental Politics in Northeast Asia Jeongwon Bourdais Park,2018-11-12 The share of global CO2 emissions from the core Northeast Asian NEA countries in 2015 was estimated to be as high as 33.63 percent. Representing 28.21, 3.67 and 1.75 percent of total global emissions, China, Japan and South Korea were ranked the first, fifth and seventh largest contributors respectively. Some parts of China, the Republic of Mongolia, the Russian Far East and Southeast Asia have long been on serious alert due to accelerated deforestation. With their rapid population growth and economic development, the core countries of Northeast Asia are responsible both directly and indirectly for numerous environmental problems. Urgent individual and collective action is required from the region's governments. Against the backdrop of debate on how to understand Northeast Asia as a region, Park focuses on the major regional economies of China, Japan and South Korea along with Russia, North Korea and the Republic of Mongolia due to both their geopolitical proximity and their significance to the region. The author attempts to answer the questions: How far has regional environmental cooperation progressed in Northeast Asia and Why are Northeast Asian countries reluctant to cooperate further on urgent transboundary and regional environmental issues.

Korean Unification in a New Era Victor Cha,2014-12-19 In light of growing discussion about the future of the Korean peninsula, the CSIS Korea Chair held a major conference featuring senior level policy and scholarly discussions on the topic of unification and this report provides a record of that conference. It was a landmark event addressing economic, business, political and security opportunities of unification and it was cohosted with the National Research Council for Economics, Humanities and Social Sciences (NRCS) of the Republic of Korea and a consortium of other institutions.
