

Resumes and Personal Statements for Health Professionals

By James W. Tysinger, PhD, 2nd edition, pp 224. Galen Press, Ltd; PO Box 64400, Tucson, AZ 85728-4000; 1999; $18.95.

This newly updated and important reference book contains numerous examples of actual resumes and personal statements, with specific reference to healthcare professionals. In my opinion, this reference book will be essential for osteopathic medical students and physicians throughout their careers.

The book methodically reviews what a resume is and the importance of having a resume throughout one's career. It helps the reader establish a personal experience inventory and assists the individual in a step-by-step plan in resume development.

Furthermore, the book provides careful instruction in the development of a personal statement. Identifying skills and traits is also difficult, but this reference manual makes this process much simpler.

This manual also assists in the development of cover and thank-you letters, two areas that are often overlooked in similar reference sources.

Finally, throughout our careers as healthcare professionals, there is a need to fine tune or strengthen our resumes and personal statements. This book gives valuable insight into how to do this in a more meaningful way.

It is obvious that the author has used the experience of numerous students and healthcare professionals in the development of this book. Simply, this book is a must for every physician's library. It will be used by the physician and many individuals whom that physician influences. I would recommend this book enthusiastically, and I am sure that I will use it in my own practice and career as a fellowship program director and editor. ♦

AND DENTISTRY
OF NEW JERSEY SCHOOL OF
OSTEOPATHIC MEDICINE

Chairperson Department of Osteosciences

The University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey-School of Osteopathic Medicine, New Jersey's University of the health sciences, seeks nominations and applications for the position of Chairperson, Department of Osteosciences, at the School of Osteopathic Medicine. This is an exciting opportunity to lead a growing department in a dynamic academic atmosphere. Osteopathic principles and practice are recognized as a vital ingredient to primary care education and practice. Responsibilities will include the administration of undergraduate Osteoscience lectures and laboratories, research programs, clinical ambulatory and inpatient services and programs at multiple locations. Candidates must be Osteopathic Physicians with Board Certification or special proficiency in Osteopathic Manipulative Medicine and extensive experience in the teaching and practice of osteopathic principles and manipulative techniques.

Demonstrated experience as a medical educator and leader, with a commitment to the encouragement and support of osteopathic research is essential.
