Planning and Job Searching in the Information Age Elizabeth A. Lorenzen, 2020-09-23 Career Planning and Job Searching in the Information Age answers key questions for today's providers of career planning and job searching information. Librarians and career development professionals concerns such as cost effective use of the Internet, the reliability and integrity of electronic resources and successful search strategies are addressed in this comprehensive collection. In this follow up to Library Services for Career Planning Job Searching and Employment Opportunities 1992, real life methods used by information providers to reduce costs and improve quality of service through a better understanding of today's technology and audience needs and expectations are shown. Readers learn about issues and ethics in the electronic environment, job searches conducted on the World Wide Web, a university placement office's gopher site for 24 hour access to job information, a university library and career service department's collaboration on job search seminars, how a public library fit electronic job searching into its mission, an alumnae network's evolution into a national career development organization. Career Planning and Job Searching in the Information Age presents a broad base of knowledge from which readers are launched into tightly focused case studies offering details on how to deal with the issues of technology and service. This book makes it clear that in the ever changing world of information technology there is little room for the status quo. Professionals who don't learn about electronic resources risk missing out on a wealth of up to the minute information that is infinitely useful to patrons planning a career or searching for a job. Library professionals just beginning to address these issues, professionals already possessing a general knowledge of these issues and students of library science and career development will all benefit from this collection.

The Street Smart MBA James Mangraviti, Steven Babitsky, 2014-03-01 Business schools have long enticed students into their MBA programs with the promise that after a short stint spent studying the ins and outs of the business world they will be able to step right into the upper echelons of management or launch a business that soon has them flitting about the world in a private jet. Sounds great you say. Sign me up. Not so fast. Sure business school might prove a necessary prerequisite for those aiming to gain employment at a large financial institution, land a job with a consultancy or accelerate their journey to managerial superstardom at a Fortune 500 company. But for aspiring entrepreneurs and established business owners alike the truth of the matter is this: The ability to get a business off the ground and running successfully is not the byproduct of toiling away in a classroom learning esoteric subjects like the economics of competition. Rather, all it takes to start and run a truly successful business are a few sensible, time proven techniques that have been needlessly forgotten in business innovators' haste to reinvent the wheel. That's why in The Street Smart MBA Steve Babitsky and James J. Mangraviti Jr. encourage you to ditch class or better yet ditch business school altogether and go back to the business basics with a series of ten simple steps that will do more for your company than the letters M B and A ever will. There are no forays into game theory in The Street Smart MBA, no parables and no intellectualizing. Instead, what you will find is a practical, easy to understand, step by step business strategy guide that encourages you to revive a handful of basic yet essential practices that many business owners have lost sight of such as Building a brand that is so synonymous with quality that you ll be able to maximize your company s profits in no time Turning your company s products and services into profits by finding your company aniche working with deadlines and honoring your company s image above all else Dealing with customer complaints head on so that you can turn gripes into opportunities Doing favors mentoring and sending gifts in order to grow your business network And much more With its emphasis on ten simple yet time honored principles that lead to business success The Street Smart MBA is all the business education that entrepreneurs with great ideas and business owners with the drive to succeed will ever need
