Blaner, 2012-12-06 In the future the decade of the 1990s will likely be viewed as a Golden Age for retinoid research There have been unprecedented research gains in the understanding of retinoid actions and physiology since the retinoid nuclear receptors were first identified and the importance of retinoic acid in development processes was first broadly recognized in the late 1980s Between then and now our knowledge of retinoid action has evolved from one of a near complete lack of understanding of how retinoids act within cells to one of sophisticated understanding of the molecular processes through which retinoids modulate transcription In this volume we have tried to provide a comprehensive update of the present understanding of retinoid actions with an emphasis on recent advances The initial chapters of the volume or Section A focus on the physicochemical properties and metabolism of naturally occurring retinoids N OY provides an uncommonly encountered view of retinoid effects from the perspective of the physiochemical properties of retinoids V AKIANI and BUCK lend a perspective on the biological occurrence and actions of retro and anhydro retinoids Section B considers both the retinoid nuclear receptors and their mechanisms of action as well as synthetic retinoids that have been used experimentally to provide mechanistic insights into receptor actions and have potential therapeutic use for treating disease PIEDRAFITA and PFAHL provide a comprehensive review of retinoid nuclear receptor biochemistry and molecular biology      Retinoids, Differentiation and Disease - Symposium CIBA Foundation Symposium, 1986-04-17 Cancer Treatment Reports , 1987      Vitamin A in Health and Disease Rune Blomhoff, 1994-02-01 This book is intended as a source of information for the many scientists who now enter the growing research field of vitamin A in health and disease reviewing the epidemiological aspects related to vitamin A      JNCI, Journal of the National Cancer Institute National Cancer Institute (U.S.), 1984      Vitamin A and Cancer Prevention Conference United States-Japan Cooperative Medical Science Program. Tigason oral and intravenous pharmacokinetic studies have been performed in 5 normal volunteers. Simultaneous fitting of single i.v. and oral data to a three compartment model assuming first order absorption was possible. Using Nonlin parameter estimates of the single dose data one is able to predict the decline in plasma levels of parent drug following cessation of a 10 days multiple dosing regimen up to 24 hours. The model is however unable to predict a phase of prolonged elimination observed beyond 24 hours. Moreover in 5 patients who underwent chronic therapy 8-15 months substantial plasma levels of both unchanged drug and main metabolite corresponding carboxylic acid were observed up to 140 days after cessation of the therapy. An apparent half life of elimination of 80-100 days can be calculated. The drug appears to be stored at some yet unknown storage site. Investigation of metabolism of Tigason in rats and humans revealed 19 different bio transformation products thus far most of them appearing in the urine in low amounts. 20% of dose. A few of them mainly the acid Ro 10-1670 after conjugation to glucuronic acid are excreted in the bile in high amounts 60-80% of dose. No drug appeared unchanged in the excreta after i.v. administration to rats.
