Research Navigator Guide for Anthropology (Valuepack Item Only) Gloria Bobbie, Linda R. Barr, 2003-06-23 Designed to teach students how to conduct high quality online research and to document it properly this guide provides access to Research Navigator tm www.researchnavigator.com providing students and instructors with instant access to thousands of academic journals and periodicals any time from any computer with an Internet connection Now updated with a new Research Navigator User s Guide Research Navigator guides are free when packaged with any Allyn Bacon Longman text With discipline specific academic resources and helpful tips on the writing process online research and finding and citing valid sources starting the research process has never been easier Seeing Anthropology Karl G. Heider, 2004 Seeing Anthropology continues to be the only cultural anthropology text available that allows for easy integration of ethnographic films into the introductory cultural anthropology course This text truly incorporates films within the text by blending textbook content with fourteen ethnographic film clips that are put in the hands of students More flexible ordering options are available with the new edition See New to this Edition section below One reviewer says The greatest strengths of this text are its unique and skillful use of film clips to enhance student learning I can think of no better way to extend student learning in anthropology than the use of films and there is no one more qualified to select and present anthropological films than the author of this book Seeing Anthropology Karl G. Heider, 1997 Accompanying videocassettes include short ethnographically accurate films on a wide range of culture types and world areas which contribute to the subject of the chapters American Anthropologist: Volume 100, Number 3, September 1998, 1999 Theory in Social and Cultural Anthropology R. Jon McGee, Richard L. Warms, 2013-08-28 Social and cultural anthropology and archaeology are rich subjects with deep connections in the social and physical sciences Over the past 150 years the subject matter and different theoretical perspectives have expanded so greatly that no single individual can command all of it Consequently both advanced students and professionals may be confronted with theoretical positions and names of theorists with whom they are only partially familiar if they have heard of them at all Students in particular are likely to turn to the web to find quick background information on theorists and theories However most web based information is inaccurate and or lacks depth Students and professionals need a source to provide a quick overview of a particular theory and theorist with just the basics the who what where how and why if you will In response SAGE Reference plans to publish the two volume Theory in Social and Cultural Anthropology An Encyclopedia Features Benefits Two volumes containing approximately 335 signed entries provide users with the most authoritative and thorough reference resource available on anthropology theory both in terms of breadth and depth of coverage To ease navigation between and among related entries a Reader s Guide groups entries thematically and each entry is followed by Cross References In the electronic version the Reader s Guide combines with the Cross References and a detailed Index to provide robust search and browse capabilities An appendix with a Chronology of

Anthropology Theory allows students to easily chart directions and trends in thought and theory from early times to the present Suggestions for Further Reading at the end of each entry and a Master Bibliography at the end guide readers to sources for more detailed research and discussion

We've Scene it All Before Brian C. Johnson, 2009-01-01 A revolutionary tool for corporate and academic trainers We ve Scene It All Before harnesses the power of mainstream Hollywood film to enhance educational sessions about diversity and social justice This resource manual offers practical guidance on how to effectively use the concept of difference as a starting point towards true inclusion Seasoned and novice trainers will appreciate the suggested strategies and best practices on facilitating diversity dialogues which are coupled with a set of twenty five definitions that introduce and raise awareness of the personal and systemic nature of difference discrimination and power Workshops on human relations and workplace diversity must move beyond the superficial celebration of diversity to the dismantling of systems of privilege and oppression that create environments where members of the organization are disenfranchised and disempowered Using clips from a variety of genres of mainstream film allows the trainer to make intercultural concepts visible and offers a way for us to challenge our own values and assumptions Participants will enjoy the presentations more as they view some of their favorite films in a whole new way using this familiar medium creates a common basis for entering the discussions all the while giving us the permission to talk about serious and often controversial subjects We ve Scene It All Before Using Film Clips in Diversity Awareness Training is a learning tool which will be tremendously useful in reducing resistance and increasing thoughtful cross cultural dialogue

Subject Guide to Books in Print , 1971 American Book Publishing Record , 2003 Forthcoming Books Rose Army, 2000-06

Viewpoints Mary Strong, Laena Wilder, 2009-05-01 Early in its history anthropology was a visual as well as verbal discipline But as time passed visually oriented professionals became a minority among their colleagues and most anthropologists used written words rather than audiovisual modes as their professional means of communication Today however contemporary electronic and interactive media once more place visual anthropologists and anthropologically oriented artists within the mainstream Digital media small sized and easy to use equipment and the Internet with its interactive and public forum websites democratize roles once relegated to highly trained professionals alone However having access to a good set of tools does not guarantee accurate and reliable work Visual anthropology involves much more than media alone This book presents visual anthropology as a work in progress open to the myriad innovations that the new audiovisual communications technologies bring to the field It is intended to aid in contextualizing explaining and humanizing the storehouse of visual knowledge that university students and general readers now encounter and to help inform them about how these new media tools can be used for intellectually and socially beneficial purposes Concentrating on documentary photography and ethnographic film as well as lesser known areas of study and presentation including dance painting architecture archaeology and primate research the book s fifteen contributors feature populations living on all of the world's continents as well as within the United States. The final chapter gives readers practical advice about how to use the most current digital and interactive technologies to present research findings.

Encyclopedia of the Documentary Film 3-Volume Set Ian Aitken, 2013-10-18. The Encyclopedia of the Documentary Film is a fully international reference work on the history of the documentary film from the Lumière brothers' Workers Leaving the Lumière Factory (1885) to Michael Moore's Fahrenheit 9/11 (2004). This Encyclopedia provides a resource that critically analyzes that history in all its aspects. Not only does this Encyclopedia examine individual films and the careers of individual film makers, it also provides overview articles of national and regional documentary film history. It explains concepts and themes in the study of documentary film, the techniques used in making films, and the institutions that support their production, appreciation, and preservation.

Anthropology News, 2009 Books in Print Supplement, 2002 The Ethnographer's Eye Anna Grimshaw, 2001-04-30. Grimshaw's exploration of the role of vision within modern anthropology engages with current debates about ocularcentism, investigating the relationship between vision and knowledge in ethnographic enquiry. Using John Berger's notion of ways of seeing, the author argues that vision operates differently as a technique and theory of knowledge within the discipline. In the first part of the book, she examines contrasting visions at work in the so-called classical British school, reassessing the legacy of Rivers, Malinowski, and Radcliffe-Brown through the lens of early modern art and cinema. In the second part of the book, the changing relationship between vision and knowledge is explored through the anthropology of Jean Rouch, David and Judith MacDougall, and Melissa Llewelyn Davies. Vision is foregrounded in the work of these contemporary ethnographers, focusing on more general questions about technique and epistemology: whether image-based media are used or not in ethnographic enquiry.

Seeing Anthropology Karl G. Heider, 1997. Accompanying videocassettes include short ethnographically accurate films on a wide range of culture types and world areas which contribute to the subject of the chapters.

Seeing Anthropology Karl G. Heider, Herbert L. Ziegler, 2000-09. This is the only book/video package for cultural anthropology. This book truly incorporates films within the text. This unique package allows the reader to view the films in class or at home.

Sight and Sound, 1991 Ethnographic Film Karl G. Heider, 2006-11-01. From reviews of the first edition: Ethnographic Film can rightly be considered a film primer for anthropologists. Choice: This is an interesting and useful book about what it means to be ethnographic and how this might affect ethnographic filmmaking for the better. It obviously belongs in all departments of anthropology, and most ethnographic filmmakers will want to read it. Ethnohistory: Even before Robert Flaherty released Nanook of the North in 1922, anthropologists were producing films about the lifeways of native peoples for a public audience as well as for research and teaching. Ethnographic Film (1976) was one of the first books to provide a comprehensive introduction to this field of visual anthropology, and it quickly became the standard reference. In this new edition, Karl G. Heider thoroughly updates Ethnographic Film to reflect developments in the field over the three decades since its publication, focusing on the work of four seminal filmmakers: Jean Rouch, John Marshall, Robert

Gardner and Timothy Asch He begins with an introduction to ethnographic film and a history of the medium He then considers many attributes of ethnographic film including the crucial need to present whole acts whole bodies whole interactions and whole people to preserve the integrity of the cultural context Heider also discusses numerous aspects of making ethnographic films from ethics and finances to technical considerations such as film versus video and preserving the filmed record He concludes with a look at using ethnographic film in teaching

Study Guide for Cultural Anthropology, Second Edition Barbara D. Miller, 2002

Exploring Culture and Gender through Film introduces cultural anthropology through concepts and case studies presented in a variety of media The book pairs accessible documentaries and ethnographic films with written material that addresses the same themes and issues It provides conceptual tools and background information to help students understand both the visual and written content The material is loosely organized into three sections The first focuses on basic concepts in anthropology while the second applies these concepts to the subject of inequality The final section broadens this application to include issues in globalization Specific topics include ethnography ritual and gender tribal politics shatter zones social media and social movements stories of the black market and genocide While ideally designed to be used in conjunction with the suggested films the book also successfully stands alone as an introduction to cultural anthropology through contemporary issues Exploring Culture and Gender through Film is a fresh interesting choice for courses in social and cultural anthropology It can also be used as a supplemental reader for classes in media studies or contemporary issues
