Dogs Stephen H. Webb, 1998-01-15 Many of us keep pet animals we rely on them for companionship and unconditional love For some people their closest relationships may be with their pets In the wake of the animal rights movement some ethicists have started to re examine this relationship and to question the rights of humans to own other sentient beings in this way In this engaging and thought provoking book Stephen Webb brings a Christian perspective to bear on the subject of our responsibility to animals looked at through the lens of our relations with pets especially dogs Webb argues that the emotional bond with companion animals should play a central role in the way we think about animals in general and against the more extreme animal liberationists defends the intermingling of the human and animal worlds He tries to imagine what it would be like to treat animals as a gift from God and indeed argues that not only are animals a gift for us but they give to us we need to attend to their giving and return their gifts appropriately Throughout the book he insists that what Christians call grace is present in our relations with animals just as it is with other humans Grace is the inclusive and expansive power of God's love to create and sustain relationships of real mutuality and reciprocity and Webb unfolds the implications of the recognition that animals too participate in God's abundant grace Webb's thesis affirms and persuasively defends many of the things that pet lovers feel instinctively that their relationships with their companion animals are meaningful and important and that their pets have value and worth in themselves in the eyes of God His book will appeal to a broad audience of thoughtful Christians and animal lovers Embodiment, Morality, and Medicine L.S. Cahill, M.A. Farley, 2013-04-17 Embodiment Morality and Medicine deals with the relevance of embodiment to bioethics considering both the historical development and contemporary perspectives on the mind body relation The emphasis of all authors is on the importance of the body in defining personal identity as well as on the role of social context in shaping experience of the body Among the perspectives considered are Christian Jewish Islamic Buddhist and African American Feminist concerns are important throughout A New Hasidism:

Roots Arthur Green, Ariel Evan Mayse, 2019-10-01 Neo Hasidism applies the Hasidic masters spiritual insights of God's presence everywhere of seeking the magnificent within the everyday in doing all things with love and joy uplifting all of life to become a vehicle of God's service to contemporary Judaism as practiced by men and women who do not live within the strictly bounded world of the Hasidic community This first ever anthology of Neo Hasidic philosophy brings together the writings of its progenitors five great twentieth century European and American Jewish thinkers Hillel Zeitlin Martin Buber Abraham Joshua Heschel Shlomo Carlebach and Zalman Schachter Shalomi plus a young Arthur Green The thinkers reflect on the inner life of the individual and their dreams of creating a Neo Hasidic spiritual community The editors introductions and notes analyze each thinker s contributions to Neo Hasidic thought and influence on the movement Zeitlin and Buber initiated a renewal of Hasidism for the modern world Heschel s work is quietly infused with Neo Hasidic thought Carlebach and Schachter Shalomi re created Neo Hasidism for American Jews in the 1960s and Green is the first American born Jewish thinker fully identified with the movement Previously unpublished materials by Carlebach and Schachter Shalomi include an interview with Schachter Shalomi about his decision to leave Chabad Lubavitch and embark on his own Neo Hasidic path

The New Rabbi Stephen Fried, 2003-08-26 From award winning journalist Stephen Fried comes a vividly intimate portrait of American Judaism today in which faith family and community are explored through the dramatic life of a landmark congregation as it seeks to replace its legendary retiring rabbi and reinvent itself for the next generation The New Rabbi The center of this compelling chronicle is Har Zion Temple on Philadelphia s Main Line which for the last seventy five years has been one of the largest and most influential congregations in America For thirty years Rabbi Gerald Wolpe has been its spiritual leader a brilliant sermonizer of wide renown but now he has announced his retirement It is the start of a remarkable nationwide search process largely unknown to the lay world and of much more For at this dramatic moment Wolpe agrees to give extraordinary access to Fried inviting him and the reader into the intense personal and professional life of the clergy and the complex behind the scenes life of a major Conservative congregation These riveting pages bring us a unique view of Judaism in practice from Har Zion s strong willed leaders and influential families to the young bar and bat mitzvahs just beginning their Jewish lives from the three days a year synagogue goers to the hard core of devout attendees We are touched by their times of joy and times of grief intrigued by congregational politics moved by the search for faith We witness the conflicts between generations about issues of belief observance and the pressures of secular life We meet Wolpe s vigorous minded ailing wife and his sons one of whom has become a celebrity rabbi in Los Angeles And we follow the author s own moving search for meaning as he reconnects with the religion of his youth We also have a front row seat at the usually clandestine process of choosing a new rabbi as what was expected to be a simple one year search for Rabbi Wolpe s successor extends to two years and then three Dozens of resumes are rejected a parade of prospects come to interview the chosen successor changes his mind at the last minute and a confrontation erupts between the synagogue and the New York based Conservative rabbis union that governs the process As the time comes for Wolpe to depart a venerated house of worship is being torn apart And thrust onto the pulpit is Wolpe s young assistant Rabbi Jacob Herber in his first job out of rabbinical school facing the nearly impossible situation of taking over despite being technically ineligible for the position and finding himself on trial with the congregation and at odds with his mentor Rich in anecdote and scenes of wonderful immediacy this is a riveting book about the search for personal faith about the tension between secular concerns and ancient tradition in affluent America and about what Wolpe himself has called the retail business of religion Stephen Fried brings all these elements to vivid life with the passion and energy of a superbly gifted storyteller

McKenny, 2008-07-15 B Andrew Lustig Baruch A Brody and Gerald P McKenny Nearly every week the general public is treated to an announcement of another actual or potential breakthrough in biotechnology Headlines trumpet advances in assisted reproduction current or prospective experiments in cloning and developments in regenerative medicine stem cell technologies and tissue engineering Scientific and popular accounts explore the perils and the possibilities of enhancing human capacities by computer based biomolecular or mechanical means through advances in artificial intelligence genetics and nanotechnology Reports abound concerning ever more sophisticated genetic techniques being introduced into ag culture and animal husbandry as well as efforts to enhance and protect biodiversity Given the pace of such developments many insightful commentators have proclaimed the 21st century as the biotechnology century Despite a significant literature on the morality of these particular advances in biotechnology deeper ethical analysis has often been lacking Our preliminary review of that literature suggested that current discussions of normative issues in biotechnology have suffered from two major deficiencies First the discussions have been too often piecemeal in character limited to after the fact analyses of particular issues that provoked the debate and unconnected to larger concepts and themes Second a crucial missing element of those discussions has been the failure to reflect explicitly on the diverse disciplinary conceptions of nature and the natural that shape moral judgments about the legitimacy of specific forms of research and their applications Reimagining the Bible Howard Schwartz, 1998 A collection of essays from Schwartz s previously published work exploring how each successive phase of Jewish literature has drawn upon and reimagined previous ones and arguing that there is a continuity in Jewish Literature which extends from the biblical era to our own times Encyclopedia of Love in World Religions Yudit Kornberg Greenberg, 2007-11-15 This is the
