Serving Students At Metropolitan Universities:

Serving Students at Metropolitan Universities: The Unique Opportunities and Challenges Larry H. Dietz, Vicky L. Triponey, 1997-10-04 Among the distinctive characteristics of U S postsecondary education are access choice and variety Students in this country have a diversity of choices as they seek college admission The possibilities boggle the mind especially as college administrators contemplate how to meet the service needs of diverse student populations with differing needs abilities and aspirations It becomes an even greater challenge when one realizes that most institutions are confronted with students who fit into not one but several of these life situation categories Thus the challenge becomes one of how an institution should plan program and budget to meet the diverse and changing demands for services and resources This challenge is faced by student affairs administrators regardless of the type of institution but it is particularly demanding in a metropolitan university setting A paucity of research is available about students who choose to attend metropolitan universities and little opportunity exists for sharing ideas and expertise on how to meet the needs of these less than traditional students

Serving Students with Disabilities Holley A. Belch, 2011-09-28 This issue examines what student services professionals can do to ensure the success of the growing population of students with disabilities The contributors explore the critical role that community and dignity play in creating a meaningful educational experience for students with disabilities and show how to help these students gain meaningful access and full participation in campus activities In addition to such common concerns as fulfilling legal requirements and overcoming architectural barriers the contributors also address a full range of important issues such as effective approaches to recruitment and retention strategies for career and academic advising and the impact of financial resources on funding programs and services This is the 91st issue of the quarterly journal New Directions for Student Services

Student Affairs in Urban-Serving Institutions Anna M. Ortiz, 2019-06-06 Student Affairs in Urban Serving Institutions Voices from Senior Leaders addresses a critical gap in literature concerning the unique structure students and missions of urban serving institutions USIs Examining the challenges and contributions of student affairs professionals in serving and meeting the needs of urban students this volume discusses how services and interventions must reflect the reality of students understand the sociopolitical forces that affect students lives and bring together a network that includes family and community Each chapter in this volume captures the voices of student affairs leaders who not only share a range of important professional experiences insights and lessons learned but also unpack research and literature on competencies knowledge bases and experiences needed to work in urban universities and community colleges This important book will help graduate students as well as new and continuing professionals faculty and scholars impact practice and policy and become agents of change in their communities

Learning to Serve Maureen E. Kenny, Lou Anna K. Simon, Karen Kiley-Brabeck, Richard M. Lerner, 2012-12-06 Service learning as defined by the editors is the generation of knowledge that is of benefit to the community as a whole This seventh volume in the Outreach Scholarship book series contributes a unique discussion of how service learning functions as a critical cornerstone of outreach scholarship. The sections and chapters of this book marshal evidence in support of the idea that undergraduate service learning infused throughout the curriculum and coupled with outreach scholarship is an integral means through which higher education can engage people and institutions of the communities of this nation in a manner that perpetuate civil society. The editors through this series of models of service learning make a powerful argument for the necessity of engaged institutions.

New Directions for Student Services, 1997-2014: Glancing Back, Looking Forward Elizabeth J. Whitt, John H. Schuh, 2015-10-05 Student affairs has changed greatly in the almost twenty years that the series editors have been managing New Directions for Student Services. This volume provides a look back at this period of time from 1997 through 2014 with topical chapters focused on trends in student affairs during the past two decades, changes in students and the most effective student affairs responses, progress and recommendations for assessment in student affairs and challenges with and skills needed for digital technologies, finance and budgets and staff preparation. The volume concludes with a look into the future of student affairs practice based in part on the lessons learned from looking at the recent past. This is the 151st volume of this Jossey-Bass higher education quarterly series. An indispensable resource for vice presidents of student affairs, deans of students, student counselors and other student services professionals. New Directions for Student Services offers guidelines and programs for aiding students in their total development: emotional, social, physical and intellectual.

Understanding the Work of Student Affairs Professionals at Minority Serving Institutions Robert T. Palmer, Dina C. Maramba, Taryn Ozuna Allen, Andrew T. Arroyo, 2021-12-28 This volume explores the unique experiences of student affairs professionals at Minority Serving Institutions (MSIs) in the US. In doing so, it highlights broader challenges faced by MSIs and highlights ways in which these have been countered by effective student affairs practice. Recognizing that the role of student affairs practitioners at MSIs often differs from that of their contemporaries in other types of institution, this volume offers important insight into the context of student affairs at Historically Black Colleges and Universities, Predominantly Black Institutions, Hispanic Serving Institutions, and Asian American and Native American Pacific Islander Serving Institutions. Drawing on rich qualitative data, chapters identify examples of best practices to foster student growth, ensure culturally relevant approaches, and enhance collaboration between academic and administrative departments. The volume thereby showcases the important contribution that these institutions and the professionals within them make to the US Higher Education landscape and the success of minority students. This text will benefit researchers, academics, and educators with an interest in student affairs practice, higher education management, and inclusive education. Those interested in the sociology of education as well as race and ethnicity studies will also benefit from the volume.
