Sexual Cultures And Migration In The Era Of Aids Anthropological And Demographic Perspectives:

Sexual Cultures and Migration in the Era of AIDS Gilbert Herdt, 1997-05-29 Sexual Cultures and Migration in the Era of AIDS is the first demographic anthropological study of what happens to sexual behaviour and the rules of risk taking in sexual encounters when people migrate from countryside to city from one city to another or from one country to another culture It represents a milestone in the study of cross cultural sexuality and sexually transmitted diseases At the foreground of the study are commercial sex and prostitution sexual tourism heterosexual marriage and social pressure and homosexuality and bisexuality in emerging sexual cultures The volume brings together quantitative and qualitative case studies by an international panel of anthropologists demographers and sociologists aimed at better understanding the impact of human movement and mobility on sexual change and fertility Demography: Analysis and Synthesis, Four Volume Set Graziella Caselli, Jacques Vallin, Guillaume Wunsch, 2006-01-03 This four volume collection of over 140 original chapters covers virtually everything of interest to demographers sociologists and others Over 100 authors present population subjects in ways that provoke thinking and lead to the creation of new perspectives not just facts and equations to be memorized The articles follow a theory methods applications approach and so offer a kind of one stop shop that is well suited for students and professors who need non technical summaries such as political scientists public affairs specialists and others Unlike shorter handbooks Demography Analysis and Synthesis offers a long overdue thorough treatment of the field Choosing the analytical method that fits the data and the situation requires insights that the authors and editors of Demography Analysis and Synthesis have explored and developed This extended examination of demographic tools not only seeks to explain the analytical tools themselves but also the relationships between general population dynamics and their natural economic social political and cultural environments Limiting themselves to human populations only the authors and editors cover subjects that range from the core building blocks of population change fertility mortality and migration to the consequences of demographic changes in the biological and health fields population theories and doctrines observation systems and the teaching of demography The international perspectives brought to these subjects is vital for those who want an unbiased rounded overview of these complex multifaceted subjects Topics to be covered Population Dynamics and the Relationship Between Population Growth and Structure The Determinants of Fertility The Determinants of Mortality The Determinants of Migration Historical and Geographical Determinants of Population The Effects of Population on Health Economics Culture and the Environment Population Policies Data Collection Methods and Teaching about Population Studies All chapters share a common format Each chapter features several cross references to other chapters Tables charts and other non text features are widespread Each chapter contains at least 30 bibliographic citations Culture, Biology, and Anthropological Demography Eric Abella Roth, 2004-08-16 Two distinctive approaches to the study of human demography exist within anthropology today anthropological demography and human evolutionary ecology The first stresses the role of culture in determining population parameters while the second posits that demographic rates reflect adaptive behaviors that are the products of natural selection Both sub disciplines have achieved notable successes but each has ignored and been actively disdainful of the other This text attempts a rapprochement of anthropological demography and human evolutionary ecology through recognition of common research topics and the construction of a broad theoretical framework incorporating both cultural and biological motivation Both these approaches are utilized to search for demographic strategies in varied cultural and temporal contexts ranging from African pastoralists through North American post industrial societies As such this book is relevant to cultural and biological anthropologists demographers sociologists and historians

War in the Blood Chris Beyrer, 2017-07-15 Effective treatment for HIV and AIDS came in 1996 For sufferers in the developed world this marked a true watershed moment the end of the death sentence But for many in the developing world including in Southeast Asia these new treatments remained far out of reach In his early thirties following the loss of his partner to an AIDS related illness Chris Beyrer wrote the first edition of War in the Blood Three decades later having served as president of the International AIDS Society he believes we have arrived at an extraordinary milestone For the first time a patient has been demonstrably cured of HIV new vaccine trials in Thailand have shown great promise and the PrEP programme genuinely works So why are over half of the estimated 38.8 million people living with HIV still not on treatment War in the Blood is a labour of love both a celebratory account of Southeast Asia and the story of our failure to protect those most vulnerable the world over gay men adolescent girls sex workers drug users and transgender women Beyrer offers an impassioned plea for our communities and governments and our own hearts and minds to stop denying the realities of sex sexuality and gender and to take affirmative action

Making Sense of AIDS Leslie Butt, Richard Eves, 2008-05-31 In Melanesia rates of HIV infection are among the highest in the Pacific and increasing rapidly with grave humanitarian development and political implications There is a great need for social research on HIV AIDS in the region to provide better insights into the sensitive issues surrounding HIV transmission This collection the first book on HIV and AIDS in the Pacific region gathers together stunning and original accounts of the often surprising ways that people make sense of the AIDS epidemic in various parts of Melanesia The volume addresses substantive issues concerning AIDS and contemporary sexualities relations of power and moralities themes that provide a powerful backdrop for twenty first century understandings of the tensions between sexuality religion and politics in many parts of the world

Fault Lines of Care Carina Heckert, 2018-06 The HIV epidemic in Bolivia has received little attention on a global scale in light of the country's low HIV prevalence rate However by profiling the largest city in this landlocked Latin American country Carina Heckert shows how global health funded HIV care programs at times clash with local realities which can have catastrophic effects for people living with HIV who must rely on global health resources to survive These ethnographic insights as a result can be applied to AIDS programs across the globe In Fault Lines of Care Heckert provides a detailed examination of the effects of global health and governmental policy decisions on the everyday lives of people living with HIV in Santa Cruz She focuses on the gendered dynamics that play a role in the development and implementation of HIV care programs and shows how decisions made from above impact what happens on the ground

Queer Migration and Asylum in Europe Richard C. M. Mole, 2021-03-08 Europe is a popular destination for LGBTQ people seeking to escape discrimination and persecution Yet while European institutions have done much to promote the legal equality of sexual minorities and a number of states pride themselves on their acceptance of sexual diversity the image of European tolerance and the reality faced by LGBTQ migrants and asylum seekers are often quite different To engage with these conflicting discourses Queer Migration and Asylum in Europe brings together scholars from politics sociology urban studies anthropology and law to analyse how and why queer individuals migrate to or seek asylum in Europe as well as the legal social and political frameworks they are forced to navigate to feel at home or to regularise their status in the destination societies The subjects covered include LGBTQ Latino migrants relationship with queer and diasporic spaces in London diasporic consciousness of queer Polish Russian and Brazilian migrants in Berlin the role of the Council of Europe in shaping legal and policy frameworks relating to queer migration and asylum the challenges facing bisexual asylum seekers queer asylum and homonationalism in the Netherlands and the role of space faith and LGBTQ organisations in Germany Italy the UK and France in supporting queer asylum seekers

HIV/AIDS in Bangladesh Alak Paul, 2020-10-13 This book aims to show the conditions and behaviors of vulnerable and marginalized people in Bangladesh which put them at risk of HIV AIDS infection and what their adopted coping strategies are and how these play out In addition the book seeks to gain an understanding of the perceptions of civil society and policy planners with respect to vulnerability to HIV and the necessary mitigation measures While there is much published literature on the epidemiology and etiology for the most at risk groups in the region there has not yet been any in depth research concerning the socio cultural and geographic impacts of HIV issues in Bangladesh Almost all of the literature shows HIV as an epidemiological problem rather than investigating it from a social or cultural point of view and still less using qualitative methods The present work is an endeavor to fill these gaps by providing valuable qualitative field data to demonstrate the causes of HIV risk and vulnerability and to examine the nature of the social and locational context of HIV AIDS in Bangladesh and to assist with health care policy planning The book will be of use to students and researchers studying public health health geography medical sociology medical anthropology social psychology and social epidemiology and to professionals in the fields of development community medicine health management and social policy

Categories and Contexts Simon Szreter, Hania Sholkamy, A. Dharmalingam, 2004-03-18

Throughout its history as a social science demography has been associated with an exclusively quantitative orientation for studying social problems As a result demographers tend to analyse population issues scientifically through sets of fixed social categories that are divorced from dynamic relationships and local contexts and processes This volume questions these fixed categories in two ways First it examines the historical and political circumstances in which such categories had their provenance and second it reassesses their uncritical applications over space and time in a diverse range of empirical case studies encouraging throughout a constructive interdisciplinary dialogue involving anthropologists demographers historians and sociologists This volume seeks to examine the political complexities that lie at the heart of population studies by focusing on category formation category use and category critique It shows that this takes the form of a dialectic between the needs for clarity of scientific and administrative analysis and the recalcitrant diversity of the social contexts and human processes that generate population change The critical reflections of each chapter are enriched by meticulous ethnographic fieldwork and historical research drawn from every continent This volume therefore exemplifies a new methodology for research in population studies one that does not simply accept and re use the established categories of population science but seeks critically and reflexively to explore test and re evaluate their meanings in diverse contexts It shows that for demography to realise its full potential it must urgently re examine and contextualize the social categories used today in population research in South Florida Although there is worldwide emphasis on the universality of HIV AIDS as a social political economic and biomedical problem developments in HIV AIDS prevention are rooted in and focused exclusively on disparities in HIV AIDS morbidity and mortality framed through the rubric of race ethnicity and nationality Everyone is at equal risk for contracting HIV AIDS Sangaramoorthy notes but the ways in which people experience and manage that risk and the disease itself is highly dependent on race ethnic identity sexuality gender immigration status and other notions of difference Sangaramoorthy documents in detail the work of AIDS prevention programs and their effect on the health and well being of Haitians a transnational community long plagued by the stigma of being stereotyped in public discourse as disease carriers By tracing the ways in which public knowledge of AIDS prevention science circulates from sites of surveillance and regulation to various clinics and hospitals to the social worlds embraced by this immigrant community she ultimately demonstrates the ways in which AIDS prevention programs help to reinforce categories of individual and collective difference and how they continue to sustain the persistent and pernicious idea of race and ethnicity as risk factors for the disease
