Shadow Of A Dream And An Imperative Duty:

The Shadow of a Dream and an Imperative Duty William Dean Howells, 2003 These two nouvelles mark Howells plunge into psychological realism Their themes a triangle of tragic agonies with psychological insights intriguingly proto Freudian and a drama of miscegenation are anything but the smiling lightweight topics to which Howells has been supposed to have been confined The maturity both of their art and of their moral insight lends them an impact much deeper and more permanent than that of the shriller more merely commercial shocking fiction of our day Edwin H Cady s introduction places the books in the context of the development of Howells life work art thought and sensibility He helps the reader make immediate contact with the artistic methods and intentions of the author

The Shadow of a Dream, and An Imperative Duty William Dean Howells, Ronald Gottesman, David J. Nordloh, 1970

The shadow of a dream and An imperative duty, introd William Dean Howells, An Imperative Duty W.D. Howells, 2010-03-22 An Imperative Duty tells the story of Rhoda Aldgate a young woman on the verge of marriage who has been raised by her aunt to assume that she is white but who is in fact the descendant of an African American grandmother The novel traces the struggles of Rhoda her family and her suitor to come to terms with the implications of Rhoda s heritage Howells employs this stock situation to explore the newly urgent questions of identity morality and social policy raised by miscegenation in the post Reconstruction United States The novel imagines interracial marriage sympathetically at a time when racist sentiment was on the rise and does this in one of Howells s most aesthetically economical performances in the short novel form Appendices to this Broadview Edition include material on the tragic mulatta in literature interracial marriage the science of race in the nineteenth century and Howells s literary realism

The Shadow of a Dream William Dean Howells (Schriftsteller, USA), 1962

Evolution and Eugenics in American Literature and Culture, 1880-1940 Lois A. Cuddy, Claire M. Roche, 2003 Charles Darwin s theory of descent suggested that man is trapped by biological determinism and environment which requires the fittest specimens to struggle and adapt without benefit of God in order to survive This volume focusses on how American literature appropriated and aesthetically transformed this and related theories

Civil Wars Susan Goodman, 2003-06-02 In a work that recovers the broader meaning of manners for past generations Susan Goodman demonstrates that American writers have consistently tied the subject of national identity to the norms and behaviors of everyday life that in fact the novel of manners is a dominant form of American fiction

Contraband Guides Paul H. D. Kaplan, 2020-04-23 In his best selling travel memoir The Innocents Abroad Mark Twain punningly refers to the black man who introduces him to Venetian Renaissance painting as a contraband guide a term coined to describe fugitive slaves who assisted Union armies during the Civil War By means of this and similar case studies Paul H D Kaplan documents the ways in which American cultural encounters with Europe and its venerable artistic traditions influenced nineteenth century concepts of race in the United States Americans of the Civil War era were struck by the presence of people of color in European art and society and American artists and authors both black and white adapted and transformed European visual material to respond to the particular struggles over the identity of African Americans Taking up the work of both well and lesser known artists and writers such as the travel writings of Mark Twain and William Dean Howells the paintings of German American Emanuel Leutze the epistolary exchange between John Ruskin and Charles Eliot Norton newspaper essays written by Frederick Douglass and William J Wilson and the sculpture of freed slave Eug ne Warburg Kaplan lays bare how racial attitudes expressed in mid nineteenth century American art were deeply inflected by European traditions By highlighting the contributions people of black African descent made to the fine arts in the United States during this period along with the ways in which they were represented Contraband Guides provides a fresh perspective on the theme of race in Civil War era American art It will appeal to art historians to specialists in African American studies and American studies and to general readers interested in American art and African American history The Westminster Review ,1912 William Dean Howells and the Ends of Realism Paul Abeln,2005-02-18 Despite efforts at revival by John Updike and others William Dean Howells still remains in the shadows of his close friends Mark Twain and Henry James This book works against decades of unfavorable comparisons with these literary giants William Dean Howells and the Ends of Realism helps us to see him as a writer very much aware of his limitations and of his enormous importance in the development of an American literary tradition A close look at his late works gives us a richer understanding of this powerful moment of transition in American literature a moment when Howells and his venerable friends were inspiring and anointing a new generation of writers and taking a long hard look at their own legacies and contributions Chesnutt and Realism Ryan Simmons,2006-08-08 An important examination of Charles Chesnutt as a practitioner of realism With the release of previously unpublished novels and a recent proliferation of critical studies on his life and work Charles W Chesnutt 1858 1932 has emerged as a major American writer of his time the age of Howells Twain and Wharton In Chesnutt and Realism Ryan Simmons breaks new ground by theorizing how understandings of literary realism have shaped and can continue to shape the reception of Chesnutt s work Although Chesnutt is typically acknowledged as the most prominent African American Literary Neurophysiology Randall Knoper,2021-09-23 Writing about the brain and the nervous system more than a century ago what were U S authors doing Literary Neurophysiology Memory Race Sex and Representation in U S Writing 1860 1914 examines their use of literature to experiment with the new materialist psychology a science that was challenging their capacity to represent reality and forging new understandings of race and sexuality Late nineteenth and early twentieth century authors

sometimes emulated scientific epistemology allowing their art and conceptions of creativity to be reshaped by it but more often they imaginatively investigated neurophysiological theories challenging and rewriting scientific explanations of human identity and behavior By enfolded physiological experimentation into literary inquiries that could nonreductively account for psychological and social complexities beyond the reach of the laboratory they used literature as a cognitive medium Mark Twain W D Howells and Gertrude Stein come together as they probe the effects on mimesis and creativity of reflex based automatisms and unconscious meaning making Oliver Wendell Holmes explores conceptions of racial nerve force elaborated in population statistics and biopolitics while W E B Du Bois and Pauline Hopkins contest notions of racial energy used to predict the extinction of African Americans Holmes explores new definitions of sexual inversion as in divergent ways Whitman and John Addington Symonds evaluate relations among nerve force human fecundity and the supposed grave of nonreproductive sex Carefully tracing entanglements and conflicts between literary culture and mental science of this period Knoper reveals unexpected connections among these authors and fresh insights into the science they confronted Considering their writing as cognitive practice he provides a new understanding of literary realism and of the emergent distinction between literary and scientific knowledge

Dickens in America Joseph Gardner, 2016-07-22 First published in 1988 this book looks at the enormous impact Dickens writings had on American novelists in the second half of the nineteenth century Dickens dominated not only popular taste but the American novel for sixty years and the author argues that even the most original writers showed themselves again and again to be in conscious sympathy with Dickens Along with Dickens this book examines four radically different American writers Mark Twain William Dean Howells Henry James and Frank Norris whose debt to Dickens the author asserts is nevertheless clearly evident in their work This book will be of interest to students of literature

To be Suddenly White Steven J. Belluscio, 2006 To Be Suddenly White explores the troubled relationship between literary passing and literary realism the dominant aesthetic motivation behind the late nineteenth and early twentieth century ethnic texts considered in this study Steven J Belluscio uses the passing narrative to provide insight into how the representation of ethnic and racial subjectivity served in part to counter dominant narratives of difference To Be Suddenly White offers new readings of traditional passing narratives from the African American literary tradition such as James Weldon Johnson's The Autobiography of an Ex Coloured Man Nella Larsen's Passing and George Schuyler's Black No More It is also the first full length work to consider a number of Jewish American and Italian American prose texts such as Mary Antin's The Promised Land Anzia Yezierska's Bread Givers and Guido d Agostino's Olives on the Apple Tree as racial passing narratives in their own right Belluscio also demonstrates the contradictions that result from the passing narrative's exploration of racial subjectivity racial difference and race itself When they are seen in comparison ideological differences begin to emerge between African American passing narratives and white ethnic Jewish American and Italian American passing narratives According to Belluscio the former are more likely to engage in a direct critique of ideas of race while the latter have a tendency to become more simplistic acculturation narratives in which a character moves from a position of ethnic difference to one of full American identity. The desire to be suddenly white serves as a continual point of reference for Belluscio, enabling him to analyze how writers even when overtly aware of the problematic nature of race, especially African American writers, are also aware of the conditions it creates, the transformations it provokes, and the consequences of both. By examining the content and context of these works, Belluscio elucidates their engagement with discourses of racial and ethnic differences, assimilation, passing, and identity, an approach that has profound implications for the understanding of American literary history.

Utopia & Cosmopolis Thomas Peyser, 1998. A discussion of Henry James and other utopian writers, Charlotte Perkins Gilman, Edward Bellamy, and William Dean Howells, and how the commercial and territorial expansion of the U.S. prompted these utopians to imagine a universal culture standing at the

The Leatherstocking William Dean Howells, 1976. Howells narrates the amazing story of Joseph C. Dylkes, an historical figure of early Ohio who convinced a backwoods community that he was the living God. The account is enriched with local color and portraits of frontier types.
