Harriet Kramer Linkin, 2016-04-01 Mary Tighe's unpublished novel Selena is one of the great unknown treasures of British Romanticism Completed in 1803 this brilliant compulsively readable beautifully written and psychologically astute courtship novel is finally available in a scholarly edition that reveals Mary Tighe to have been as talented a fiction writer as she was a poet The history of this amazing work's long journey from manuscript to print is only one of the stories Harriet Kramer Linkin recounts in this scrupulously annotated edition based on the only known copy of the manuscript currently part of the National Library of Ireland's holdings Linkin's introduction situates the novel in its historical context draws attention to significant aspects of the plots and characters and makes a strong case for Selena's importance for understanding the history of the novel fiction by women Anglo Irish fiction silver fork novels and the Romantic period Explanatory notes explain obscure references and contexts identify allusions to other writers and provide translations of any non English or archaic words Selena itself is a revelation in its frank treatment of the darker aspects of Tighe's world including parents who mistreat, cheat or fail their children and spouses who commit adultery or betray one another emotionally. At the same time it is magnificent in its stunning and moving portrayals of romantic love, of the possibility and importance of female friendship, of the difficult necessity of choosing sense over sensibility and of the need for women and men to choose self-enhancing vocations.
