Jubera, 2012-09-04 Must Win chronicles the country's most storied high school football team as it, like the town it represents, tries to regain past glory. Nestled amid cotton pine and swamps, the Deep South outpost of Valdosta, Georgia, has long drawn pilgrims from across the country to the home of the Wildcats, the winningest high school football team in America. Christened by national media as Title Town USA, Valdosta has thrived on the continuity of dominance: sons still play in front of fathers and grandfathers; creased men in pickups still offer steak dinners as a reward for gridiron glory; and Friday nights in the 11,000-seat stadium, known as Death Valley, still hold a central role in the town's social fabric. Now that place is in peril. As much as Valdosta is a romantic symbol of traditional American values, things are changing here just as they are in small towns everywhere. In Must Win, author Drew Jubera goes inside the country's most famous high school football team to chronicle its dramatic 2010 season, a quest by a program that's down but not out to regain past glory for both the team and the town it represents. This town, this school, and these people have been rocked by forces that have hit the entire country, but they're a long way from giving up. They still believe in the power of a game to overcome all. With a new coach, a new optimism, and a kaleidoscopic cast that includes an aspiring rapper, a beekeeper's son, the best athlete in the state, and the heir to a pro legacy cut short by a crack dealer's bullet, these Wildcats have been given one more chance. Must Win is the American story written across a bright green playing field. Field & Stream, 1991-03

FIELD STREAM America's largest outdoor sports magazine celebrates the outdoor experience with great stories, compelling photography, and sound advice while honoring the traditions hunters and fishermen have passed down for generations. Bone Marrow Adipose Tissue: Formation, Function, and

Impact on Health and Disease William P. Cawthorn, Erica L. Scheller, 2017-08-15 Adipocytes are a major component of the bone marrow, accounting for up to 70% of total bone marrow volume in healthy humans. Indeed, this bone marrow adipose tissue, often referred to as MAT or BMAT, accounts for at least 5% of total adipose tissue mass in lean healthy humans, suggesting a role in normal physiology and development. Bone marrow adiposity further increases with ageing and in diverse clinical conditions, including major public health challenges such as osteoporosis. Yet despite this abundance and compelling clinical potential, bone marrow adipocytes have received surprisingly little attention from the biomedical research community. Thankfully, this is now beginning to change. Research over the past decade has begun to increase our knowledge of BMAT.

including the conditions associated with altered bone marrow adiposity and the potential physiological and pathological functions of bone marrow adipocytes. The articles within this e Book highlight many of these recent developments underscoring our increasing knowledge of BMAT formation and function showcasing emerging techniques for basic and clinical BMAT analysis and highlighting key questions and future directions for this burgeoning and increasingly diverse field. The editors would like to express their thanks to the authors for contributing the articles within this e Book to the senior editors at Frontiers in Endocrinology for their guidance and to the staff at Frontiers for their helpful input throughout.
