Personal Susan Best, 2021-06-17 How does something as potent and evocative as the body become a relatively neutral artistic material From the 1960s much body art and performance conformed to the anti expressive ethos of minimalism and conceptualism whilst still using the compelling human form But how is this strange mismatch of vigour and impersonality able to transform the body into an expressive medium for visual art Focusing on renowned artists such as Lygia Clark Marina Abramovic and Angelica Mesiti Susan Best examines how bodies are configured in late modern and contemporary art She identifies three main ways in which they are used as material and argues that these formulations allow for the exposure of pressing social and psychological issues In skilfully aligning this new typology for body art and performance with critical theory she raises questions pertaining to gender inter subjectivity relation and community that continue to dominate both our artistic and cultural conversation cultural boundaries Art can be universally classified by an evaluation of its guiding narrative and can be understood and judged through hermeneutical methods Since artists engage culture through various local transnational and emerging global narratives it is difficult to decipher what standards are used for evaluation and which authoritative body evaluates the work This book implements a narrative hermeneutical approach to properly classify an artwork and establish its meaning and value

Art in Consumer Culture Grace McQuilten, 2017-07-05 Written with beautiful clarity Art in Consumer Culture Mis Design asks the contemporary art world to be honest about the pervasive effects of commodification and the difficulty of staging critique The book examines the collusion of art and design in contemporary artistic practices in order to find avenues of critique in a commercially driven cultural landscape Grace McQuilten focuses on the work of Takashi Murakami Andrea Zittel Adam Kalkin and Vito Acconci four contemporary artists who claim to be working in the field of design rather than the traditional art world McQuilten argues that Zittel Acconci and Kalkin engage with design only to reactivate the critical practice of art in a more direct engagement with capital and conceives of and affirms a future for art outside of the art world as a parasite in the complex beast of late capitalism This book is an important and timely provocation to a cynical and apathetic consumer culture and a call to arms for creative freedom and critical thought
