Making Connections 2 96 Ver Assess Pack:

DB2 9 for z/OS: Packages Revisited Paolo Bruni, Sean A. Dunn, Howard Hirsch, Norihiko Nakajima, Suresh Sane, IBM Redbooks, 2022-09-07 DB2 packages were introduced with DB2 V2.3 in 1993. During the 15 years that have elapsed a lot has changed. In particular there is a more widespread use of distributed computing Java™ language new tools and upgrades in the platform software and hardware. The best practices back then just might not be optimal today. In this IBM Redbooks publication we take a fresh look at bringing packages into the 21st century. We begin with an overview of packages and explain the advantages of using packages. Because database request module DBRM based plans have been deprecated in DB2 9 you need to convert to packages if you did not use packages already. We provide guidance on using a DB2 provided function to convert from DBRM based plans to packages. We re-examine the application development frameworks for packages program preparation package setup and execution. For distributed applications we include a discussion of a utility to identify and remove deprecated private protocol and converting to DRDA as well as an introduction to the new pureQuery function of Data Studio. We also discuss common problems and their resolutions. We then explore administration and operational activities dealing with packages including security access path management where we discuss the newly introduced package stability feature to allow for a seamless fallback and management and performance aspects. The appendixes include useful queries and mention tools for managing packages effectively.

The Forum provides a mechanism for these diverse groups to identify possible approaches for addressing food and food safety problems and issues surrounding the often complex interactions among industry academia regulatory agencies and consumers. On May 6-7 1997 the Forum convened a workshop titled Enhancing the Regulatory Decision Making Process for Direct Food Ingredient Technologies Workshop speakers and participants discussed legal aspects of the direct food additive approval process changes in science and technology and opportunities for reform Two background papers which can be found in Appendix A and B were shared with the participants prior to the workshop The first paper provided a description and history of the legal framework of the food ingredient approval process and the second paper focused on changes in science and technology practices with emphasis placed on lessons learned from case studies This document presents a summary of the workshop
