Reassembling the Republic of Letters in the Digital Age Howard Hotson, Thomas Wallnig, 2019 Between 1500 and 1800 the rapid evolution of postal communication allowed ordinary men and women to scatter letters across Europe like never before This exchange helped knit together what contemporaries called the respublica litteraria a knowledge based civil society crucial to that era s intellectual breakthroughs formative of many modern values and institutions and a potential cornerstone of a transnational level of European identity Ironically the exchange of letters which created this community also dispersed the documentation required to study it posing enormous difficulties for historians of the subject ever since To reassemble that scattered material and chart the history of that imagined community we need a revolution in digital communications Between 2014 and 2018 an EU networking grant assembled an interdisciplinary community of over 200 experts from 33 different countries and many different fields for four years of structured discussion The aim was to envisage transnational digital infrastructure for facilitating the radically multilateral collaboration needed to reassemble this scattered documentation and to support a new generation of scholarly work and public dissemination The framework emerging from those discussions potentially applicable also to other forms of intellectual cultural and economic exchange in other periods and regions is documented in this book

Dating the Passion C. Philipp E. Nothaft, 2011-10-06 The beginnings of scientific chronology are usually associated with the work of the great Renaissance philologist Joseph Scaliger 1540-1609 but this perspective is challenged by the existence of a vivid pre-modern computistical tradition in which technical chronological questions especially regarding the life of Jesus played an essential role Christian scholars such as Roger Bacon made innovative breakthroughs in the field of historical dating by applying astronomical calculations critical exegesis and the study of the Jewish calendar to chronological problems Drawing on a wide selection of sources that range from late antiquity to 1600 this book uses the history of the date of Christ's Passion to shed new light on the medieval contribution to science and scholarship

Zodiac Calendars in the Dead Sea Scrolls and Their Reception Helen R. Jacobus, 2014-10-30 The ancient mathematical basis of the Aramaic calendars in the Dead Sea Scrolls is analysed in this investigation Helen R. Jacobus re-examines an Aramaic zodiac calendar with a thunder divination text 4Q318 and the calendar from the Aramaic Astronomical Book 4Q208-4Q209 all from Qumran Jacobus demonstrates that 4Q318 is an ancestor of the Jewish calendar today and that it helps us to understand 4Q208-4Q209 She argues that these calendars were taught in antiquity as angelic knowledge described in 1 Enoch and the Book of Jubilees The study also encompasses Babylonian Hellenistic Byzantine astronomy and astrology and classical and Jewish writings Finally a medieval Hebrew zodiac calendar related to 4Q318 with an astrological text is published here for the first time
