Post-Socialist World Orders Robert Boardman, 2016-07-27 Post Socialist World Orders presents a study of Soviet Russian Federation and Chinese policies in selected UN institutions from the early 1980s to the early 1990s The analysis is set in the context of research in international political economy Part I focuses on Russia and comprises chapters on foreign policy relations with international financial institutions technical agencies and approaches to peace and security issues Part II deals with China's foreign policy and economic modernization and examines policies in the same set of institutions The Political Economy of Evaluation Jerker Carlsson, Gunnar Koehlin, Anders Ekblom, 2016-07-27 Examines the economic impact of aid but not in the sense that it questions the relevance of this objective or tries to measure whether aid works or not The focus of this book is on the evaluation process itself Can aid evaluation be improved in order to increase the effectiveness of aid Chinese Aid and African Development D. Bräutigam, 1998-06-21 Since 1957 more than 45 African countries have received aid from China yet until recently little has been known about the effectiveness or impact of this assistance Bräutigam provides the first authoritative account of China's experience as an aid donor in rural Africa In a detailed and highly readable analysis the author draws on anthropology economics organization theory and political science to explain how China's domestic agenda shaped the design of its aid and how domestic politics in African countries influenced its outcome The American Bibliography of Slavic and East European Studies for 1994 Patt

Leonard, Rebecca Routh, 1997-05-31 This text provides a source of citations to North American scholarships relating specifically to the area of Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union It indexes fields of scholarship such as the humanities arts technology and life sciences and all kinds of scholarship such as PhDs Legitimacy of Power Dilip Sinha, 2018-12-17

The Security Council the all powerful UN body for maintaining world peace remains mired in its World War II origins The victors the US Russia China Britain and France continue to control it with their permanent membership and the veto Their confrontations emasculated the Council during the Cold War and their cooperation spawned questionable military actions thereafter The book traces the origins of international security cooperation and scrutinizes the moorings of the Security Council's powers in international law It critiques the permanent five's manipulation of the Council to aggressively strengthen their global dominance and legitimise their exercise of power Their doctrines and actions in countries like Iraq Yugoslavia and Libya have hindered the Council's evolution as a responsible body which has the trust of a globalising world This book is an essential read for practitioners and scholars to understand the Security Council and the failure to reform it Informal

Economies in Post-Socialist Spaces J. Morris, A. Polese, 2015-06-23 Informed by in depth case studies focusing on a wide spectrum of micro and macro post socialist realities this book demonstrates the multi faceted nature of informality and suggests that it is a widely diffused phenomenon used at all levels of a society and by both winners and losers of post socialist transition Identities, Borderscapes, Orders Benjamin Tallis, 2023-02-06 This book provides a pre history of Russia's war on Ukraine and Europe's relations to it illuminating the deep roots of the EU's neighbourhood crisis as well as the migration crises the Union created in the last decade To do so the book employs a new and innovative framework that allows for a comprehensive yet nuanced analysis of borders and a more cogent interpretation of their socio-political consequences Drawing on interdisciplinary scholarship the book analytically examines the key common elements of borderscapes and links them in related arrays to allow for nuanced evaluation of both their particular and cumulative effects as well as interpretation of their overall consequences particularly for issues of identities and orders The book offers a significant conceptual and theoretical advance providing a transferable conceptualization of borderscapes to guide research analysis and interpretation Drawing on the author's experience in policy practice and academia it also makes a methodological contribution by pushing the boundaries of reflexivity in interpretive International Relations IR research Analyzing three main sites in Central and Eastern Europe CEE the book challenges conventional critical wisdom on EU bordering in the Schengen zone at its external frontiers and in its Eastern neighborhood In so doing it sheds new light on the politics of post-communist transitions as well as the contemporary politics of CEE It also shows how EU bordering and its relations to identities and orders created great benefits for many Europeans but also hindered the lives of many others and became self-defeating This book is a must-read for scholars students and policy makers interested in a better understanding of Critical Border Studies CBS in particular and International Relations in general It will also appeal to anyone interested in CEE or wishing to get a deeper understanding of Russia's war and the fight for Europe's future

Communism's Shadow Grigore

Pop-Eleches, Joshua A. Tucker, 2017-05-09 It has long been assumed that the historical legacy of Soviet Communism would have an important effect on post-communist states However prior research has focused primarily on the institutional legacy of communism Communism's Shadow instead turns the focus to the individuals who inhabit post-communist countries presenting a rigorous assessment of the legacy of communism on political attitudes Post-communist citizens hold political economic and social opinions that consistently differ from individuals in other countries Grigore Pop-Eleches and Joshua Tucker introduce two distinct frameworks to explain these differences the first of which focuses on the effects of living in a post-communist country and the second on living through communism Drawing on large-scale research encompassing post-communist states and other countries around the globe the authors demonstrate that living through communism has a clear consistent influence on why citizens in post-communist countries are on average less supportive of democracy and markets and more supportive of state-provided social welfare The longer citizens have lived through communism especially as adults the greater their support for beliefs associated with communist ideology the one exception being opinions regarding gender equality A thorough and nuanced examination of communist legacies lasting influence on public opinion Communism's Shadow highlights the ways in which political beliefs can outlast institutional regimes

Decision-making in the UN Security Council David Malone, 1998 This unique and intriguing study examines the UN's efforts to reinstate Haitian

President Aristide overthrown in a 1991 coup An active participant Malone sheds new light on the roles and motivations of key actors particularly the US Gender, Media and Modernity in the Asia-Pacific Catherine Driscoll, Meaghan Morris, 2015-10-14 This collection offers a range of cultural studies perspectives on the ways gender and modernity intersect in media produced in the Asia Pacific region It spans different ideas about modernity in the region different approaches to cultural analysis and different media forms from Taiwanese lifestyle television to avant garde Indian cinema from the emergence of a Chinese youth culture in online social networks to the alienation of country girls as imagined by Australian soap opera and from the fantastic politics of migrating bodies in Korean cinema to the masculine mimicry of fighting women in South East Asian action movies Together these essays explore the ways that media both records and helps produce images and experiences of modernity and the integral role gender plays in those processes This book was originally published as a special issue of Cultural Studies

Asian Industrialization and Africa Howard Stein, 1995-06-18 Drawing on case studies from the industrialization of East and Southeast Asian nations this text critically examines the structural adjustment policies used in Africa since the 1980s The Asian country studies include Singapore Malaysia Taiwan South Korea Hong Kong and Meiji Japan

Women's Movements and International Organizations Deborah Stienstra, 2016-07-27 Using 150 years of women's history this book details how women have organized into global movements which have shaped and challenged how international organizations consider gender It argues that traditional ways of analysing international relations have ignored women's contributions because their tools are gender exclusive After developing a gender analysis this book brings to light many contributions from women's movements especially related to the League of Nations and United Nations and puts these in the context of changes in the global political economy

The South at the End of the Twentieth Century Timothy M. Shaw, Larry A. Swatuk, 2016-07-27 This collection is concerned with revisiting and redefining the political economy both empirical and theoretical of foreign policy in the South as we approach the twenty first century the position of post colonial states and societies in the post Bretton Woods and Cold War world With a focus on Africa Asia the Caribbean and Latin America this collection comparatively examines the impact of changing political and economic structures upon policy makers and civil societies in the South

The Politics of Economic Reform in Zimbabwe Tor Skalnès, 2016-07-27 In 1990 Zimbabwe embarked on economic liberalisation The country's economic associations notably that erstwhile proponent of protectionism the Confederation of Zimbabwe Industries had successfully lobbied for gradual reform While state autonomy has often been regarded as a vital condition for reform in Zimbabwe societal groups have induced an initially recalcitrant government to reconsider its basic policies After 1980 the government tried to limit political competition However because of the perceived need for racial reconciliation following the guerrilla war it maintained dialogue with settler dominated interest groups along the pattern of societal corporatism established in the 1930s By contrast African associations particularly labour unions have regularly been subjected to regimentation The government however has listened more closely to the demands of

African farmers who want to preserve parastatal marketing and governmental determination of prices In Zimbabwe key urban groups support liberalisation while key rural groups do not Theories of urban bias must therefore be qualified

French Theories of Regulation and Conceptions of the International Division of Labour Alfredo C. Robles Jr, 2016-07-27 This book argues that a satisfactory theory of the international division of labour must come to grips with the problems of economism functionalism and determinism that have sometimes characterised Marxian approaches to this theme It assesses the implications of French regulation theories for this central concept of international political economy It covers not only the Parisian variant well represented in English through the work of Michel Aglietta and Alain Lipietz but also the no less important Grenoble school Feminism and International Relations Sandra Whitworth, 1994-11-12 Trade and Human Rights Susan C. Morris, 2017-10-05 This title was first published in 2002 Utilizing the case of the 1994 US decision to delink China's human rights record from most favoured nation status Susan C Morris addresses the critical issues where commercialism and human rights converge This insightful addition to the literature on US foreign policy on human rights draws on both political and economic theory touching upon the relationships between labour conditions and production business and freedom of association management and bargaining and ultimately the relationship between economics and human justice Empirically the work draws on US Congressional proceedings and debates throughout the decade of the 1990s Although the trade and human rights debate has long been ingrained in the rhetoric of scholars the research approaches the issue within the context of communism's last major threshold making it a valuable contribution to the field of international relations The Eurasian Project in Global Perspective David Lane, 2018-10-18 Regional associations have become major players in international politics and economics The Eurasian Economic Union EEU composed of Russia Kazakhstan Belarus Armenia and Kyrgyzstan is considered as a player which will strengthen the international influence and international trade of the post socialist countries It is intended to become a parallel association to the European Union This comprehensive volume considers the potential global role of the EEU A major problem outlined is the balancing of relations between the EU and the West on the one hand and China and the Shanghai Cooperation Organisation on the other The book explores the impact of the global crisis as well as a consideration of the EEU in the world system of states It also examines the EEU's relationship with other regional developments in relation to the EU and to the outer circle of post socialist states that joined neither the EU nor the EEU It concludes by considering Eurasia in the Asian context looking at the two central Asian countries Kazakhstan and Kyrgyzstan relations with China and the relationship between the Shanghai Cooperation Organisation SCO and the EEU This book was originally published as a special issue of European Politics and Society A New Ecological Order Ștefan Dorondel, Stelu Șerban, 2022-05-03 The rise of industrial capitalism in the nineteenth century forged a new ecological order in North American and Western European states radically transforming the environment through science and technology in the name of human progress Far less known are the dramatic environmental changes experienced by

Eastern Europe in many ways a terra incognita for environmental historians and anthropologists A New Ecological Order explores from a historical and ethnographic perspective the role of state planners bureaucrats and experts engineers agricultural engineers geographers biologists foresters and architects as agents of change in the natural world of Eastern Europe from 1870 to the early twenty first century Contributors consider territories engulfed by empires from the Habsburg to the Ottoman to tsarist Russia territories belonging to disintegrating empires and countries in the Balkan Peninsula Central and Eastern Europe and Eurasia Together they follow a rhetoric of correcting nature a desire to exploit the natural environment and put its resources to work for the sake of developing the economies and infrastructures of modern states They reveal an eagerness among newly established nation states after centuries of imperial economic and political impositions to import scientific knowledge and new technologies from Western Europe that would aid in their economic development and how those imports and ideas about nature ultimately shaped local projects and policies

The Informal Post-Socialist Economy Jeremy Morris, Abel Polese, 2013-12-13 From smugglers to entrepreneurs blue collar workers and taxi drivers this book deals with the multitude of characters engaged in informal economic practices in the former socialist regions Going beyond a conception of informality as opposed to the formal sector its authors demonstrate the fluid nature of informal transactions straddling the crossroads between illegal illicit socially acceptable and symbolically meaningful practices Their argument is informed by a wide range of case studies from Central Europe to the Baltics and Central Asia each of which is constructed around a single informant Each chapter narrates the story of a composite person or household that was carefully selected or constructed by an author with long standing ethnographic research experience in the given field site Wide in geographical empirical and theoretical scope the book uses ethnographic narrative accounts of everyday life to make links between ordinary meanings of informality Challenging reductively economic perspectives on cross border trading undeclared work and other informal activities the authors illustrate the wide variety of interpretive meanings that people ascribe to such practices Alongside getting by and getting ahead in recently marketised societies these meanings relate to sociality kinship ties and solidarity along with more surprising political and moral reasonings
