Punishing Hate Bias Crimes Under American Law:

Punishing Hate Frederick M. Lawrence, 2009-07-01 Lawrence poses the question Should bias crimes be punished more harshly than similar crimes not motivated by bias He answers strongly in the affirmative as do many scholars and citizens but he is the first to provide a solid theoretical grounding for this intuitive agreement and a detailed model for a bias crimes statute based on the theory

Punishing Hate Frederick M. Lawrence, 2002-09-01 Bias crimes are a scourge on our society Is there a more terrifying image in the mind's eye than that of the burning cross

Proof, Evidence and Hate Crime Tshepo Bogosi Mosaka, 2025-07-18 Proof is the property of a disputed fact being established inferentially from an extant fact This book explicates the structural components of this phenomenon in the context of hate crimes across various jurisdictions around the world It departs from the orthodox conception of evidence and proof as being a general value neutral or non normative and epistemic subject and offers a relativistic conception of this area of law The core argument is that proof is both semantically and methodologically determined by three conditions of materiality process and probativity This argument is then justified by the context specific application of this relativistic theory of proof to hate crimes This theoretical application of proof is sustained throughout the book using multiple examples and illustrations of hate crimes around the world The discussion both at the level of proof and hate crimes while focusing on the grounds of race religion and ethnicity specifically is framed in jurisprudential cross jurisdictional and interdisciplinary terms The book will be of interest to academics and researchers working in the areas of criminal law legal philosophy and procedural law
