Pure Brightness Shines Everywhere The Glass Of China:

The Substance of Fiction Sophie Volpp, 2022-06-28 Do the portrayals of objects in literary texts represent historical evidence about the material culture of the past Or are things in books more than things in the world Sophie Volpp considers fictional objects of the late Ming and Qing that defy being read as illustrative of historical things Instead she argues fictional objects are often signs of fictionality themselves calling attention to the nature of the relationship between literature and materiality Volpp examines a series of objects a robe a box and a shell a telescope a plate glass mirror and a painting drawn from the canonical works frequently mined for information about late imperial material culture including the novels The Plum in the Golden Vase and The Story of the Stone as well as the short fiction of Feng Menglong Ling Mengchu and Li Yu She argues that although fictional objects invite readers to think of them as illustrative in fact inconsistent and discontinuous representation disconnects the literary object from potential historical analogues The historical resonances of literary objects illuminate the rhetorical strategies of individual works of fiction and more broadly conceptions of fictionality in the Ming and Qing Rather than offering a transparent lens on the past fictional objects train the reader to be aware of the fallibility of perception A deeply insightful analysis of late Ming and Qing texts and reading practices The Substance of Fiction has important implications for Chinese literary studies history and art history as well as the material turn in the humanities

Chinese-Islamic Works of Art, 1644-1912 Emily Byrne Curtis, 2019-11-27 Chinese Islamic studies have concentrated thus far on the arts of earlier periods with less attention paid to works from the Qing Dynasty 1644 1912 This book focuses on works of Chinese Islamic art from the late seventeenth century to the present day and bring to the reader's attention several new areas for consideration The book examines glass wares which were probably made for a local Chinese Muslim clientele illustrating a fascinating mixture of traditional Chinese and Muslim craft traditions While the inscriptions on them can be related directly to the mosque lamps of the Arab world their form and style of decoration is characteristically that of Han Chinese Several contemporary Chinese Muslim artists have succeeded in developing a unique fusion of calligraphic styles from both cultures Other works examined include enamels porcelains and interior painted snuff bottles with emphasis on either those with Arabic inscriptions or on works by Chinese Muslim artists The book includes a chapter written by Dr Shelly Xue and an addendum written by Dr Riccardo Joppert This book will appeal to scholars working in art history religious studies Chinese studies Chinese history religious history and material culture

"Glass Exchange between Europe and China, 1550-1800" Emily Byrne Curtis, 2017-07-05 In this study Emily Byrne Curtis explores as her subject lenses spectacles aventurine glass and windows found in China from the sixteenth century She traces their technological development back to the glassworks in Murano Venice and explores their significance in terms of Venice's commerce with China Because glassware also figured among the gifts which three papal legates from the Vatican presented to the Kangxi and Yongzheng emperors the author examines many documents from the archives in Rome and the Vatican the study therefore touches to an extent on the history of the Catholic Church in China Curtis also discusses in the volume some contemporary Chinese references and verses to European glassware and in the case of enamel materials she discloses the pronounced effect their use had upon the decor of Chinese porcelains

The Emperor's New Mathematics Catherine Jami, 2012 Jami explores how the emperor Kangxi solidified the Qing dynasty in 17th century China through the appropriation of the Western learning and especially the mathematics of Jesuit missionaries This text details not only the history of mathematical ideas but also their political and cultural impact

Rhapsodic Objects Yaelle Biro, Noemie Etienne, 2021-12-20 Circulation and imitation are key factors in shaping the material world The authors in this volume explore how technical knowledge immaterial desires and political agendas impact the production and consumption of visual and material culture across times and places Their essays map multidirectional transactions for cultural goods in which source countries can be positioned at the center Rhapsodic literally to stitch or weave songs paired with objects from thrown against intertwines complexity and action Rhapsodic objects thus beckons to the layered narratives of the objects themselves their making and their reception over time The concept further underlines their potential to express creativity generate emotion and reveal histories often tainted with violence

The Glass of China Emily Byrne Curtis, 2004 Long considered a minor art by some authorities on the Middle Kingdom Chinese glass has often been relegated in its importance Until recently lack of sufficient documentation deterred most scholars from tackling the subject This volume makes clear some of the basic facts surrounding its development

Imperial Illusions Kristina Kleutghen, 2015-01-01 In the Forbidden City and other palaces around Beijing Emperor Qianlong r 1736 1795 surrounded himself with monumental paintings of architecture gardens people and faraway places The best artists of the imperial painting academy including a number of European missionary painters used Western perspectival illusionism to transform walls and ceilings with visually striking images that were also deeply meaningful to Qianlong These unprecedented works not only offer new insights into late imperial China s most influential emperor but also reflect one way in which Chinese art integrated and domesticated foreign ideas In Imperial Illusions Kristina Kleutghen examines all known surviving examples of the Qing court phenomenon of scenic illusion paintings tongjinghua which today remain inaccessible inside the Forbidden City Produced at the height of early modern cultural exchange between China and Europe these works have received little scholarly attention Richly illustrated Imperial Illusions offers the first comprehensive investigation of the aesthetic cultural perceptual and political importance of these illusionistic paintings essential to Qianlong s world Art History Publication Initiative For more information visit <http://arthistorypi.org/books/imperial-illusions>

Traditional Chinese Toggles Margaret Duda, 2011 This volume is a much needed reference guide to the historical and cultural significance of Chinese toggles or zhuizi carved pieces of jade ivory bone wood shell and semi precious stones used by the Chinese in ancient times as counterweights to secure personal effects like tobacco pipes and money pouches to their belts Over time toggles became treasured objects of identity and expression believed to bring the bearer good luck happiness
